UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT.

Strand Theatre. Good as Ever and a Little More. Everything maintained at the same high standard as usual and a more improvement is the slogan of the Strand Theatre at the beginning of the winter season. Under the new manager, H. R. Hitchinson, this popular motion picture house is giving the theatre patrons of Kingston a fine service. The new manager comes to Kingston from the Combination Houses, the Strand Theatre and the Regent Theatre at Toronto. He has had a wide experience in theatrical work all over this continent and can be depended upon to carry on and perfect the good work of the former manager, George Wilson, who has gone to Windsor.

The new manager has started in at the local house with an improvement which has been at once noticed and favorably commented upon by the theatre fans. This is a unique spotlight which throws an oblique light on the orchestra without interfering with the normal darkness of the house for the pictures. The orchestra is now plainly in view in this oblique which produces an effect as clear-cut as a photograph. At the same time the light is so controlled that the main body of the house is not changed at all and there is no reflection to interfere with the clearness of the pictures on the screen.

For Halloween the Strand has been specially decorated with streamers of bunting stretch higher and higher and the traditional black cat of the season arches its back and spits defiance at the grinning pumpkins with their man-in-the-moon faces. The lobby is a mass of Halloween decorations and the spirit of the occasion meets one at the very entrance to the theatre. The front of the theatre presents a very pretty picture, especially at night when the shining marbles and out in brilliant relief. The lobby is glowing and inviting to the passerby and the whole arrangement presents an alluring picture which promises rest, recreation and amusement within. The pictures arranged for the coming season are of the very best. The new manager has personally viewed almost all the pictures booked at special screenings before their release and has arranged for the very best selection of a wonderful collection of film plays. This special feature, several large film extravaganzas will be presented throughout the season. A new play of Mary Pickford's and "Humoresque" will be two of the first of these.

The Strand theatre is indeed fortunate in securing Mr. Hitchinson as manager, and although he may only be here temporarily, many movie fans have already expressed the wish that he be left here for this season at least. Good service is the secret for institutions and organizations catering to the public and the patrons of the Strand Theatre are receiving lots of it.

WEDDED IN NEW YORK.

The McGeehan-Kaminski Nuptials—Bride a Kingston Girl. Miss Millie Kaminski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kaminski, Queen street, was married from the residence of Judge Hunt, Brooklyn, N.Y., to Cornelius K. McGeehan, New York, at the Church of Our Lady of Victory, the Rev. Father J. Jerome Reddy being the officiating priest. The bride was charmingly gowned in a suit of brown silk chiffon, with a brown beaver hat, and carried American beauty roses, and wore the groom's gift, a diamond pin set in platinum. The bride is a graduate of St. Catherine's Hospital, Brooklyn, and the groom is a rising young lawyer. After the honeymoon, which will be spent in Atlantic City, Mr. and Mrs. McGeehan will reside at the Commodore hotel, and will come up to Kingston later to visit the bride's parents.

Big Demand. Since our recent advt. in this paper, we have sold over one dozen Banner Pipeless furnaces. New homes, old homes, homes that never could have had a furnace of the old fashioned kind without complete remodeling, homes without big cellars, homes or stores of any size or plan can now have all the comfort that comes from a fine heating system. Estimates cheerfully given on these at Simmons Bros. Yellow Hardware, Princess street.

On Tuesday evening uniform will be worn and drill carried out; Thursday will be spent in playing indoor baseball and other games.

More Prizes For K.C.I.

Members of the K.C.I. rifle team that successfully defended the King's challenge cup before all comers in Toronto this month, were also the winners of other coveted trophies in the Dominion rifle matches. Cadet Emery won a silver cup and spoon; Cadets H. Duff, Paul Cunningham and C. Yokes won silver spoons of the second class. Altogether the Kingston lads did splendidly and Lieut.-Col. G. H. Gillespie and the instructor and staff of K.C.I. have cause to be proud of their performance. The boys shot in four matches at ranges of 200 and 500 yards.

Complends the Hospital.

Rev. A. E. Smart, Tweed, writing in the Tweed News on the high-standing of the Kingston General Hospital says: "For a number of years I have had close personal knowledge of this institution, and have always found them efficient, reasonable in their charges, and most kind and courteous in their treatment of patients and their friends. I commend the institution, without any reservation, to those who require hospital treatment."

OBITUARY

The Late Miss J. E. Fox. On Friday morning, Miss Jennie E. Fox, daughter of the late Rev. Thos. and Mrs. Fox, died after a short illness at the home of her sister, Mrs. Elmer Davis, Sydenham street. Miss Fox had resided for several years in Toronto and came to Kingston only a month ago. She was then in poor health, but did not realize the end was so very near. Miss Fox was a member of the Methodist Church and greatly interested in the various activities of church life and especially of the Woman's Missionary Society, of which she was a life member. A woman of sweet and gentle disposition, she was most patient in her affliction, and met each day of suffering and weakness with cheerful courage and unshaken faith in her Redeemer. Three sisters, Mrs. Jacobs, Lincoln, Nebraska; Mrs. Davis, this city; and Miss Fox, Toronto, together with two brothers, Dr. W. H. Fox, Chicago, and Rev. J. W. Fox, Aurora, Ont., mourn the parting with a beloved sister. Burial will take place in Mount Pleasant cemetery, Toronto.
