

The Novel of the Hour

Basil King's new story—of a modern Enoch Arden—is a novel so arresting in situation, so universal in appeal, so crammed with event and interest and thought, as to make a book for every reader of fiction. The discriminating who demand high excellence will find it here. For the reader who "just wants a story"—here is a story—the biggest he's come across in a long time.

THE "KATZENJAMMER" KIDS

Famous Fun-Makers Delighted Big Audience at Grand Opera House.

The "Katzenjammer Kids," famous in newspaper cartoons, are in the city, playing at the Grand Opera House. They have entertained thousands through the newspapers, but to see them in action on the stage is a real treat. Last night they kept a big audience in roars of laughter at the Grand, and the celebrated fun-makers scored a decided hit. Ma Katzenjammer and Der Captain are also with the show, and the four funny characters were a big attraction, and they have with them a strong company of entertainers, including a bevy of pretty girls who can sing and dance well.

The production demonstrates the popularity of newspaper cartoon comedies transferred to the stage. The liberal applause throughout the evening decided the programme. The different parts are in able hands, and the two acts are brimful of fun, good singing, dancing and special features. As in the comics, the poor old Captain has to stand for a barrel of tricks pulled off on him by Hans and Fritz, and they put their heads in the pants style. The part of the "Kids," Hans and Fritz, were taken very capably by Henry Washer and George Bech. Their sayings and antics kept the audience in a ripple of laughter, both making the very best of their roles. One of the outstanding members of the company is Olivia Myfarrow, who takes the part of Valeska Granger, leading woman in the Shameless Players. She is a charming actress, and possessed of a sweet voice, she captivated her audience on her first appearance. The difficult role of the Captain was ably portrayed by William J. Hoyt, who started off the fun when he endeavored to boom up business for the Whirlpool Inn, of which he is the proprietor. As Ma Katzenjammer, Florence Guise certainly made good. Eddie Maldea showed the necessary respect for his part as Don Keller, director of the Shameless Players. Earl Bonner was good in the roll of Jack Waller, the artist.

Some of the song hits were "Don't Let Them Take You Up in the Air, Girls," by Valeska and chorus; "Ragtime Calisthenics," by Don and chorus; "Boogie Man," by Jack and chorus; while others are "Building Castles," Valeska and Jack; "Lonesome," by Jack; "Mighty Like a Rose," by Valeska; "Job for Life," by Valeska and Jack.

A real novelty introduced in a little sketch entitled "It Pays to Advertise," and the truth of the old saying was most convincingly after Don and his chorus girls did their part. In this sketch some well-known trade marks were introduced, featuring some daily newspaper advertisements.

Special mention should also be made of the Shimmy Wedding at the close of the performance. It is something new and interesting. The "Katzenjammer Kids" played to a big audience Saturday and will be given its final presentation to-night.

They are a gentle but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, banish constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers and make teething easy.

DREW-MACDONALD NUPTIALS

A Marriage Was Solemnized at Camden East.

At 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning at St. Luke's church, Camden East, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Vera Louise, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Macdonald, Camden East, Ont., and Richard Clarence, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Drew, Odessa, were united in marriage by Rev. A. S. Dickinson, rector of Camden parish.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal chorus, played by Mrs. Dickinson, and looked very sweet and dainty, in a gown of white marquisette, with pearl trimming, and embroidered net veil, cap style with drop pearl trimming and bridal wreath of orange blossoms, carrying a bouquet of calla lilies and maiden hair fern, and wore a pearl and emerald necklace, the gift of the groom.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Dickinson played a very pretty military wedding march (Rackmann) on the organ.

After the ceremony the bridal party proceeded to the home of the bride and partook of a dainty luncheon. The dining room was prettily decorated with pink and white festoons, lilies, ferns and asters. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present, and among the groom's relatives there were four generations represented.

After luncheon, the bride donned a travelling suit of navy blue broadcloth, navy silk embroidered georgette blouse with coral trimming, and taupe hat with touches of blue.

The groom's gift to the organist was fleur-de-dis brooch set with pearls.

The happy couple motored to Nanpawa and left on 2.18 train amid showers of rice and good wishes for Toronto. Suburban party west. On their return they will reside near Violet where the groom is a prosperous farmer.

Insurance Agents' Certificates.

Ontario Insurance Agents' Certificates of Authority expire next Thursday. All agents continuing in business must apply to the Department of Insurance at Toronto, or to some registered insurance company for new forms of application for certificates for the year 1921. By an amendment of the Ontario Insurance Act adopted at the last session of the legislature, separate individual certificates are required by agents for life, fire and casualty insurance. No certificates are issued to firms or corporations, but every individual agent must have his individual certificate. The fee is $3 for each certificate in each division. Applications should be forwarded to the department promptly to avoid the penalties provided by the act for carrying on business without a license.

Need a Larger Steamer.

The Cape Vincent Eagle says: Travel between here and Kingston, on the steamer Missisquoi has fallen off considerably and the steamship company has discontinued the Sunday runs from here to the limestone city. During the whole summer the boat has had an unusual good season and has been filled to full capacity with automobiles going from the States into Canada, and in many cases autos have been turned away on account of lack of space. It is thought that owing to the number of cars that are transported at this point that a larger boat will be put on here next season. The steamer Missisquoi has been making this run for several years and has been under the control of Captain Carnegie of Kingston.

Cheese Factories Reopen.

Cheese factories are reopening in many places in the district surrounding London, as a result of the closing of the milk condensing factories, while the condensing paid the farmers $2.25 per cwt for milk, the cheese factories pay only $2.40, but in the latter case the farmers get back the whey to feed to pigs. Some of the condenseries are making butter for the farmers for five cents per pound, but it is claimed that this scheme is not a profitable one for the milk producers.

The Good Judge Announces

That the capacity of the Mill is being again increased and we are now able to supply those who have not been able to secure this high grade Flour, giving special attention to Central and Eastern Ontario. That was the object of building the Mill, which we have already increased greatly over our original intentions. This was made necessary owing to the great demand for this high grade Flour, all fresh Flour, no old stock war Flour. Our special process enables us to make Flour of improved color and whiteness without removing the best part of the grain—all the old-time favour of Mother's and Grandmother's Bread retained with all the modern color added. Thousands of bakers and householders are now certifying to the above and sending renewed orders.
