POLICE SEEK CHINAMAN

WHO LEFT WITH $500 OF CHINESE SOCIETY FUNDS

Hum Wing, a Restaurant Keeper, is Wanted—Police of Vancouver, B. C. Have Been Communicated With The police authorities from the Atlantic to the Pacific have been asked by the local police to be on the lookout for Hum Wing, a local Chinese restaurant keeper who has left for parts unknown, taking along with him $500 belonging to the local Chinese loan society.

According to the information available, the celestials in the local National Chinese league. In this league there is the Chinese loan society. The system has been for the local celestials to put so much money into a fund which was used in loaning to celestials who needed money. After the money was placed in the "pool", all the Chinamen who needed a few dollars would make a bid and the highest bidder would get the use of the money for a given time and at the end of that time if the man who got the money required it longer he had to renew the loan. The Chinamen claim that after Hum Wing secured the money he left for parts unknown.

After Hum Wing left the city the other celestials got in touch with a local lawyer who communicated with authorities in Toronto who informed him that they thought Hum Wing took the train from Toronto for the west. The police at Vancouver, B.C. were communicated with, but they have been unable to lay their hands on the missing man.

SEEK WILLIAM J. LAMBERT
Descriptive Circulars Are Sent Out By His Wife.

The family of William John Lambert, who disappeared from his home, 443 Princess street, on Saturday evening, May 8th, are making every endeavor to locate him. On Friday his wife had a number of circulars printed and distributed over the country. There have been reports that Lambert was seen at certain places, and for that reason his wife and brother think that these circulars, on which his picture is printed, might result in some persons who might have seen him, communicating with the family.

The family is convinced that he is still alive and for that reason they have had a lawyer communicate with the Dominion police department, with the result that two detectives are due to arrive in the city and will work on the case.

Kingston Artists Charmed Gananogue
The Gananogue Journal says: Some weeks ago when R. R. F. Harvey, organist of St. George's cathedral, Kingston, presided at the organ at the Sunday evening service in St. Andrew's church, he very kindly offered to give a recital at some suitable time. This was arranged for Wednesday evening, May 19th, and although no special advertising was done the church was well filled by the music lovers of Gananogue, and those who were present enjoyed a splendid program. Mr. Harvey was assisted by his brother, C. B. S. Harvey, bass, and Master Peter Fair, soprano, both of the choir of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, and presence of these three ensured something really excellent. The audience was fairly carried away by the glorious full-toned power of Mr. Harvey's wonderful bass voice, and by the sustained sweetness and flexibility of Peter Fair's clear soprano, and it was very evident that the organ was in the hands of a master, from the bright opening Mendelssohn's number to the magnificent crescendo of Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus."

The Whig will be published on Monday, Victoria day.
