"Mutt and Jeff" Coming
Those two ubiquitous purveyors of fun, mirth, melody and song, Mutt and Jeff, are soon to be in our midst again. Manager Gus Hill, their sponsor, announces that these wonderful and ever-popular comedies will appear in a highly-seasoned, lively and screamingly funny musical comedy in three acts, and bearing the title of "Mutt and Jeff at the Races." In this piece, which can boast of melodies and a score above the average, the pair will have every opportunity of figuring in escapades and situations sure to keep the tide of fun, hilarity and mirth going at a steady and ceaseless ebb. Naturally, Mutt and Jeff quarrel. What would their existence be without some mutual feud? But as their quarrels are between themselves and as good Samaritans are not expected to interfere we feel sure, and can almost say with certainty, that everything is eventually righted and that the olive branch of friendship is extended at the finish. This latest sensation of real wit, joy and happiness is underlined to play an engagement at the Grand Opera House commencing Friday, Nov. 5th, with special bargain matinee on Saturday.—Adv.

"The Law Divine"
In pursuance of the avowed policy of Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., to present throughout the Dominion British theatrical attractions of the highest available type, H. V. Esmond and Miss Eva Moore will appear at the Grand Opera House, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 9th and 10th, with a special matinee on Wednesday. In one of the most brilliant of comedies resulting from the great war. This play, which is entitled "The Law Divine," is one of the most successful products of Mr. Esmond's pen. It deals in a congenial manner with a problem that has been faced and solved innumerable times since the signing of the armistice, namely, the drifting away of a wife from her home and family towards specific war interests and under the influence of temporary war allurements, and the consequent disillusionment of a husband also engaged in war work to the detriment of domestic interests. Miss Eva Moore occupies a position second to none upon the English-speaking stage to-day as a comedienne of the most brilliant attainments. Mr. Esmond is as widely known in his capacity as a dramatist, as he is on the speaking stage as a comedian of distinction.—Adv.

At The Strand.
Mitchell Lewis, appearing in the title role of "Burning Daylight," the stirring Metro special now being presented at the Strand theatre, has one hobby—work. The actor is never happier than when he is engaged in his profession and he took special delight in characterizing the part he now portrays, that of an Alaskan "sourdough," who forces his way to the front through sheer personality and physical prowess. Lewis is well fitted to enact the London type of manhood, and, as the big, whole-hearted Alaskan prospector, he has unusual opportunity to win laurels for himself. "Give me work, and plenty of it," that's my hobby," says Mr. Lewis. He certainly has stuck to his hobby all through life. He put himself through college by his own efforts, while he also found time to play half-back on the college football team. Lewis' football days were the beginning of his career as a strong man and later in life, when he joined Uncle Sam's navy he further developed his remarkable physique.—Adv.

At Griffin's.
To-night will be the last opportunity to see the excellent programme which has been pleasing patrons of Griffin's during the past few days, and is headed by Madge Kennedy in "The Blooming Angel." The story is all about a young wife who was full of originality, and when she found her out of luck husband wasn't earning enough dough, she tinkered with a new face cream until she manufactured the most wonderful complexion on the market, and she proved it on herself. Business became brisk for Danlet Cupid and he almost ran short of darts. The marrying parsons kept the printing presses going night and day turning out licenses. This typical Madge Kennedy story gives this talented comedienne a wonderful opportunity to display her rare talents, and proves a delightful treat for her admirers. Be sure and see this picture to-night and also the balance of our programme, which includes the thirteenth episode of "Bound and Gagged," and a splendid Christie comedy "He Married His Wife."—Adv.

Rural Dean W. Hilyard-Smith New Rector of Portsmouth

Bishop Bidwell has appointed Rev. Rural Dean Walter Hilyard-Smith, L. Th., rector of Leeds Rear, to be rector of St. John's Church, Portsmouth. He will take over his duties on November 21st. Mr. Smith served very acceptably in the mission field at Sharbot Lake in 1904. In 1909 he did temporary duty at St. John's church, Portsmouth. He was appointed by the late Bishop Mills to his present charge in 1910, and was appointed rural dean of Leeds on May 14th, 1918, and ordained deacon in St. George's cathedral by Bishop Mills on May 29th, 1904. He is a young progressive clergyman who keeps his parish well up to date in all kinds of church activity, and his appointment to Portsmouth will give strength to the Anglican church in Kingston. He was the first and unanimous choice of the congregation at Portsmouth.

STUDENTS AND NURSES WERE ENTERTAINED

In Sydenham Street Methodist Hall on Tuesday Evening.

The hospitable doors of Sydenham Methodist church hall were thrown open on Tuesday evening to the students of Queen's university, the nurses from Kingston General hospital and the young people who attend the church, and in spite of rain and wind, fully five hundred young men and maidens took advantage of the invitation and thronged the stairway to be met by Rev. W. T. G. Brown and Mrs. Brown, with a kindly greeting. Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Chown and Miss Jennie Roger, the president of the Epworth League, were also in the receiving line, and were most efficient in assisting Mr. and Mrs. Brown during the evening. The hall was tastefully decorated with evergreens, the work of the decoration committee, Miss Pearl Blyth, Miss G. Bell and Harry McQueen. A varied programme of programade, conundrum song by Miss Ruby Driver, violin solo by Arthur Locke, a good recitation by Miss Violet Posselwhite, and several selections by the Sunday school orchestra, a very excellent one indeed, was arranged by the programme committee, Miss May Posselwhite and J. Alexander. Rev. W. T. G. Brown was chairman and his kindly, genial humor added greatly to the evening's enjoyment. In the rooms downstairs the long tables with decorations of scarlet barberries and white and yellow chrysanthemums, were laden with delicious sandwiches and cakes, and coffee that was hot and not too strong was served to the guests. The refreshment committee, who are to be congratulated, were Mrs. J. G. Ettinger, Mrs. G. S. Lyon, Mrs. Cannon, Miss Wilton, Miss Dewitta, Miss Helen Chown, Miss G. Ettinger, Mrs. F. Penn, Miss Hoag, Miss Conroy, Miss Lyon, Miss K. Woods, Miss F. Purdy, Miss Olive Chown, Van Mills and Arthur Pense. The whole affair was most enjoyable and was much appreciated by the guests.

THE SOCCER LEAGUE'S SUCCESSFUL SEASON

It is Hoped to Have Six Teams Playing Next Year.

There was a meeting of the Kingston and District Football League on Tuesday and the season's business was wound up. The president, Sergt. Major Gray, R.C.A., reported a most successful season in soccer and it was a matter for congratulation that the financial situation was most satisfactory. After paying all debts, there remained a balance of $35. The R.C.A. team, champions of the league, received hearty congratulations upon its success and the manner in which all of the games were played. The two silver cups will repose in the mess room at the Tete de Pont barracks until they are claimed by a better team, and each member of the team will wear a small medal as a souvenir of 1920.

The next regular meeting will be called in March for the purpose of organization, and from present indications there is every likelihood that six teams will be in next year's schedule. It is the purpose of the executive to encourage juniors to take up soccer, and for this purpose two or more junior teams will be formed and their interest aroused in soccer because it is believed to offer great opportunities for physical development without the risks of accident that are present in rugby. For the outstanding success this year great credit is due to the management of the C.L.C., Shipbuilders, R.C.A. and machine gunners, the executive and the teams. All showed great enthusiasm, and the real sporting spirit characterized them at all times.

Many Read Whig Bulletins On the U.S. Elections

Much interest was shown by Kingstonians in the results of the elections in the United States yesterday. From seven o'clock until 11:30 o'clock a steady crowd passed by the Whig, and paused to read the latest bulletins. Just as an example of how busy the newspaperers are at such a time, one phone in the Whig office was called upon to answer thirty-three election enquiries in the one hour between nine and ten.
