KNOW THE JOY OF LIVING

If you are suffering from an abnormal condition of the eyes—if you no longer read with comfort and at times pass your acquaintances upon the street without recognizing them you can not know the joy of living. It is a simple matter in these days of advanced optometry to have your eyes examined and to have glasses made for you that will bring your eyes back to the path of duty. Let us render you this service.

DEAD VETERANS HONORED

Their Graves Decorated on Sunday—Feeling Addresses Delivered at Cemeteries.

On Sunday the decoration of soldiers' graves at Cataract and St. Mary's cemeteries was carried out with appropriate ceremonies. The Army and Navy Veterans Association had charge of the decorations. It was an act of loving remembrance of those who died after returning to Canada as casualties in the great war. The speakers, Major-General Sir A. C. Macdonell, C.M.G., R.C.M.G., D.S.O., commanding the Royal Military College and formerly commander of 3rd Canadian Division in France, and Brig-General King, C.M.G., D.S.O., G.O.C. M.D. No. 3, and W. F. Nickle, K.C., ex-M.P., paid fitting tribute to their noble sacrifice in the cause of Canada and the Empire.

At 2 p.m. a procession was formed at the corner of Montreal and Princess streets, which was half a mile long. In front rode a squadron of gentlemen cadets from the Royal Military College, under command of Capt. Bray. Next came the R.C.M.G. band, led by the B.C.A., and the boys of the Kingston Naval Cadet Corps. These were followed by automobiles of the district headquarters staff, Major-General Sir A. C. Macdonell, Lieut.-Col. W. H. P. Elkins, O.C., R.C.A., officers of the Kingston garrison and the veterans of the local commands, besides a large number of citizens including Mayor Nickle and W. F. Nickle, K.C., ex-Mayor Newman, Brig-Gen. the Hon. A. E. Ross, C.M.G., M.P.P. The parade was in charge of Major W. J. McKelvie, D.C.

The procession halted in front of the Salvation Army citadel where a wreath was placed on a marble tablet on the wall, to the memory of the late Captain Milton, by Major-General Sir A. C. Macdonell. Adjutant Goodhue offered a prayer and the Salvation Army band played "The Hills." The procession then continued on to Cataract.

Upon arriving there a square was formed by the troops and veterans around the monument and well-kept soldiers' graves. The decorating committee placed flags and flowers on each grave. The religious part of the ceremony was performed by Lieut.-Col. A. Gordon, senior chaplain M.D. No. 3, who opened the service with a prayer and closed it with the benediction, and Major W. E. Kidd, garrison chaplain, who read David's lament for Saul and Jonathan who were slain at the battle of Gilboa. At the opening of the service the R.C.H.A. band, under Captain Light, played "God Sent Him to You" and at the conclusion of Major Kidd's reading, "Crossing the Bar," the music for which was written by J. B. Walkem, K.C.

F. W. Nickle's address was most eloquent and impressive. Inspired by the occasion, he recalled the days when the declaration of war came and the noblest of all their Canadian manhood, with the memory of Paschenhede with its welter of mud and blood; of March 1918, when only our highly organized democracy overcame the supreme effort of Germany; of the return from the manning who died that we might live. He related circumstances of his visit to the battle front during the war and the impression made upon him by what he saw of war conditions. This is Canada's hour of liberty and opportunity, for among the nations of the world none is so blessed as Canada and we must work. The address was followed by "The Pipers' Lament" played by Pipe Major Fraser.

Major-General Sir A. C. Macdonell spoke very feelingly. He said the gathering is present to honor our dead irrespective of rank and whether they were native sons of Canada or not. Of the beliefs and customs of fighting men he never, while at the front, heard of an atheist. General Macdonell told of how religious services were always held after the return from an engagement with the enemy, when the names of the dead were read. It was a practice of the Canadians always to bury their dead. He hoped that decoration day would continue always to be observed. The Salvation Army Band played a funeral selection, and after the "Last Post" was sounded by the R. C. H. A. buglers, Lieut.-Col. A. Gordon pronounced the benediction.

Upon leaving Cataract cemetery the procession was again formed and proceeded to St. Mary's cemetery. After the decoration of the soldiers' graves in the reserved plot with flags and flowers, a selection was rendered by the R. C. H. A. band. The religious service was conducted by Captain, the Rev. Father J. F. Nicholson, M.C., chaplain M.D. No. 3, who gave a most appropriate address in which he emphasized the example of sacrifice and obedience to duty in the hour of the country's need on the part of the soldiers whose memory was held in such honor by their fellow citizens and their country. At the conclusion of his address a selection was played by the pipe.

Brigadier W. B. M. King, C.M.G., D.S.O., G.O.C. M.D. No. 2, said he felt it a high honor to be privileged to take part in doing honor to the memory of Canada's soldiers who had given their lives for their country. Their example was an inspiration, and their memory would live in history. He expressed the hope that decoration day might always be fittingly observed and expressed his deep appreciation of what was done by the Kingston veterans in thus honoring their fallen comrades. The address was followed by a band selection, and the "Last Post" by the buglers, and Captain, the Rev. Father Nicholson pronounced the benediction.

LATE JOHN JAMES EVA.

Funeral Took Place On Friday Afternoon.

The funeral of the late "Jack" Eva took place on Friday afternoon from his late residence, 189 Collingwood street, to Cataract cemetery. There was a large attendance at the funeral which was held with full military honors. Before the time for the funeral many of his former friends came to look upon him for the last time and speak their expressions of sympathy for the bereaved family.

Deceased was a member of the 14th Regiment, P.W.O.R., during the first year of the war and later transferred to the C.A.D., under Capt. A. W. Winnett, proceeding overseas with that unit in 1915. After he had been in England some months he took ill and up to the time of his death had never regained his former health. He was twenty-five years of age, and an active member of the G. W. V. A., and, up to January of this year, was chairman of the musical committee, taking part in all concerts and entertainments by the association. Six pall-bearers from the G. W. V. A. carried their late comrade to his last resting place. Members of the G. W. V. A., Army and Navy Veterans and I.O.D.E., attended the funeral to pay their last respects. The funeral service at the home was conducted by the Rev. W. T. G. Brown, and Rev. J. K. Fairfull; Col. Gordon, military chaplain, conducted the service at the graveside. S. S. Corbett was undertaker. The deceased is survived by his father and mother and only sister also his aunt in Montreal.

There were many beautiful floral tributes which included: Pillow, family; Crest, G. W. V. A.; Wreath, I.O.D.E., Harry Walkem, Friends in Montreal; Harp, Mr. and Mrs. Self and Mrs. Hewitt.

Sprays, Mr. and Mrs. R. McCullough, Mr. and Mrs. D. Germain, Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Connor, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Winnett, Mr. and Mrs. Cattermole and family, Mrs. Trotman and family, Cattermole children, W. P. Derry and family, Misses English, Mr. and Mrs. Walker and family, Miss J. McIlivride, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, L. McCormick, Master Bert Winnett.

SPOKE AT CHALMERS CHURCH

Prof. T. R. Glover, formerly of Queen's, Occupied the Pulpit. The wonderful love and friendship of Christ formed the theme of a scholarly discourse delivered in Chalmers church Sunday morning by Prof. T. R. Glover, Cambridge University, England, formerly of Queen's university. The speaker chose as his text, St. Luke, XXII, 15, "And he said unto them, with desire I have desired to eat this passover with you, before I suffer." Passages in this chapter, Prof. Glover said, revealed many of the promises of Christ. One of the great sources of Christian life was in keeping company with Christ. It was important to be with Christ. The more men were with Him, the more power they received to deal with life. And it was power all men needed. In these present days we became more conscious of this fact. The speaker painted a beautiful picture, showing the love of Christ for His people, and His friendship. An invitation was extended to everyone to share this friendship with Christ. We should think of what it would mean and realize what it had been too in the experience of the world. The message from God came from a friend who overcame the world. He would do the same for all people as He did for Peter.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church, Beaufort, collected for a purse to give to Mr. Woods, the wife of the worthy minister, who moved from the village the end of August. They bought her a pretty leather purse, a little handbag in genuine seal grain leather and had $77 to put in the purse.
