MACMORINE HALL STONE GARRISON ATHLETIC MEET

LAIID BY FREDERICK WELCH ON MONDAY EVENING.

Addresses by Rev. T. W. Savary, Rev. Dr. R. J. Wilson, Dean Starr, Archdeacon Dobbs and Others—Tributes Paid the Deceased Archdeacon.

On Monday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, the corner stone of the Macmorine memorial hall at St. James' church was laid by Frederick Welch, chairman of the building committee. Many of the members of the congregation were present. The choir of the church assisted in the singing. The hall will be a fitting tribute to the late Archdeacon Macmorine, who did such good work in Kingston during the years that he was rector of St. James'.

A number of those who spoke Monday night, referred to the impression that the late archdeacon had made on the lives of many people in Kingston. He was always present at the sick-bed of members of the congregation.

Rev. T. W. Savary, rector of the church, read a list of things which would be placed in the hollow of the corner stone. Speaking of the need of the Sunday school hall the rector said that years ago the need was realized and it was then decided to erect the building as soon as the committee could secure the money. The committee figured that it would cost about $14,000 but the cost of building has advanced so rapidly that it was now costing $30,000. The plans were drawn up by Arthur Ellis. The finance committee had as its chairman Frederick Welch, who had contributed $7,500 towards the fund. Mr. Savary said that he was pleased to announce that practically $20,000 was in hand.

Sidney C. Smith and George E. Hague, wardens of the church, made a few remarks. Mr. Smith said that the new hall would be a very fitting memorial for such a good man as the late Archdeacon Macmorine. He would never forget how kind he had been to people who had been confined to their homes through sickness. The church would now be able to do a big work among the children on account of having more room.

Mr. Hague spoke as a Sunday school teacher of long standing. He was probably one of the oldest teachers in the school and for that reason he was glad to know that the children who attended the school would no longer have to attend Sunday school where the teachers taught the lesson over the back of a church pew. He also referred to the interest which the late Archdeacon Macmorine had taken in the Sunday school.

Rev. Dr. R. J. Wilson, pastor of Chalmers Presbyterian church, congratulated the people of St. James' in being able to erect a Sunday school. He remarked that the 24th of May was a unique day in Kingston because two corner stones had been laid: One for the new Robert Meek school and the other for the St. James' Sunday school. He said that it was a day when the public school, the Sunday school must take the first place.

Dean Starr congratulated the St. James' people on being able to erect such a beautiful building. Rev. J. H. Coleman, of St. Mary's Magdalene church, Napoleon, and son-in-law of the late Archdeacon Macmorine, spoke a few words. Archdeacon Dobbs, who is acting bishop's commissary and the rural dean of Frontenac, Rev. J. O. Crisp, rector of St. John's church, Portsmouth, assisted in the service.

A MUSICAL TREAT

By Shea Grand Opera Concert Company Monday Night.

"The greatest musical treat of the season" best described the production given at the Grand Opera House on Monday night by the Shea Grand Opera Concert Company in which Madam Loretta Beck, grand opera soprano, supported by a company of the finest artists, was the star. It was a production of vocal and instrumental music that for brilliance and charm is unsurpassed and Mr. Shea, who organized the company and directed the programme has scored a signal success.

In the "Aria from the Queen of Sheba", Madam Beck captivated her audience. She possesses a voice which for range, power, and quality of tone places her in a class by herself, while her technique is faultless. Her execution was brilliant throughout and in all of her numbers there was a most faithful interpretation that marked her as an artist of unusual skill.

The opening number was an "Allegro" by Bertha Savau, concert pianist, in which she exhibited the qualities of the finished artist. Miss Savau accompanied throughout the programme with much feeling. J. E. Fisher, tenor, sang "Macushla" and "The Wind Speaks" in splendid voice. Porteous, French horn, sang a selection from Faust, "Dream in the Twilight" and "Blow, Blow the Winter Wind," in all of which he revealed a voice of exceptional quality, and sang with the finish of a true artist. Mr. Jeron received rounds of applause as indeed did all of the singers and players. Donald Jamieson, bass, sang "Friend of Mine and "Until" very effectively. Madam Shea, soprano, sang "Maye Morning" and "The Dawn" very sweetly. She possesses a very pleasing voice. All of the singers took part in duets, trios and choruses.

Mr. Shea contributed in a large measure to the success of the instrumental numbers. A skilled violin player, himself, he delighted his hearers in several numbers, while in the duet with the violinello played by Madeline Wynne, with marked ability, the harmony was delightful. The organization of the company, and the selection of the programme was only conceived by a master artist which Mr. Shea undoubtedly is.

Going To Brockville. Arthur Locke, the gifted violinist, whose services have been so greatly appreciated during the winter at Sydenham street Methodist church, rendered solos at both services on Sunday. Mr. Locke is leaving shortly to spend the summer as an interne at the Ontario Hospital, in Brockville, and will return to Queen's Medical College in the fall.

ALLEGED AUTO CAR THIEF

WAS BROUGHT TO KINGSTON FROM BELLEVILLE

William White Wanted in Ottawa and Prescott—Secured the Loan of a Set of Markers in Kingston.

William White, aged thirty years, who has been going under the name of W. B. Low, who is alleged to have stolen a McLaughlin car, the property of Pink and McClusky, of Ottawa, and also forged a check for $30 on a merchant in Prescott, was located in Belleville on Monday night and brought to Kingston where the Chief of Police, of Prescott, kept him over night.

The chief when speaking to the Whig, stated that this man who had been working in an Ottawa garage, left that place with the McLaughlin car and made for Prescott. The car had no markers and so when he arrived in Prescott, he endeavored to get the markers. He presented his check for the markers, but the issuer, did not like the look of it so he refused to give them to him. The man then went and painted a cardboard marker and got aboard the ferry at Prescott with the idea of getting to the States, but he was not admitted. Before leaving Prescott for western points, he passed a forged check for $30 and in return got a number of repairs and tubes for his car.

He then made for Kingston where he stopped at the Blue garage on Queen street and asked for the loan of a set of markers. His request was granted and then he left for Belleville. The Prescott chief got in touch with the local police who found that the man had secured markers from a local garage and had left, and they thought he would return the numbers as soon as he was able to get a set of new ones.

The next heard of him was that the chief of police, in Belleville, under orders of the chief of Prescott, had placed him under arrest.
