

THE LATE HOWARD FOLGER

SUDDEN PASSING OF A WELL-KNOWN CITIZEN

Was Stricken With Hemorrhage of the Brain Wednesday Evening and Died at 11 a.m. Thursday.

THE LATE H. S. FOLGER.

street. Mr. Folger was around as usual on Wednesday, but was stricken early in the evening at his home with a hemorrhage of the brain. Death ensued at 11.20 a.m. Thursday.

The late Mr. Folger was born in Kingston fifty-three years ago, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Folger. He was educated in the local schools and in 1887 graduated at

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain milled coconut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes off every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Queen's University as bachelor of arts. Mr. Folger entered the steamboat business at an early age under his father and uncle, known to the older residents as "The famous Folger Brothers," who did big things for Kingston during the eighties and nineties. Howard Folger eventually became general manager of the Thousand Island Steamboat company, and filled that position until the steamers of the company were purchased by another concern, and finally became a part of the fleet of the Canada Steamships Limited. For some years past Mr. Folger had been one of Kingston's leading stock brokers, his office being in the British-American block. On the death of his father he succeeded him as United States vice-consul at Kingston.

Mr. Folger married Miss Price, daughter of the late Judge C. V. Price, of the city, who survives, along with one son, Howard, a recent arts graduate of Queen's university, and two daughters, Misses Gwendolyn and Doris, all at home. He is also survived by two brothers, Harry and Benjamin, of New York. Collamer Folger, general manager of the Kingston Public Utilities, is a cousin.

The late Mr. Folger was a member of St. George's Cathedral congregation. The flag at the United States consulate on Clarence street is flying at half mast, out of respect to the memory of the deceased.

The Late Mrs. John Ryder. The death occurred at the family residence, 104 Patrick street on July 7th, of Susan Robb, wife of John Ryder. The late Mrs. Ryder was born in the County Armagh, Ireland, on July 18th, 1851, and emigrated to Canada with her parents when three years of age, settling in Kingston. Here and in the township of Pittsburg she spent the remainder of her life. She was the last member of a family whose name was a household word throughout the immediate neighborhood fifty years ago, for her brothers, the late Inspector David Robb, B.A., and John Robb, were public school teachers of exceptional ability, who moulded many excellent scholars, who are holding splendid positions in various parts of Canada to-day.

In the passing of Mrs. Ryder, a noble woman, possessed of a wide sympathy for the poor and afflicted, a charitable lady, an ideal mother and a practical Christian has been withdrawn. She was passionately fond of her home and was one to whom the old Roman epitaph was appropriately applicable. "She stayed at home and attended to her household duties."

Though in failing health for some years, her last illness, due to a muscular affection of the heart, extended over a period of nine weeks, during which she was tenderly nursed by her daughter, Miss Victoria, but medical skill and all that loving hands could do were unavailing.

She is survived by her husband and four daughters, Mrs. James Dixon, Sunbury; Mrs. Robert Greenlees, 401 Alfred street, this city, and Misses Lama and Victoria at home.

The Late Mrs. R. E. Kilborn. Mrs. Lena May Dunham, wife of R. E. Kilborn, 23 Plum street, passed away at her residence at 4.15 p.m. on Wednesday after an illness of some duration. The deceased was a daughter of M. L. Dunham, of Athens, formerly of Frankville, where she was born, and a sister of the late Dr. D. S. Dunham, a graduate of Queen's medical college. She was in her twenty-ninth year. The deceased possessed a very bright and amiable disposition that won a warm place in the hearts of all with whom she came in contact. Besides her husband and one daughter, Irene, aged seven years, she is survived by her parents and one brother, Matthew, and a sister, Lily, of Athens. The remains were sent by motor hearse to Athens at 10.30 a.m., Thursday, by James Reid & Co., undertakers, and the funeral will take place to Toledo cemetery.

The Late Michael Massen. Michael Massen, late of the C.E.F., passed away at Speedwell military Hospital, Guelph, on Monday. The remains were brought to Kingston on Wednesday and the funeral took place on Thursday morning from James Reid's undertaking parlors to St. Mary's cathedral where a solemn requiem mass was sung. The deceased had no relatives, but resided in Kingston before the war. The funeral was attended by representatives of the G.W.V.A. the Army and Navy Veterans, the G.A.U.V. and the Department of Soldiers Civil Re-establishment.

The Late Mrs. William Meek. The death occurred in London, Ont. on Wednesday night, of Mrs. William Meek. The deceased was the widow of the late William Meek, who for years was foreman of the Whig press room. She died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. Sanderson, besides whom three other daughters survive, also one son, Dr. Charles, of Baltimore, Mich.

The Amazon Kingdom. Tiburon, otherwise known as Shark Island, is a real American kingdom, or perhaps queenhood. The women are the heads of the family and rule the men with a hand of iron, graciously permitting them to attend to the work of gathering food, wood, and water, while their wives, mothers, and daughters take care of the serious business of governing the country. All the men on Tiburon are under the rule of their women folk, but the newly married husband is the most abject of slaves. After mother has approved of the suitor, who seeks her daughter in marriage—father's approval is taken for granted—the favored youth is at once made a slave of the family of his future bride, and for a year must be at their beck and call.

The Poor Heathen!

An American teacher undertook the task of convincing an indolent native son of the Philippines that it was his duty to get out and hustle. "But why should I work?" inquired the guileless Filipino. "In order to make money," declared the thrifty teacher. "But what do I want with money?" persisted the browa brother. "Why, when you get plenty of money you will be independent and will not have to work any more," replied the teacher. "I don't have to work now," said the native—and the teacher gave it up in disgust.—Jewel (Kan.) Review.

Matter Enough.

"What's the matter?" asked the chauffeur. "You look worried." "I'm up against it and don't know what to do," replied the valet. "The boss told me to wake him up at 9 o'clock this morning." "Well, why didn't you?" asked the chauffeur. "He didn't go to bed until 10 o'clock this morning," replied the valet.
