A Farewell Gift For Rev. J. D. Ellis and Mrs. Ellis—His Final Duties at Wedding and a Funeral.

REV. JOHN D. ELLIS.

On Monday evening, Rev. J. D. Ellis and Mrs. Ellis were waited upon at the parsonage by a committee of the congregation and presented with a handsome cheque upon the eve of their departure to Smith's Falls, the presentation was made by Judge Lavell, who expressed on behalf of the congregation, warm appreciation of the pastor and his wife and wished them every success and happiness in the future. Other speakers were James Armstrong, E. W. Skinner and Fred Clow. Rev. Mr. Ellis responded very feelingly. He left with Mrs. Ellis for Smith's Falls today, but will return on Wednesday to officiate at a wedding and a funeral. Rev. W. S. Lennon, his successor, is moving from Gananoque today, and will occupy the parsonage on Wednesday.

WILL HAVE TO STOP WORK

IF THE DEMAND OF THE MASONS IS FORCED.

Work Will Cease on the Robert Meek School Unless Some Compromise Figure is Made—Figured on the Old Terms.

It was learned on Tuesday morning that the masons, bricklayers and plasterers had notified their bosses that commencing July 1st they would demand $1 an hour for an eight hour day. This increase means that the men will get $8 per day instead of $6 paid at the present time. It is stated that if the bosses do not comply with the request the men will drop their tools and cease work on Thursday morning.

The contractors when spoken to were all of the opinion that it would be impossible to meet the men's demands.

Mr. Wallace, who has the contract to erect the Robert Meek school in Cataragui ward, when spoken to, stated that it would be impossible for him to pay $1 an hour; the men forced their claim it would mean he would have to cease work on the school. He stated that he figured on the school at the old rate of pay and unless the men make some compromise it was very likely the work would cease immediately. If he were to pay the amount demanded it would mean a very serious loss to him.

It is unfortunate that the work is apt to be tied up at this particular time as the work was being rushed along so well.

Other contractors stated that they were in the same position as Mr. Wallace. One contractor said he had been expecting the demand as the contract drawn up by the men expired July 1st.

MISS KATHARINE HART SINGS

At the Grand This Week—Delights Big Audience.

The programme at the Grand last night was a treat to lovers of good pictures and vaudeville. Miss Kay Carleton, (Katharine Hart), one of Kingston's well-known young actresses, who has been appearing in several American musical successes delighted the audience with her songs, which were charmingly rendered. She sang "Be My Bumble Bee," from the musical comedy "Pittypat," "Your Eyes Have Told Me So," and "Where My Caravan Has Rested." Miss Carleton generously responded to the appreciative applause of the audience.

Miss Alice Brady starring in "Redhead" gave a touching portrayal of a former cabaret dancer on her untiring efforts to reform her worthless husband, Matthew Thurlow, whom she married on a bet at a midnight wine supper. His uncle disowns him. The dancer, however, attempts to win her husband's love who, although he despises her, still has enough pride and ambition to support his wife. It was a long struggle but perseverance won the day and eventually Mat succeeds in business and in loving "Redhead."

"The Girl in No. 29" is a thriller. The hero prevents a young girl from committing suicide but in so doing becomes entangled in the machinery of a secret society. His attempts to rescue the girl, who appeals to him more every time he meets her led him unsuspectingly into a trap with midnight auto rides, free-for-all fights and a rescue in a terrific storm. The picture ends so unusual that the audience is left dazed.

Steamer St. Lawrence About Ready.
