MATHIEU'S SYRUP OF TAR & COD-LIVER OIL

CURES

Coughs, Colds, Grippe, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Etc.

MATHIEU'S SYRUP is a sovereign tonic combining the curative properties of TAR and the strengthening virtues of COD LIVER OIL. Colds, when neglected or badly treated give rise to consequences of such a grave character that you should not risk using inferior preparations. MATHIEU'S SYRUP is the only genuine remedy whose reputation has caused to crop up many imitations of doubtful value. ON SALE EVERYWHERE

DE LAVAL ALPHA

THE EASIEST GAS ENGINE TO OPERATE AND CARE FOR
 The farmer wants an engine that is simple and reliable, that will do what he wants it to do without constant tinkering and adjustment.
 He gets such an engine when he buys an Alpha. The Alpha is a thoroughly practical engine. It is designed and built to do its work day in and day out under the varying conditions it is called to meet on the farm. It is dependable at all times.
 One big feature of the Alpha is its low fuel consumption, whether you are using gasoline, alcohol or kerosene, the Alpha is a fuel saver.

EQUIPPED FOR A CRISIS

The International Sunday School Lesson for October 10th is "The Baptism and Temptation of Jesus."—Matt. 3: 1—4: 11.

By William T. Ellis.

No thoughtful person who has visited Europe since the war has failed to return home without a warning concerning the gravity and growth of the present world crisis. All sorts of remedies and preparations are proposed, many of them hysterical and absurd; and many wise and workable.

Most of the views that are being expressed upon this subject are too general and too large. It is easier to tell what an argue "they" or "we" ought to do than actually to inaugurate something practicable. It is time to wake up to the truth that what the world, and this favored land especially, requires to equip it for the present crisis is not comprehensive and governmental in character; but that it is characterised as the New Testament.

Facing Fundamental Facts.

Our day is rich in schemes and theories. It intellects human welfare, so much of the horizon would not be dark and red. Whatever brains and wisdom can do is being done to reconstruct the disintegrating Old World. Despite all efforts, the woe and wailer are on the increase.

This is no place to go into the depressing recital of what has befallen and is befalling this old world of ours. "Each breeze that sweeps the ocean" brings tidings more ominous than the last. Here in the New World, too, there are a multitude of disturbing manifestations. A recent magazine article enlarges upon the appalling increase of crimes, of embezzlement; violations of trust, by old and young, educated and illiterate. The quality of trustworthiness, it declared, is diminishing to an alarming extent. Profiteering grows apace. Moral laxity is on the increase. We have not been able to stand up under the strain of phenomenal prosperity and war-pressure.

All of which compels us to face the fundamental fact of life, which is wrapped up in a momentous experience of Jesus. Temptation, fierce and formidable, is the inevitable lot of every person. To meet it, the individual must be prepared. In his own soul by an endowment from God Himself. The thing cannot be accomplished wholesale; one by one each life must be made ready for the test which, in the aggregate, may have such vast social consequences.

A Peep at the Home Folks.
 While the general view of worldwide political and social and economic conditions may be depressing, there is only cheer in a study of this Lesson, and of background conditions in our Christian land. The baptism and temptation of Jesus are filled with optimism for mankind. They tell of the way out. For the Master won through to victory and peace by no power or method that may not be His disciples.
 This Summer my travels have carried me into the homes of scores of average folk, in smaller communities. What I have found has heartened and thrilled me. The eminent leaders of Christianity may disappoint one; but there is only encouragement in the simple goodness and God-fearing faith of the plain people. The salt of the nation are this uncouth and sometimes forgotten host of homes where life is animated by a desire to do the will of God. These unheralded Christians, who do not make public speeches or write to the newspapers, whose supreme ambition is to do what Jesus would like to have them do, are the bulwark of civilization, the hope of the world.

 Bible-reading patriots are the best guarantee of the preservation of our liberties. Would that every troubled and pessimistic leader of men and especially every Christian official, could go out into the country and meet them. It would hearten every city-spotted man and woman to catch a glimpse of the countless homes where love rules, where the old-fashioned domestic virtues persist, and where the standards of Christianity are unquestioningly accepted as the measure of life.

By Jordan's Bank.

Somehow, it makes the Master seem more like ourselves—which was His constant desire—to know that He joined the crowd of heart-hungry ones who thronged to the Prophet of the Jordan to be baptised. Jesus identified Himself in every respect with us. "He was tempted in all points like as we are." He walked the common ways of life, seeking spiritual refreshment even as we seek it likewise. Nor would He permit John the Baptist to dissuade Him from fulfilling all righteousness. It was His mission to tie Himself to the ordinary folk by every holy bond, every spiritual usage, every common experience.

Though John thrust upon Him the argument with which so many of us beguile ourselves, that He was superior to the ordinary needs of the general run of men, the Saviour waved him aside.

The example strikes straight home to the burning question of church membership, Sabbath observance and the like. If the Lord went with the multitude into fellowship with the divinest usage of His time, we may be sure He would be found on the Sabbath worshipping in the house of God rather than resting on the golf-course, or bending over trashy literature.

The Great Divide.

So equipped, and in a state of spiritual exaltation, Jesus began His ministry—by meeting a tremendous, threefold temptation!
 Some very modern persons have eliminated the devil from their theology; but we cannot so easily get rid of him from life. He is a potent and present factor today. The evil that is rampant in the world, and that never ceases to knock at the door of our own hearts, is no fancy or phantasm; it is a grim and dread reality, with which even the saintliest spirits must daily reckon. It does no good to ignore or deny; every one of us has to come to grips with the great adversary, even as Jesus did.

And, like Him, by His imparted power, we, too, may emerge triumphant.
 Central to the story of the temptation of Jesus is the truth that man is more than a body; he is a spirit. Material and sensual appeals fall in vain only upon the ears of those who can say "It is written!" and who know themselves allied with all the powers of the living God. Who so loved mankind that with every temptation He has also provided a way of escape.

LATE MRS. ISABELLA SCOTT

A Devoted Member of the Standard Church of America.
 Sydenham, Oct. 5.—There passed to her eternal reward, at the Kingston General Hospital on Sunday, Sept. 24th, at 10.30 a.m., Mrs. Isabella M. Scott, widow of the late Albert Scott. She had been removed from her home in Sydenham four weeks previously. Mrs. Scott lived in that village for thirty-five years. Deceased had an attack of the "flu" in Saginaw, Mich., last winter, while visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mark Packard, from which she never fully recovered. She was seventy-two years, six months, and twenty-four days old.

The late Mrs. Scott was brought up in the religion of the English church, until about twenty-five years ago when she became soundly converted to God in the Holiness Movement church under Bishop R. C. Horner, and connected herself with that denomination until Oct. 1918, when the Holiness Movement Church in Sydenham was taken over by Rev. A. T. Warren. Mrs. Scott, desiring to remain true and loyal to the doctrines and discipline of her religion, and also under the leadership of Bishop R. C. Horner, severed her connection with the H. M. Church, and became a member of the Standard Church of America (Incor.) with her name on the roll of this society until she answered her name to the final roll-call.

She was well known and beloved on account of her kindly disposition and strictly religious principles. Her home was ever open to ministers and evangelists, and many will remember her kind hospitality. She was the mother of twelve children, eight of whom are still known to be living: Walter, Flint, Mich.; Thomas, Sydenham; Charles, Weston; Mrs. H. Terry, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Mary Packard, Saginaw, Mich.; Mrs. H. Culvert, Royal Oak, Mich.; Mrs. E. Mouldey, Brownville, N.Y.; and Miss Margaret, New York City.

The funeral was held from her son's residence, 40 Raglan Road, Kingston, on Wednesday, Sept. 29th, at the Methodist Church at Sydenham, at the request of the family, interment taking place in Sydenham cemetery.

Premier To Speak.
 London, Oct. 6.—Premier Lloyd George will speak at Lisanelly on Friday, and is expected to deal at length with the Irish situation. He will probably analyse Lord Grey's proposals for a settlement and also ex-Premier Asquith's.

A MEATLESS HOT PIE

Another Use Discovered For Those Oxo Cubes.

Here is a recipe calling for no meat other than the concentrated beef-goodness to be found in the familiar Oxo cube.

Peel and slice sufficient potatoes to half fill a large pie dish, add few small onions, also sliced. Put into cold water, bring quickly to a boil, boil one minute, then drain.

Put back in pie dish with few slices of tomato, season with pepper and salt and flavour with herbs. Dissolve one Oxo cube in 2 pint of hot milk and pour over mixture. Put few bits of butter on top and bake for two hours in moderate oven. It's delicious.

All dealers sell Oxo in tins of four, ten, and fifty cubes.

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

TELLS SAFE, SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME.

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parinaid (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucous dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.—Advt.
