DEATH OF RECTOR'S WIFE

Sudden Passing of Mrs. J. de P. Wright, a Much Esteemed Lady.

A death which caused widespread regret throughout the city and district, occurred at the General hospital at 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, when Mrs. Wright, wife of Rev. J. de Pencier Wright, rector of St. Luke's church, passed away after an illness of twenty-four hours. Diphtheria was the cause of death.

Mrs. Wright was removed from her home, 511 Alfred street, to the hospital on Wednesday night. The circumstances surrounding her death are extremely sad as her son, Joseph Wright, aged nine years, is at the present time in the General hospital suffering from diphtheria. The latter was taken ill on Monday, and removed to the hospital, and on Friday was reported to be doing nicely. Deceased was the youngest daughter of the late Robert Lockridge, Tamworth, who was for many years prominent in financial circles. She was born in Tamworth forty-two years ago, and was educated at Bishop Bethune college, Oshawa, and Bishop Strachan school, Toronto. Her marriage to Rev. Mr. Wright took place seventeen years ago.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three sons, William, and John and Joseph, and one daughter, Dr. Stuart Lockridge, one brother, Dr. Stuart Lockridge, one sister, Tamworth, and two sisters, Mrs. Radcliffe, wife of the Rev. Robert Radcliffe, rector of Deseronto, and Mrs. Postlewaite, wife of the rector of Antville.

The late Mrs. Wright was actively engaged in all the women's organizations of the church, and was a great help to the rector in his work. Possessed of a lovable disposition, she won the hearts of all the people, and the announcement of her death came as a great shock to her wide circle of friends. Mrs. Wright had the honor of being vice-president of the Woman's Auxiliary for the Diocese of Ontario. She gave of her time freely and much of the success of the various organizations at St. Luke's is due to her work. She was possessed of great executive ability, and no task was too great for her. In her home she was a kind and loving wife and mother. To the members of the family who are left will be extended the sympathy of a wide circle in their very sad bereavement.

The funeral took place privately on Friday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, interment being made at Cataract cemetery. Dean Starr officiated at the service, among the clergy present being Archdeacon Dobbs and Canon J. W. Jones, as well as many other members of the clergy, and the deanery. At 2.30 p.m. a public memorial service was held in St. Luke's church, conducted by the clergy of the diocese.

IN THE PENITENTIARY AT TWELVE YEARS?

Who Sent Toronto Boy to Prison at That Age?

Toronto Telegram. Something strange and sinister envelopes the person of John Murphy. He is only seventeen, and yet he has faced the terrors of a two-year term in Kingston penitentiary, in addition to other terms for crime. In the dock this morning he looked older than his years, but notwithstanding his remarkable experience, his face bore no traces of a criminal life.

Early morning, Sept. 25th, Plainclothesmen Brown and Kenny saw him coming along the street with four auto tires, two on each arm. He was blithe and gay, and hunched along like a giddy youth going to a dance, or coming home from a rubber tire conversation.

"Hello," said the police. "Hello," said Murphy. "Where are you going with the tires?"

"I'm going to No. 3 station," he answered. "So are we. Jump into our car." Furling the matter over in their minds the police remembered seeing tires in a nearby window on King street west, and going along later, found that the premises of J. Bracken had been entered and four tires stolen.

Mr. Corley read the record. It was in 1914 when he was sentenced to two years at Kingston. According to that, if he is only seventeen now, he must have been under twelve years of age when sent down. Do magistrates or judges commit children to Kingston penitentiary?

"A pretty persistent young criminal," was how Mr. Corley described the young prisoner. "He's been on the straight and narrow path for the past six months," pleaded G. C. Elgie.

"Three of the six months on the straight and narrow path were spent in jail," remarked the Crown Attorney.

"There's a doubt," said counsel. "Well, I haven't it," retorted the colonel. Then the lad who had been in the pen when under twelve was committed to the jail farm for three months.

The boy scouts held a meeting in St. George's hall, on Thursday night, and the finance committee of the Ontario diocese also held a meeting to wind up some of the business arising out of the recent gathering. A man doesn't enjoy being laughed at by a crowd unless he gets paid for it.

Sporting Activities At the University

The rugby squad had a light workout yesterday, but were not worked very hard. The backs did some punting and passing early in the afternoon and the main squad spent a great deal of the time in the same manner. The beauty of the senior line-up was easily seen. There are two complete back divisions on the team. The division playing may at any time change places with a completely new back division from the line, one set being equally as good as the other.

The soccer team had a fast practice on the cricket field in the afternoon. There is a lot of good material out, and most of last year's team are on the job again. It is probable that "Sandy" Donaldson will be back again to take the place on the team, and with Vedova already out, and some fine new material at the practices, the back positions will be easily filled up. Graham and McGregor, McLachlan, Ransom, Nelson, and many others are turning out and they are all speed artists and heady players.

The girls were out on the porch of the upper campus still left clear, and mixed things up with their hockey sticks for quite a while. It certainly is too bad that girls' intercollegiate sports could not be arranged, so that the Queen's teams would have a chance to display their prowess. They have many now who are skilled players of field hockey and contests with outside teams would be interesting.

The wrestlers, boxers and the track team are also getting into shape fast. Both the campus track and the gym are in constant use, and various husky-looking fellows in numerous sweaters and other queer-looking articles of attire prance about the college grounds chasing the elusive condition.

THE COLLEGIATE BOYS ARE ROUNDING UP

Adding More of the Marks of the Old K.C.I. Style Every Day.

The Collegiate rugby team has been out on the cricket field every night and the boys are rounding into shape for a snappy little team. They started out with few prospects this year but considerable new material dropped in from the other side, where and is being placed rapidly. The practices are working under a handicap on account of the illness of Mr. Sliter, but "Benny" Morris is keeping his squad right at it and they are adding more of the marks of the old K. C. I. style every day.

The team is without the Carr-Harris youngsters this year, but a lad from England is filling the place of one of them to perfection. McKelvey, brother of "Red," is going to show his brother a few things about rugby in a very short time. Wilson, a veteran, is an all-round man and is a regular stone wall on the line. Boyd will make a good plunger in a few more practices. He is fast becoming an expert on the flying tackle.

The team altogether is fast and solid. The fight they put up last year against the varsity double their size and weight will long be remembered. This year, although they are still light, they have a few additions which will tend to make the odds a little more even.

Died in Winnipeg.

Mrs. Frank Hamilton, 131 Alfred street, received the sad news on Friday morning, of the death of her sister, Mrs. Bert Ferris, which occurred at Winnipeg, on Thursday. Deceased was only twenty years of age, and was the daughter of Jacob Jones, Lunenburg. Her marriage took place two years ago. Deceased was very highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends. She was a very talented musician and writer. Her parents and five sisters survive. Interment will likely take place in the west.
