POLICE RESCUE MAN AND WIFE

Broke Into Home And Found Mr. And Mrs. Bureau Nigh Asphyxiated.

A tragedy almost occurred late on Tuesday night, when Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Bureau, residing at 221 Stuart street, were overcome by gas escaping in their home, and were taken out of the house unconscious. Their condition was quite critical all night, but on Wednesday morning was reported quite favorable, and that they would recover if nothing developed, although there were fears that the patients might develop pneumonia as a result of exposure.

A colie dog belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Bureau was in the house, and rendered unconscious as a result of the escaping gas, and on Wednesday forenoon had not recovered.

The barking of the colie dog, and the fact that their nearby neighbors could smell the escaping gas, saved Mr. and Mrs. Bureau from what would surely have been certain death.

Mr. and Mrs. McBride live next door, at 219 Stuart street, and Mr. and Mrs. Calvert, at No. 217. They detected a strong smell of gas about 10.30 o'clock, and they became alarmed and summoned the police. Police Sergeant Marshall and Constable Campbell jumped in a taxi and made the trip in record time. On their arrival they found the house locked. They raised a window and making their way upstairs, they found Mr. and Mrs. Bureau lying on the floor, both in unconscious condition. With the aid of Mr. McBride the officers carried the victims down stairs to the front door, and summoning an ambulance, had them removed to the General hospital. Before the ambulance arrived, two medical students from Queen's university arrived on the scene from a nearby boarding house, and cared for the patients. At the General hospital the pulmonator was used and in 2 o'clock in the morning Mrs. Bureau regained consciousness. Mr. Bureau regained consciousness between 8 and 9 o'clock.

A Whig representative was on the scene shortly after Mr. and Mrs. Bureau were removed from their home. Neighbors present to the quick response made by the police, had their home about ten minutes longer, it is stated that nothing could have saved them.

SOVIET ARMIES IN CONFUSION

Wrangel Effects a Junction With Makno—Barefooted Conscripts Surrender.

Constantinople, Oct. 6.—Forces commanded by General Baron Wrangel, head of the anti-Bolshevik Government of South Russia, have joined the armies led by General Makno, the Ukrainian chief, which have been operating against the Soviet troops in the region of Khar'kov.

The junction was effected at Simelivka, a village twenty-five miles southwest of Ekaterinoslav, and the Soviet troops in the region of Khar'kov, which have been trapped in that vicinity since the anti-Bolshevik forces have been approaching each other during the past fortnight, were captured.

General Makno's flying raid on Khar'kov which resulted in the capture of the city, has contributed to the confusion in the Soviet ranks in Southern Russia, the position of which along the Dnieper river has become more critical. Insurgent bands are reported to be in the region of the Bolshheviks and are said to have captured Nikolaiev, near Odessa. It is rumored cholera has appeared among Soviet troops in Khar'kov.

Barefooted conscripts of the Bolshhevik army continue to surrender in large numbers without resistance, but the Bolshhevik regulars and student regiments continue their retreat.
