SYDENHAM CHURCH EVENT

W. F. Nickle and Queen's Orchestra Took Part—Fire in School.

Sydenham, Oct. 30.—Wesley hall was packed to the doors on Friday evening when the annual tea meeting and chicken pie supper was held under the auspices of Grace Methodist church. The supper was scheduled to start at six o'clock, but so many came before this time that the first tables were served slightly earlier. By half-past six, the hall was beginning to get more than comfortably filled, and there was no delay in getting the people to the tables, usually two being ready to occupy one chair. Later on, the passages between the tables became so blocked that it was with difficulty the waiters were able to move about. However, the executive were well pleased that such a large crowd attended, as the success of the gathering was thus ensured. All near-by points were well represented in the audience, and a number of students from Queen's were present, enlivening things by a few college yells, to which the high school boys heartily responded. Thanks to the decorating committee, the hall presented a very attractive appearance, evergreen boughs, Jack O'Lanterns, and lighted pumpkin faces being conspicuously displayed.

Shortly after eight thirty, the pastor, Rev. George Stafford, introduced the chairman of the evening, W. F. Nickle, K. C., ex-member of Parliament for Kingston. The first number on the programme was announced as a vocal solo by Mr. Fowler, a Queen's student. After this, Mr. Nickle gave an address, reviewing conditions as left by the war, particularly the financial position of Canada, in relation to the national debt. He stated that he had no patience with those going about the country saying that Canada's debt was so small as to be disregarded. The national debt was large, being about two billion dollars, and only the thrift and economy of the Canadian people would save this country from going deeper, and would help to pay off a part of it.

The programme continued with orchestral selections, cornet, trombone, and piano solos. The orchestra, composed of students from Queen's, rendered numbers which were much enjoyed by the audience. The cornet and trombone solos by Mr. Ross and Mr. Mahaffy, respectively, contributed much of the pleasure of the evening to the listeners. Mr. Davidge demonstrated by his selections that he was well acquainted with the piano.

Next, the chairman introduced Rev. A. W. Stewart, Harrowarth, who spoke for a short time. Rev. W. S. Lennon, chairman of the Kingston district, was announced as the "heavy speaker" of the evening so, to live up to his reputation, he preached a sermon, but not the regular modern kind. This sermon was a negro one, preached during the early part of the last century, and was given as an example of the brilliant oratory of the time. When he proceeded to his own speech, a discourse on philosophy, he said that everyone had some philosophy, which was only one's views of life, and it could be learned outside of a college. Appealing to the young men, he asked them to take a serious view of life, and not to fling it away altogether in pleasure. He disputed the statement "All's well that ends well," stating that although we thought we had done well in making the German sign the armistice and peace treaty, yet the danger was not over, and would become greater if Germany should recover too soon.

The local Anglican minister, Rev. R. G. Kirkpatrick, was present and was called upon to speak for a few minutes. As the last speaker of the evening, Rev. G. Stafford appeared. He confined his remarks to thanking all those who had taken part in the programme, and also those who had contributed by their efforts to make the affair a success. After "God Save the King" had been sung, the gathering dispersed. It is likely that the receipts will total over $200, so there is nothing to fear financially.

A slight sensation was caused on Friday morning at the public school, by a blaze breaking out through a register in the second room in charge of Mrs. Young. Water was quickly poured on it, and the flame was soon extinguished. The alarm was given, however, and a few of the citizens rushed up to the school prepared to fight the fire if it should prove serious. The high school students just across the street were notified and they also went hurriedly over to see what the commotion was about. No serious damage was done, and inside of half an hour classes were once more being held. A fairly hot fire had been put on in the furnace as the morning was cold, and it is thought that some paper was in the register, and it was this that caught fire. A couple of sets of lantern slides furnished by the Commission of Conservation at Ottawa, have been shown at the high school lately. The pictures dealt with Canada's resources and possibilities, such subjects as agriculture, fisheries, and reforestation being introduced. They were much appreciated by the pupils, as it is such instruction as this that will give an intelligent outlook to the future citizens.

Hallowe'en was not allowed to pass by without the youngsters and older ones too, taking advantage of the opportunity to do considerable mischief. While no real damage was done, there was a lively time for a short period on Saturday night.

SMILES

EVEN IN ANCIENT ROME
"I suppose you are delighted with your husband's elevation to the Senate."

"Not so very. It's a bother. It takes me nearly all night to find the pockets in his senatorial toga."

FELT AS HE WAS
She: When you attained that remarkable altitude, how did you feel?
Aviator: Out of sight!

THINGS DON'T GO ROUND NOW
She: I suppose you enjoy the social whirl as much as ever?
He: I don't see any whirl about it since prohibition went into effect.

WAR AND POLITICS
"Do you know that the pen is mightier than the sword?"
"I know that the gum shoe is mightier than the steam roller."

REBUKING FATHER
Dad: Come on, kid, let's go for a little spin in the machine.
Robert: I wish you wouldn't refer to our car as "the machine". Even now people who hear it running on the street think it's a law mower.

JUST THE THING
Bug: Hey, get one of these match stick cues and play a game of billiards.

PREPAREDNESS
I'm told that Timid is dreadfully afraid of fire.
I should say he is. Would you believe it, he sleeps in asbestos pajamas every night.

WHY THEY MISSED IT
Rusty Ribs: They do say that opportunity knocks at every man's door once in his life.
Box Car Bill: Well, these old trains make so darned much noise that you couldn't even hear it if it did.

The secret of life is fellowship—common work inspired by a common faith and hope. Without fellowship, this world is hell. With fellowship it is nothing less than heaven. Some people's idea of taking life easy seems to be making it hard for the rest of us.

See These Results Learn what clean teeth mean

See the results of the new way of teeth cleaning. They are quick and decisive. You will know at once that they mean a lifetime of cleaner, safer teeth.

Millions of people employ it. And the gleaming teeth seen everywhere show what it means. See what it means to you.

A film combatant

Most tooth troubles are now traced to film—to that viscous coat you feel. Film clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

The ordinary tooth paste does not end film. So the film remains—much of it—and may do a ceaseless damage. Nearly all people suffer from it, more or less.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. So, despite the tooth brush, all these troubles have been constantly increasing.

New methods now

Dental science, after years of searching, has found new ways to fight film. All have been proved by many clinical tests. They are so efficient that leading dentists everywhere advise them.

These methods are combined now in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. It has brought a new era in teeth cleaning. This is the tooth paste we urge you to try.

Watch the new effects

The use of Pepsodent at once reveals many new effects.

One ingredient is pepsin. One multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. One multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralise mouth acids.

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps the teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily cling.

Pepsodent is the new-day tooth paste, complying with all modern requirements. It does what never before was done. You should learn its benefits at once.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. Watch the teeth whiten as the film-coat disappears.

Every one in your family needs Pepsodent daily, and a week will prove this to you. Cut out the coupon now.
