Theatrical

At the Grand.
"Human Stuff," Harry Carey's latest Western picture, will be seen for the last time to-night. This is his best picture made this year. The story of a young Easterner who takes up sheep ranching in the West after failing in commercial life, and his adventures with the cattle men of that district, make a powerful play that suits the star to perfection. Olive Thomas, the popular young star will also be seen in her latest starring vehicle, "Love's Prisoner." The story deals with crooks, clever detectives, and others who are all forced to bow to the rule of Dan Cupid. There is a delightful strain of comedy, as well as love, running through the play. The musical programme by the Grand's orchestra will include the following "Rose of Spain," "Desertland," "Venetian Moon" and many other popular numbers. This bill will be seen for the last time to-night.—Adv.

"Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come."
Not only children but their elders as well will be delighted by "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," just brought to the stage in elaborate and sympathetic fashion. This production, representing months of careful preparation and of rehearsal, is due at the Grand Opera House August 28th, bargain matinee and night only. The cast has distinction in its leading players and each member of the company was chosen from a number of applicants who were carefully considered as to type. George Simpson, Dorothy Dunn, Dorothy Refuse, James Kennedy, Joe Franklin, Will J. Olio, Jack Hawkins and others who are well-known in the profession are in the various roles. The play is of mountaineers of Kentucky and is full of love, thrills and fun.—Adv.

"Sleeping Partners."
An attraction which promises to be one of the novelties of the season will be seen at the Grand Opera house Thursday and Friday, August 26th and 27th, when beautiful Edna Goodrich, herself, will be seen in "Sleeping Partners," a comedy translated from the French of Sacha Guitry by Seymour Hicks. The management wishes to impress on the theatre-goers here that this is the only company on tour in this play, and that it comes here direct from a season of success in New York and Chicago. Some intimation of the subject matter of the play can be gained from a description on the programme of the acts: Act 1, The Flat Where She Hesitated, She Came; Act 2, The Same Flat and the Same Hesitation. She Slept; Act 3, The Same Flat Still and No Hesitation. She Awakened. In short it is said to be an exquisite miniature of suggestion and whisper, a hints, dripping sentiment, cautiously plotted, hidden fires, condoning defiant frolics and decency and substituting wicked glances, long silences, little muffled songs and gestures full of meaning for literary assistance to dramatic event.—Adv.

At the Strand.
An exciting automobile race is the big feature in "Excuse My Dust," the latest picture starring Wallace Reid, while his coming to the Strand Theatre for three days commencing Thursday next. This photoplay is designed as a sequel to "The Roaring Road," a previous automobile picture with Mr. Reid, and, like its predecessor, is based upon an original magazine story by Byron Morgan. Wallace Reid is again "Toodles" Walden, manager of the western branch for "Darco" cars. The "Darco" engineers have a new motor, a marvel for speed and power, which their rivals, the "Fargot" people, are anxious to inspect by fair means or foul. To prevent "Toodles," who is his son-in-law, from racing, J. D. Ward, the "Bear" and president of the "Darco" concern, has his driver's license taken away for sixty days and sells the three "Darco" racing cars. But when the "Fargot" company challenges the "Darco" to a road race from Los Angeles to San Francisco, "Toodles" secretly hires back one of the cars and enters the race. The other two "Darco's" have been purchased by the "Fargot" people and disguised as their own cars. In the race "Toodles" is nearly wrecked by his rivals, but succeeds in eluding them finally reaching San Francisco, only to find that old J. D. himself has won the race with the wonderful new "Darco" motor. The "Bear" has entered the contest to protect "Toodles." Wallace Reid is supported in "Excuse My Dust" by such favorites as Ann Little, Theodor Roberts, Tully Marshall and Guy Oliver, Sam Wood directed and it is a Paramount Artercraft.—Adv.

At Griffin's.
Again last evening Lew Cody delighted the audience at Griffin's by his splendid acting in "The Beloved Cheater," which is the feature attraction at this theatre. "The Beloved Cheater" is a tingling, tangling romantic canter. Here is a hero who bears all the earmarks of the proverbial villain, that is, any man who possesses undue attraction for the members of the feminine sex is usually a villain in the movies. To add to this unfortunate character this hero kisses a young man's fiancée, and wins her love. Now here is where the touch of the master hand is seen. Without reformation—nor a miracle such as we sometimes see—the hero brings this amazing tale to a surprising conclusion. Be sure and see this delightful picture which cannot fail to please the most critical, also the balance of an entertaining programme, which includes the third episode of "The Whirlwind," that marvellous serial of thrilling events, and a good comedy picture starring "Smiling" Bill Parsons in "You Know What I Mean." This programme will be shown for the last time tonight.—Adv.

Advice received by the Polish legation at Washington from Warsaw said President Sieher, of German East Prussia, had issued a proclamation calling upon the German population to take up arms against Poland. Poni's liabilities are about $3,000,000, he declared in reply to a question put to him by Robert G. Dodge, for the receivers.

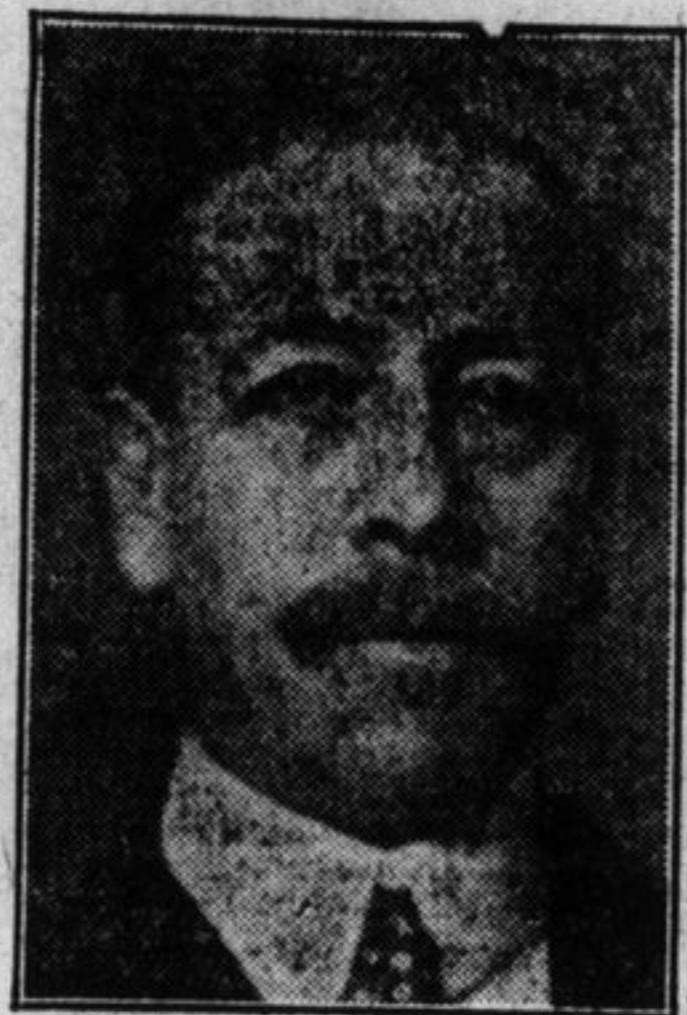

Children's Aid Ward Flees on Freight Train

A sixteen-year-old lad, a ward of the Children's Aid Society in this city, made a sensational getaway at Sharbot Lake on Tuesday, when he ascertained that he was being sought for the Children's Aid Society in Kingston. The youngster boarded a freight train going east and so far has not been located. He is wanted for running away from a farm at Elginburg, where he had been placed.

NEW ALLEN THEATRE

The Work Is Progressing Rapidly—Opening in October.
The work on the new Allen Theatre on Princess street is proceeding rapidly. The brickwork on the exterior has been completed and the block cement front is most imposing. The roof has also been finished and the workmen are now engaged in putting on the rest of the roofing. The steelwork has been installed, and when the floor is laid the work of decorating will be commenced. It is understood that the appointments of the new motion picture house are to be magnificent and no expense will be spared to provide patrons with the most congenial surroundings. It is probable that an organ will be installed, and the orchestral arrangement will be made in Toronto. No definite date has yet been set for the opening, but it is probable that the theatre will not be completed until October.

Farmers, Take Warning.
That weed with the blue flower, allowed to grow along the roadside, and on a number of farms, will soon cover the whole farm. The writer has seen acres on which nothing could grow except this weed. On some of the farms the owners had moved away and the buildings and fences were rotting down. One farmer said the land when seeded with the evil weed was not worth $1 an acre. The cattle would not go through it.
