RS. J. M. CRAIG, of Los An-IVA geles, Calif., who says no one can feel more grateful for what Tanlac has done than she does. Declares she has gained twelve pounds and her health is now better than in years.

"Of all the people who have taken Tanlac, I don't believe there is any one who feels more grateful to it than I do," was the statement made recently by Mrs. J. M. Craig. of 674 1/4 East Fortieth street, Los Angeles.

"Like so many other families during the influenza epidemic last year we all had it, and my own filmess, together with the worry over the rest of our family, brought on a case of enuine nervous prostration.

"I was so weak I couldn't even eweep the floor, and during the day I would have to lie down four or five Imes. I tried to walk but found out half a block was all I could stand before I gave out. Nervous spells came n me often,

"Every medicine I tried failed to reach my case until finally my husband urged me to try Tanlac, and I am indeed thankful that he did, for it proved to be just what I needed. "The first two bottles didn't seem o help me. I guess that was because was so extremely bad off, but on the hird bottle I could tell I was improving and that gave me more hopes han ever of getting well.

"My improvement from then on was rapid and by the time I had taken five bottles of Tanlac I was better and stronger than I had been in years. I was sleeping soundly at night and had gained twelve pounds in

"That was several months ago and from then until now I have been in as good health as I ever was in my life and have been doing all the housework by myself.

"It is simply remarkable how Tan-Inc has built me up and I have told every one of my friends and relatives what a wonderful medicine it is." Tanlac is sold in Kingston by A. P. Chown and by the leading druglsts in every town.

It was a surprise to me and I had to take some time to decide whether or not I wanted to make baseball my profession. Mr. Somers, the owner of the club, told me to try it, but if I was not good enough to be a Major League player in three years, to give it up. I think that influenced me more than anything else, and it would be my advice to anyone starting in the game.

Farmer and Emperor And the Memory Man said: Once, in China, the emissaries of a noble ordered a Farmer to work for the noble. "I work for a bigger man that he," said the Farmer.

They told the noble, who in turn d a Mandarin, who ordered the Farmer brought to him. "I work for a bigger man than the Mandarin," said the Farmer.

So the Mandarin told the Emperor, who send a command to the Farmer. "I work for a bigger man than the Emperor," said the Farmer.

The Emperor went himself to see the Farmer. "Who is this that is bigger than I?" he asked. The Farmer took a grain of rice from the ground. "This is what governs the noble the Mandarin and the Emperor" he answered. "Without this, all would be nothing."

"He is right," said the Emperor. "While I reign, this Farmer shall hold his land free of tax, for he has taught his Emperor a lesson." Real worth lies in simple things,-

. The Second Guest of Honor was as much of a surprise as the first had been. Instead of a freckled lad, the Camp Car set down at the Arch a fashionably dressed young woman who looked twenty-five years old, though she was only seventeen. There was nothing about her to suggest the beroine, except, perhaps a determined

But the story came out in the Assembly Hall that night. There had been a terrible tornado in Kansas. The small town of Valora had been almost wiped out, and the debris had commenced to burn. May Elsworth, living about fifty miles away, had heard of the disaster, by telephone.

May had borrowed a neighbor's car, covered the fifty miles, at night, over bad roads, in a little more than an hour, and had organized a fire-fighting brigade among the bewildered citi-

She had dashed into no less than three burning ruins and rescued people who had been pinned under the wreckage. The telegraph operator had been badly hurt, but she found out how to patch up the instruments and sent out messages for help. Though she was in training for a nurse and any delay in returning to her hospital after her two weeks' vacation might imperil her diploma she had stayed in Valora for over a month, without pay, nursing the sick feeding the hungry, comforting the children who had been left orphans and making herself the guardian angel

Not that May would tell this about herself. She was ready to talk about the disaster, but not her own part in The Director had to do that. And when the Second Clan Medal of Honor was given her, the Camp agreed with a mighty shout that it could not be better bestowed.

BUD DOES THINGS

He Has A Picnic.

At last I have arrived at some hing that I really do like. I would do almost any sort of thing to get to a picnic. It is great to go out in the woods with nothing to bother you and no noise or anything and just do as you like. There are a million and a half things to see and do. Why, even if you lie still you can see and hear things moving and living al. around you. If you are very tired there are birds and hundreds of little singing things to sing you

There is no loud talk, no men cursing at horses, no dust, no whistles blowing nor bells ringing, just the woods and God. If you find that you do not like to lie still there is plenty of room to run around. There are trees to climb and all sorts of magic things to explore, too. Then you can see some bird or bug or animal and follow it and see what it does and where it goes. I have often done that and it is lots of fun. I would have a picnic every week
