AT QUEEN'S CONVOCATION

PROF. CAPPON PRESENTED.

Principal Taylor Presided and Addressed the Graduating Class—Several Honorary Degrees Conferred.

Grant Hall was well filled for the proceedings of convocation on Wednesday afternoon, when honorary degrees were conferred in addition to the degrees in arts, science, theology and pedagogy. The degrees in medicine will be conferred later on.

The degree of doctor of divinity was conferred on Rev. Colin Gordon Young, of Saskatoon, Sask., and Rev. Thomas Eakin, of Toronto, and that of doctor of laws on James Brebner, registrar of Toronto university; Prof. E. F. Scott, D. D., of Union Theological Seminary, New York, formerly on the staff of Queen's University, and Seager Wheeler, of Rosthern, Sask. Rev. Mr. Young and Seager Wheeler were unable to be present to receive their degrees in person.

An special feature of the proceedings was the presentation of two very fine oil paintings to the university. One that of Dr. D. M. Gordon, the principal, and the other that of Prof. James Cappon, who recently retired as dean of the faculty of arts, after a long and faithful service. These oil paintings adorned the platform, and fitting reference was made to them by Principal Taylor.

The degrees were conferred by Principal Taylor in the absence of Chancellor Beatty.

Rev. Dr. D. M. Gordon acted as chaplain, and officiated at the opening devotional exercises.

Principal Taylor, who presided announced that W. Beatty the chancellor, regretted very much the fact that he could not be present. Dr. Taylor remarked that these were not easy days for men at the head of big railways. At the present time, Mr. Beatty is in the west, but he sent word to the graduates that he was exceedingly sorry to have to miss the proceedings of convocation.

Principal Taylor, after his brief address drew attention to the two oil paintings on the platform. Dr. Gordon he referred to as, "A dear old friend of Queen's." He said the painting was being transferred to Grant Hall from the old arts building.

The painting is a full length picture and Dr. Taylor remarked that a new gallery of pictures would have to be opened in Grant Hall. He said that the portrait of Dean Cappon was a gift to the university from the students, staff and trustees and friends, and added that Dean Cappon's tenure of office at Queen's was most important to hundreds of students who had been taught by him. He expressed regret that Dean Cappon could not be present. He is at present on a tour overseas.

Both that of Rev. Dr. Gordon and Dean Cappon are admirable portraits, and will make a valuable addition to the collection of portraits of celebrated men which now adorn the halls of Queens.

Dr. Gordon Speaks. Principal Taylor called upon Rev. Dr. Gordon for an address, and the latter thanked Principal Taylor for his kind remarks. He also expressed his best wishes to all the graduates, and to all who were returning to the university next term. The day of graduation was a day eagerly looked forward to in college life. It was the day when they branched out into the world, and he appealed to them to take with them the spirit of service. Students, he remarked, learned a great deal outside of the classroom. "But if there is a student who has passed through Queen's University and who now requires to have an appeal made to him for enthusiasm," said Dr. Gordon, "then he has not caught the right spirit of Queen's. The older graduates of Queen's will tell you that they received something they cannot express in words. It is the richest treasure and might be regarded as the treasure of Queen's."

"Since I retired from the university," said Dr. Gordon, "I have made many remarks, 'it has always given me great pleasure to have any of the students come to me for advice, and I want to assure the students that if at any time I can be of service or help promote their interests, they have only to come to me and I will do my best to do the best I can on their behalf.'"

Presented the Degrees. Rev. Dr. Dyde presented Rev. Colin Gordon Young for the degree of doctor of divinity, stating that since 1900, he had been one of the representative men in Saskatchewan. He had been superintendent of missions in North Saskatchewan, and had now been recommended for the post of superintendent for the dominion. Rev. Mr. Young was unable to come at this time to receive the degree in person.

Dr. Dyde also presented Rev. Thomas Eakin, Toronto, for the degree of doctor of divinity. Dr. Eakin was present to receive the degree.

"This day marks the twenty-first anniversary of Rev. Eakin in the ministry," remarked Dr. Dyde, "and I am sure we all wish him many returns of the day." This remark brought forth a round of applause.

In his reply, Rev. Dr. Eakin stated that although a graduate of Toronto University, he had for a long time had a close connection with Queen's.

Prof. John Watson presented Prof. E. F. Scott, D. D., of Union Theological Seminary, New York, formerly of Queen's, for the degree of doctor of laws.

"He is known to us as one of the most distinguished scholars in the British Empire," said Dr. Watson, "and it is no exaggeration to say that he is the most distinguished scholar in the world."

Dr. Scott replied in a happy vein. He said he prized the degree conferred upon him very much, but more so because of the fact that it would enable him to retain his membership with the university. He always regarded Queen's as his true home. Since he had crossed the border, he must confess that he had experienced a rather "amputated feeling." The speaker stated that to-day the Americans had a much higher estimation of the Canadians than some years ago. There was a time when Canada (when mentioned over the border) merely brought up the question of "natural resources" and "raw material."

"We are now getting recognized," added Dr. Scott, "and they are getting to know that one important product of Canada is that of Canadians."

Prof. Watson presented James Brebner, registrar of Toronto university for the degree of doctor of laws. Mr. Brebner, he said, had for the last twenty-eight years been registrar at Toronto university, and had done much for the welfare of all the Canadian universities.

Mr. Brebner made a short address in which he returned his thanks for the distinguished honor conferred on him.

Seager Wheeler of Rosthern, Sask., was unable to be present to receive the degree of doctor of laws in person. His name was presented by Prof. Watson who stated that Mr. Wheeler was one of the best known grain growers in the west, and for the last twenty years or more, had been engaged in methods of seed selection and soil cultivation. He had also won the prize for the best hard wheat grown in America.

Address to Graduates. Principal Taylor gave a most inspiring address to the graduates, dealing with their work now they were leaving the college. Many left the university with the idea of making a lot of money, but Dr. Taylor reminded the graduates that the quiet life must be considered as one of the essentials of happiness. Mere possessions he pointed out did not bring about real happiness. Principal Taylor talked on many matters of importance to the graduates and gave them some sound advice.

Following the address of Principal Taylor, the degrees in arts, science, theology and pedagogy were conferred, and the various prizes presented, and the proceedings closed with the benediction pronounced by Rev. Dr. Gordon, and the singing of the national anthem.

Following this an adjournment was made to the university, an address where tea was served, the proceeds being devoted to the women's residence fund at the college.

HOSPITAL GRANTS RAISED

TO GET FIFTY CENTS A DAY FOR A PATIENT.

This is an increase From Thirty Cents—Houses of Refuge and Orphanages Also to Receive More.

Increased grants involving an expenditure of about $350,000 will be paid by the Ontario government to hospitals, sanitoria, houses of refuge and orphanages. The necessary legislation was introduced in the house by Hon. H. C. Nixon, provincial secretary. The increases are made to meet the greatly increased costs of maintenance in the various institutions, and will mean little short of a doubling of the outlay of the province upon the institutions named.

The most important increase is that to the various hospitals of the province, now receiving 30 cents per diem per patient. The government grant after the bill goes into effect will be fifty cents per day, and the estimated cost will be $178,913 over the present aggregate grant. In 1915 the average cost of maintenance per patient per diem was $1.64. In 1917 this had increased to $2.92 and in 1919 to $3.25. For some years previous to 1917 the hospitals received only twenty cents per patient, this being raised to thirty cents in that year.

From 1915 to 1919 the cost per diem for patients in sanatoria increased from $1.74 to $3.33. Previous to 1918 the government grant was $3 per week. It was then raised to $3.50, or fifty cents a day. By the bill introduced it will be increased again to seventy-five cents a day, entailing an extra expenditure of $80,988.

The government has also decided to increase from seven to ten cents per diem per patient the grant to houses of refuge, and from two to five cents per day that to orphanages. The former will cost $31,091.49 more and the latter an additional $23,754.72.

The government has also decided to pay to all hospitals the same grant for child patients as for adults. Hitherto the Hospital for Sick Children has been the only one in receipt of the full grant. An extra $34,372 will be needed for this.

The hospitals, etc., will receive further help by a change in the act permitting them to charge municipalities $1.50 per day instead of $1.25 for urgent patients.

At the present time the province is paying $540,223 in grants to the institutions named. Its outlay under the new scale will be approximately $890,000.

MADE A GOOD SHOWING.

The Financial Returns of Queen Street Church Were Good.

The members and adherents of Queen Street Methodist church enjoyed a social evening on Wednesday, when the reports of the different committees of the church were read. The pastor, Rev. J. D. Ellis, reported that the membership of the church was 460. The trustees report, presented by Capt. Robert Crawford, showed that the expenditure for the year was $19,000. This was made necessary on account of rebuilding the church. W. J. Crothers, jr., treasurer, reported circuit contributions, $5,000. W. G. Anderson reported for the Sunday school, Mrs. H. A. Lavell for the Women's Missionary Society; W. H. Cockburn for the Young People's Society; John Marshall for the choir; Mrs. John Evans reported that the Ladies' Aid had raised $1,220. Dr. Allan Haffner sang, and Miss Pearl Nesbitt and one of her pupils gave a duet.

Sir Arthur Currie, McGill's new principal, may continue to act as inspector general for some weeks, as it is known that he has been giving his closest attention to the reorganization of the Canadian forces. His experience as commander-in-chief of the Canadian forces in the field rendered his work in the militia department of the greatest value.
