The Good Judge Announces

that the capacity of the Mill is being again increased and we are now able to supply those who have not been able to secure this high grade Flour, giving special attention to Central and Eastern Ontario. That was the object of building the Mill, which we have already increased greatly over our original intentions. This was made necessary owing to the great demand for this high grade Flour, all fresh Flour, no old stock war Flour. Our special process enables us to make Flour of improved color and whiteness without removing the best part of the grain—all the old-time flavour of Mother's and Grandmother's Bread retained with all the modern color added. Thousands of bakers and householders are now certifying to the above and sending renewed orders.

The only exception made is for raffles for prizes of small value at any bazaar held for charitable or religious object, if permission has first been obtained from the Municipal Council, etc. The Great War Veterans have therefore decided as it is contrary to law, to desist from carrying out their intention and have asked me to explain their reason for doing so.

R.M.C. SERGEANTS' MESS.

Held Their First Social Function on Friday Night.

The sergeants' mess of the Royal Military College held their first social function of the season Friday night, when they attended the production of "San Toy" at the Grand Opera House, and upon the conclusion of the performance dined in one of the local "estaminets."

A large number of the various branches of the service are represented in the college sergeants' mess, "gunners," "sappers," "Political Wallahs," "Pumpsters," "Physical Torture Experts" and the "B.I.," and it is surprising to notice the large number of decorations and medals worn by the N.C.O.'s, no less than forty-one medals appearing on the breasts of the seventeen members who compose the mess.

The staff of the college was represented at this social event by Major E. H. de L. Greenwood, the staff adjutant, and Lieut. S. C. Cuthbert, superintendent of physical training.

Miss Sara Clinton, the popular star of "San Toy" has no better friends than the soldiers from Fort Frederick, judging by the generous reception and particularly hearty applause she received from that occupied by the Grand Opera House occupied by them.

After the supper, Major Greenwood and Lieut. Cuthbert addressed the members of the mess, referring to the efficiency of the college and the part played by the warrant officers and non-commissioned officers in maintaining the high standard reached by the institution. The commandant, Major-General Sir A. C. Macdonell, K.C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., was unable to be present at the function, owing to his absence from the city, but a very splendid photograph of himself, which was presented formally by Major Greenwood, and which will be hung in the mess rooms.

It is understood that the sergeants intend to arrange several social functions throughout the winter season, and their efforts are being strongly supported from the commandant.

Oct. 16.—The steamer Britannic was in port about noon yesterday with freight and passengers on board. A considerable amount of the freight was discharged here for the local trade. She made her regular trip to Kingston and on her return loaded a considerable amount of freight for points east.

The annual convention of No. 1 district of Leeds Teachers' Association was held in the high school during the past two days and was quite well attended.

Principal J. C. Linklater's report at the meeting of the Board of Education held this week contained the statement that twenty-seven pupils of the senior fourth class wrote on the entrance examination, all of whom were successful in passing, while eleven passed with honors, and further Miss Betty Sampson won the Johnston medal for obtaining the highest number of marks in the district. Miss Maud Bates came second with a high percentage.

The technical night classes in connection with the high school are making good progress. Those enrolled for courses in the various departments of study are: Dressmaking, Textile works, meets trains, in connection with the immigration work, and visits the women prisoners at the penitentiary, where she received a warm welcome, as any one hearing her sympathetic account of this part of her duties would be assured she would.

Mrs. McNeil said at the close of the secretary's address that the executive were fortunate in securing an enthusiastic young girl to lead an enthusiastic group of people wandering through the rooms all very inviting, and surely a home where many happy hours may be spent by the young girls of Kingston, to whom it is always open.

A SWEET, YOUNG SECRETARY.

The Y.W.C.A. Has Secured a Very Lovely Girl Leader.

The Y.W.C.A. rooms on Johnson street were a very bright and pleasant place indeed on Friday evening, when the executive and club members gave a reception to Miss Marion Packer, the new secretary, who is a bright-eyed young girl with a charming manner and "that excellent thing in woman," a sweet voice. There was a short programme, with piano numbers by Miss Helen Patterson, an English girl who plays delightfully, and Miss Macfarland. Miss Goldie Bartels had come to help by making lovely music on her violin to Mrs. Richardson's accompaniment, and then Miss Packer sang some simple hymns most sweetly and with a clear enunciation that is most valuable in her work. Then in a modest little speech, in which she as a newcomer asked the help of the older workers, the new secretary outlined the winter's programme of work, and play: Bible classes on Sunday afternoon, recreation club on Monday, and so on throughout the week, winding up with the children's cooking and sewing classes on Saturday.

The secretary visits the Dominion Textile works, meets trains, in connection with the immigration work, and visits the women prisoners at the penitentiary, where she received a warm welcome, as any one hearing her sympathetic account of this part of her duties would be assured she would.

Mrs. McNeil said at the close of the secretary's address that the executive were fortunate in securing an enthusiastic young girl to lead an enthusiastic group of people wandering through the rooms all very inviting, and surely a home where many happy hours may be spent by the young girls of Kingston, to whom it is always open.
