Minister of Finance Reported As Favorable to Western Move.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.-The renewed movement in the west for the recreation of the Wheat Board is reported to have an adherent in the minister of finance, who is out there with the tariff committee, and has been interviewed.

It is understood that Sir Henry has communicated with Ottawa in terms rathe, favorable to the control idea, but there is not much prospect of it being reverted to.

While wheat prices are down, the minister of trade and commerce says this is due to the law of supply and demand and not because the wheat board went out of existence.

ticularly strong and conditions otherwise justify it, the outlook at this juncture is not favorable to the wheat board being recreated. In the discussion on the subject in the house last spring, a point emphasized was that whatever system was adopted, it should last a year. To this the abolition of the Legislative Council 479. government agreed.

Ottawa, Oct. 9 .- H. H. Stevens, M. P. for Vancouver, is here, and rumors of his entry into the cabinet are revived, but an immediate development is not looked for.

Sir Robert Borden promised that British Columbia would have two cabinet ministers, though the new premier is not bound by the undertaking. Dr. Tolmie is the only minister from that province at present. No British Columbia successor to Hon, Martin Burrill has been appointed. At the same time Ontario is short one minister since General Mewburn retired and there are recurrent rumors that Hon. Dr. Reid will the province has ever secured for a retire from the cabinet. These threats to burn ginneries, coupled with the holding movement urged by the farm organization, are likely to reduce the volume of cots ton placed on the market. This will create a serious situation for many merchants and county banks that aided the planters in producing the present crop, as the farmers will undoubtedly delay meeting their obligations for fertilizers and other supplies which are now coming due. The great fall in the price of cotton is a serious menace to business in the south and the crop was produced on supplies purchased on a 40-cent Southern business. The cutting of the price in half will necessarily be felt in all lines of commerce. So far no action has been taken against the London, Oct. 9 .- The Daily Chronicle's Paris correspondent has had an interview with Georges Leygues, the French Premier and Minister for Foreign Affairs. Asked what he thought was the thing most essential for the peace of the world at the present time, M. Leygues replied: "Close and constant collaboration between France and England. It is necessary not alone for the maintenance of the peace of the world but for the re-establishing of the economic well-being of Europe." The Premier declared it was his intention as head of the Government to collaborate in close accord with the British Government. He hoped France and England would find no difficulty in deciding upon a common basis of action for their eastern Europe policy. By eastern Europe, he explained, he meant broadly everything from the Baltic to the Black Sea. The difficulties in the eastern European situation were the same for France as for England, and the necessity for overhauling them was of equal importance for the two countries. He felt that common accord would make itself felt at once. After all, he added, the principal alm of the French and British Governments was the establishment of general peace, and when this was borne in mind it was difficult to see how any serious misunderstanding could arise between France and England in eastern Europe,

"Further," continued M. Leygues, "it is important to bear in mind that political accord between our two countries must inevitably hasten the return of nominal economic and social conditions, which in itself will be no small service rendered to warstricken humanity."
