

Save Against the "rainy day"

The thought of being dependent some day, when illness or old age takes away one's ability to earn, is rightly distasteful to the Canadian mind.

The simplest, surest way to offset this is to open a Savings Account and add something to it every week. Come in and we will gladly explain.

Son of Whitley Irish Secretary

THE fifty years of life Sir Hamar Greenwood, the new Irish Secretary, have been divided exactly equally between Canada and the Motherland, the first twenty-five in Canada, the last twenty-five in England. If in his early years he definitely planned a great career in British politics no one here knew of it. His trip to England as soon as he graduated from college was regarded by his friends merely as the usual visit of a young graduate anxious to see a little of the world before settling down. Tradition has it, perhaps falsely, that he made that trip in a cattle boat, in charge of a consignment of stock on the boat for the Liverpool market. Part of the payment for the service was a free trip home, but Greenwood didn't come home.

No pioneer challenging the wisdom for a fortune ever surpassed in romance the Canadian youth, unknown and friendless and penniless, who challenged fortune where life was most dense and complex and difficult, and who today holds in his hands the destiny of the most troublesome issue in modern domestic British politics.

When Greenwood lived in Toronto he was regarded as a born orator. It is not on record that he has set the Thames on fire by his oratory, or that he has been chosen by British critics in the upper flights of great orators. But certain it is that he had even as a youth that comparatively rare thing known as platform magnetism.

It was as a student of "Tramp-ty" Johnson that he got his first speaking in England. Temperance societies were then getting active, but they found difficulty in getting speakers with ability and enough courage to go out on the platform and espouse a most unpopular cause. Greenwood had that ability and courage to burn.

Paralleling the cattle boat tradition is another story of one occasion when Greenwood was sent to deliver a speech and was for the visit put up as a guest at a pretentious country house. In the morning a valet of the house entered Greenwood's room to brush his suit. During the operation two shillings, all the money Greenwood possessed in the world, fell out. Significantly the valet picked them up, indicating to Greenwood where he laid them. "Oh, take them, my man," said the sleepy but quick-witted Greenwood; "I left them in that pocket for you."

Greenwood's experience as a temperance speaker was valuable in that it served as a stepping stone to politics, and he soon found steady employment in the Liberal organization. He studied law at the same time, and was called to the Bar. And in ten short years he had made himself so valuable to the party that a seat in Parliament was found for him; and he entered the House of Commons in the great Liberal triumph of 1906. It was not long before he was asked to take an under-secretaryship, and his progress has been uninterrupted. Apparently he has made no mistakes so far. If he settles Ireland who can say what future still lies ahead of him?

Before and during his university course Greenwood taught school, and held positions as temporary clerk in some of the Government departments. Once he organized a theatrical troupe which toured Western Ontario, but if it is not a record that this venture helped much in a financial way, Greenwood was himself advanced agent and heavy tragedian of the company. The striking figure he made when he struck a new overnight stand, with his silk hat very long-skirted Prince Albert coat and bright patent leather shoes, is still remembered after twenty-five years in many an Ontario town. He always made a tour of the main street calling at all the shops, making himself agreeable, and dressing up business for the show. In these days he was, as he is yet, a fine figure of a man.

One of his early hobbies was military training and, while yet an undergraduate, he led a company in the home town regiments of militia. Another story of him which also may be apocryphal is that he went to his first camp against his father's wishes. When his father followed him there Greenwood refused to recognize him but instead had him arrested and detained in the military jail. From this incident give a forecast of what he will do in Ireland? A man who will arrest his own father and who has taken "Dress to be a Dealer" as his motto ought not to be lacking either in brains or in humor.

In Whitley, his birthplace, and afterwards in Toronto he was always "Tom" Greenwood, but when he went to England he used his second name of Hamar and it is as Sir Hamar Greenwood, Bart, he is known now. His return visits to Canada since he left her shores have been infrequent. On his last visit he was accompanied by his wife, formerly Miss Spencer, a member of a distinguished and wealthy English family in whom he was married nine years ago.

Those who were intimately associated with Greenwood have regarded him as having the potentialities of a great man. Even in his thirtieth year he was under recognized. And he had fire, mixed with common sense, judgment, courage, and tact. On one visit home an old friend asked him if he cultivated advancement in the English Liberal party by making a specialty of "free trade" speeches," he replied, "A schoolboy in England has forgotten more about the tariff laws than I ever knew. I talked to them about Canada, something I know a lot about and they know nothing."

Significance in Greenwood's appointment lies in the fact that as a Canadian he is familiar with Dominion Home Rule as it works out, as no purely British statesman can be.

RUSSIAN INDUSTRIES SHOW GREAT DEFICIT
Expenditure Includes Over $22,000,000 Spent on Official Salaries.

London, June 4.—The official organ of the Russian Bolshevik Government reports an estimated deficit for 1920 on the operations of nationalized industries of 23,755,700,000 rubles (a ruble is nominally 50 cents), according to a Berlin despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

The expenditures include 55,650,000,000 rubles spent on officials' salaries and on organization of the industries, 14,332,000,000 rubles lost owing to production cost exceeding sale prices, and 12,121,000,000 rubles spent on political measures which were found necessary to keep the workmen quiet. The political measures, the despatch says, consist chiefly in stationing soldiers and gendarmes in the more turbulent factories.

Boy Fatally Hurt.
Colborne, June 2.—A fatal accident occurred in Cramah township, whereby Donald Rouse, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rouse, lost his life. The boy was riding a bicycle on the main road, where there were many men and teams at work. He lost control of his wheel, and was thrown off it, thereby frightening a team, which with a heavy load ran over him, crushing his chest. He died shortly after.

"There's a Reason"

TO RECLAIM LAND
And Hope It Will Be the Best in the Province.

(Canadian Press Dispatch)
Saskatoon, Sask., June 4.—Survey for reclamation of several townships of what the government engineers believe can be made the best lands in Saskatchewan, will commence soon in the Moose Range north of Tisdale, states G. F. Horsey, of the reclamation services, department of interior. A survey party of fifteen men has left for the north to undertake the initial work in this connection.

The drainage branch of the department has a considerable program in the west, and in the three prairie provinces has ten engineers working. Last year a complete survey was made of 15,000 acres in the Waterhill Lake district, region of Kinistino, and it is hoped to have construction gangs working there this summer.

SUNBURY CHURCH UNION
Likely to be Ratified—Flow of Milk is Good.

Sunbury, June 1.—The township council met on Monday. A large number of appeals were considered. The executive of the township Sabbath School association was called for Monday evening to arrange for the convention which will be held in the Stone church on June 15th.

The continued dry weather is having a serious effect on the crops. The flow of milk keeps up well. The cheese factories have commenced to make cheese on Saturday evenings. Quantities of good whey butter are being made and a ready sale is found for it. A large number of the residents are going to take in the circus and other events in Kingston on June 3rd.

Mrs. Thomas Ritchie, who was operated upon in the Kingston General hospital some time ago, is progressing very well, and it is hoped that she will be able to return home very soon. Mrs. George Webb is spending a few days in the country with her mother and sister, who have not been well. Mrs. Knight and Mrs. Kelly spent a few days in the neighborhood with Mrs. Lynn, who has been somewhat improved lately.

The proposed co-operation movement between the Methodist and Presbyterian in this district will be well advanced during the present week when it comes before the General Assembly at Ottawa and the Montreal conference at Kempville. There is no doubt that both bodies will ratify the arrangement by the congregations concerned in the matter.

SCIENCE PROVES THE DANGER OF BLEEDING GUMS

Medical science proves that unhealthy gums cause serious ailments. People suffering from Pyorrhea (a disease of the gums) often suffer from other ills, such as rheumatism, anaemia, nervous disorders, or weakened vital organs. These ills have been traced in many cases to the Pyorrhea germs which breed in pockets about the teeth.

Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea. It begins with tender and bleeding gums. Then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the infecting Pyorrhea germs.

Guard your health and your teeth. Keep Pyorrhea away. Visit your dentist often for teeth and gum inspection, and make daily use of Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress—if used in time, and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's will keep the gums firm and healthy, the teeth white and clean.
