Al Jolson in "Sinbad." Al Jolson, the chief cook of jocula oy, otherwise the world's greates ntertainer, will be seen here in the Winter Garden's oriental travesty 'Sinbad" at the Grand Opera House Sept. 9th. Mr. Jolson will repeat in Kingston the truly enormous success that he has enjoyed in this extravaganza, based on the Arabian Nights, other cities. young and pleasure-loving wife, not at all in sympathy with her husband, who has his nose to the business grindstone. Their differences result in an estrangement when a flirtatious widow comes upon the scene and involves the young husband in an uncompromising situation. Only the young married couple's five-yearold child, Rosie, seems able to hold husband and wife together. When Rosie dies, under startlingly dramatic circumstances, the bonds seem severed. But unexpectedly the situation is saved. The star is prettier than ever and shows a rare sympathy with her role. Her performance is excellent as is that of Harrison Ford as the young husband. J. M. Dumont, Walter Hiers, Raymond Hatton, and Charles Ogle are also among those in the supporting cast.-Advt.

HAS TOO MUCH SPEED

Driver Was Fined for Going Over Twenty-eight Miles an Hour.

Warden Ponsford's car, which figured in the sensational getaway of couple of young convicts a few weeks ago, was in the limelight again on Tuesday morning, when the owner was summoned on a charge

Constables Beaupre and Mullinger. were out on Montreal street on Sepember 2nd, when a son of the warden, and four companions were hitting up the pace to the outer station. The constables had their !ittle stop watches with them, and they found that the car was travelung at the rate of 28.7 miles an hour, and this will give some idea as to just how much speed the fleeing convicts could put on the car when they were saying farewell to the penitentiary and its surroundings. As the speed limit s only twenty miles, a summons was resued for the warden s car, and by he way, this is the secand time his car has been in the imelight for speeding ourside of the speeding done by the convicts. A son of the warden appeared and pleaded "not guilty," but he did not go into the box in his own behalf.
