SCARRED WITH HOT IRONS

STORY OF CRUELTY TOLD BY 17-YEAR-OLD GIRL.

Shown Her "Grave" Daily—And Was Moved When the Family Moved in a Trunk. New York, April 5.—Marked from head to foot with the scars of hot irons, livid cuts and tissues malformed and hideous from blows, seventeen-year-old Minnie Gallander in the Jersey avenue police court told Magistrate Harry Howard Dale such a story of ferocious cruelty and torture as rivals in comparison the horrors of medieval dungeons.

During the girl's halting recital, her father, John Gallander, wrung his hands and called upon God to witness that he was innocent of felonious assault, with which he was charged. For it was her father, together with her stepmother, now dead, who burned and cut and beat her, according to the story of the girl.

"They made me stand in the kitchen without any clothes on while they heated irons in the fire until they were red. Then they put the irons on me. First it hurt so that I screamed and cried. But they laughed and said, 'They would stop when until some other time.' This, repeated over and over, varying only in degree and degeneracy of cruelty was the story of Minnie, a shrinking, frightened girl who does not look her age.

Gallander, who is fifty-six years old, is a clay modeling vaudeville actor. The charge against him after an investigation, by Charles Harstedt of the Brooklyn Children's Society, assisted by Assistant District Attorney Helen P. McCormick, involves alleged cruelty, dating from the time of his second marriage to May, 1915, when Minnie escaped ment" but he was unable to do so owing to serious illness.

Even the 2 P.C. Goes Up. The high cost of living has caught even the drinkers of 2 per cent. ale and porter. In one Brockville hotel these beverages have advanced to ten cents per glass, and it is understood that other dealers are considering an advance.

Boys Make Easy Money. Two Gananoque boys, sons of Frank Wright, discovered three muskrats frozen in the ice of the St. Lawrence river near there and after removing the carcasses carefully, found the skins unharmed and in prime condition. Their find netted them $13.50.

Gave Them Good Music. Theron Graydon, Kingston, was in Trenton, the guest of Mrs. Graydon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carther. On Sunday evening Mr. Graydon, who is a cornet soloist, played "The Palms" with organ accompaniment. Trentonians were delighted to hear Mr. Graydon once more.

Married in Brockville. At Brockville, on Wednesday, Miss Lulu Evelyn McLean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. McLean, Gouverneur, N.Y., formerly of Athens, and Francis C. Clarke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Clarke, Stratford, Ont., were married. The bride is a graduate of the Kingston General Hospital, and the groom is manager of the Merchants' Bank at Athens.

Will Hold Dinner. The Royal Military College, ex-Cadet Club, Montreal branch, is holding a dinner at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel Tuesday evening. The guests of honor will be Brig.-General Sir A. C. MacDonnell, D.S.O., Commandant, R.M.C., Kingston, and Chief Commissioner A. B. Perry, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, both distinguished graduates of the college.

To Present Records. The final meeting of Collins Bay Red Cross was held at Mrs. G. F. Clark's on Thursday afternoon. It was decided to give the funds on hand to Sydenham Military Hospital. Mrs. G. F. Clark and Mrs. J. S. Yeomans were asked to make the selection of records, after which a dainty lunch was served.

Tree Falls on Schoolhouse. During a windstorm a pine tree two feet thick at the base crashed on the roof of the little brick schoolhouse on Oak Lane. The impact knocked the chimney from the building, tore three large holes in the roof and broke off as many rafters. The teacher and her classes escaped injury from this startling interruption in their studies.

through the window of a coal cellar and found refuge with the Protestant Sisters of Manhattan.

"When I was hungry and asked for something to eat, they gave me whiskey," the girl's story went on. "My step-mother gave my half-brothers and sisters a package of needles and told them to stick them through my arms. Then she gave a pair of pliers to my half-brother, Albert, and told him to pull out my teeth. He broke off four at the roots before I fainted. They laughed and had a good time because I lasted that long.

Some of the other cruelties in the charge are these: She was made to stand, practically nude, while knives, forks and broken dishes were hurled at her. She was moved, when the family moved, in a trunk. A grave was dug for her in the cellar and several times a week she was taken, with threats and beatings, to view the yawning hole. Gallander is held in $2,500 bail for examination to-day.

Instal Cushioned Theatre Seats, Ottawa, April 5.—When the members return on Tuesday after their Easter holiday they will find a few changes in and about the chamber. The workmen have taken advantage of the absence of members, seating the galleries with permanent seating accommodation and instead of hard wooden-seated chairs, the occupants of the galleries—after Tuesday will find leather-cushioned theatre chairs for their comfort.

Attacked With Nose Bleed. James McQuham, Carleton Place, attacked by nose bleeding while occupying the vice-grand's chair in the Oddfellows' hall, and with whom the doctors worked in vain and then sent on to the hospital in Ottawa, is reported to have had the flow staunch among the shades of Charles, and him very weak. There is good hope of his recovery. It is thought that a blow on his forehead five years ago from a hockey stick was the origin of the trouble.

Cannot Get a Craft. The Canada Steamship Lines is having trouble in securing a fast passenger steamer to carry passengers between Ogdensburg, Alexandria Bay and Clayton, as all the fleet are of Canadian registry with the exception of the steamer St. Lawrence, and would not on that account be allowed to coast, that is, carry passengers from one American port to another American port. The steamer St. Lawrence, as in past seasons, will ply between Clayton and Alexandria Bay, making the afternoon ramble among the shades of Charles, and him very weak. There is good hope of his recovery. It is thought that a blow on his forehead five years ago from a hockey stick was the origin of the trouble.
