Theatrical

At the Grand.
To-night will be the last showing of the splendid feature picture programme which is now running at the Grand. "The Imp" the latest Selznick picture in which Elaine Janis starred, tells the story of the unusual method adopted by a young doctor to cure a young society girl who is suffering from a mania for crime. The usual elaborate settings and wonderful photography so characteristic of all Selznick pictures, make this picture a triumph of motion picture art. There is another fine feature "The Golden Shower" starring the well known actress, Gladys Leslie. This is the story of a girl who is led into a most distressing experience through her ability to dance. There is a splendid love story running through this picture and the supporting cast is excellent. There are reels of comedies and other subjects, and a special musical programme by the Grand's orchestra. This bill will be seen for the last time to-night.—Advt.

"Mutt and Jeff" Coming.
Mutt for President, and Jeff for Vice-President. That is the popular ticket for solid fun that will get every vote in America. Preparations for a reception of the candidates are now under way and the place and the date for the big occasion is the Grand Opera House, Friday and Saturday, November 5th and 6th, with a special bargain matinee on Saturday. This season "Bud" Fisher's famous heroes will appear in an entirely new play with special music, entitled, "Mutt and Jeff at the Races." Manager Gus Hill, as usual, is sponsor for the funny pair who will hold high carnival and cut-comical capers in a series of rib-tickling situations for the benefit of their millions of devoted admirers. Pretty girls galore, infectious music, catchy melodies, smart ensembles and a number of surprising features will attend their welcome and exhilarating presence. From all accounts this season's offering is said to be the best in which they have appeared since they entered the field as inimitable stage favorites.—Advt.

"The Law Divine."
That the psychological moment has arrived for the cleansing of the English-speaking stage from suggestive plays and their replacement by clean, healthy drama is the firm conviction of H. V. Esmond, the famous English dramatist and playwright, who will be seen here in one of his own plays, "The Law Divine," with his distinguished wife, Miss Eva Moore, at the Grand Opera House, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 3rd and 4th, with a special matinee, Wednesday. "There can be no doubt," said Mr. Esmond, "that the time is ripe for the presentation on the English-speaking stage, not only in Great Britain, but also in Canada and wherever the English language is spoken, of drama that breathes a wholesome atmosphere, inculcates a kindly spirit, and leaves behind none but the most pleasant memories. The public in London are sick of anything that suggests sex-drama. They have had enough and do spare of it. They do not want it, and I do not think they will ever give it any extensive encouragement again. The world is tired of cruelty, of blood, of sadness, of brutality. The war has sickened us, and only whole cities but whole nations, of all that is bestial, unclean, unkind, uncouth, ugly, and repulsive. They want to be carried back, if only for a night, into a world of brightness, of gaiety, of humor, of light, of wholesome human living, kindly thought, love and loveliness. They are eager for this. Any other sort of drama, save it has a very insistent and immediate purpose, is doomed in my opinion to failure.—Advt.

At The Strand.
Ever since "And Husbands" was produced the public has been awaiting the second production by Erich von Stroheim, the genius who directed the story of the Alps. "The Devil's Pass Key" is now announced as the second of von Stroheim's Universal-Jewel productions. It will be the attraction at the Strand Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Again von Stroheim goes to Europe for his locale. This time he has taken Paris after the war and painted a series of convincing pictures, which charm and thrill the beholder. The basis of the story is from the novel "Clothes and Treachery," by Baroness DeMeyer. The leading characters are Americans living in France, and von Stroheim has placed them in the hands of trustworthy players. The Parisian types are well portrayed. Sam de Grasse as the American playwright, Una Trevelyn as his extravagant wife, Clyde Filmore as the American philanthropist in Paris, Maude George as the Parisian modiste, Ruth King as the indiscreet countess, Mae Busch as the Spanish dancer, and a host of other clever people appear in the cast.—Advt.

At Griffin's.
"Shore Acres," the Screen Classics Inc., production of James A. Herne's celebrated drama of New England folk, in which Alice Lake is the star will be the chief attraction at Griffin's for to-day, Friday and Saturday. The screen production of the famous Herne comedy drama, in which the well known author, star and producer toured from coast to coast is a faithful exposition of the immortal stage play and constitutes in its tremendous dramatic power and delicious rural characterization a notable achievement on the silver-sheet. The scenic effects have all been attained in the most realistic manner, and the production sets a new record for sensational climax when the "Liddy Ann" goes on the rocks in the storm, after the light in the lighthouse has failed because the old farmer has wished his eloping daughter to meet death in the wreck of the vessel. "Shore Acres" cannot fail to please all who see it, and no theatre-goer should miss this opportunity to see this wholesome drama. The opening episode of our new serial "Pirate Gold," a rollicking romance of adventure on land and sea with Geo. B. Seitz and Marguerite Courtot, contributes another interesting item on our programme, and Chas. Chaplin in "The Vagabond" provides the comedy end of our bill. Be sure and see this programme.—Advt.

ST. MARK'S BAZAAR

Held on Wednesday Realized the Sum of $375.
St. Mark's Church, Barriefield, which is famous for its bazaars, held the banner one of all in Barriefield township hall on Wednesday afternoon and evening, realizing the sum of $375. Mrs. W. Brooks, the president of the Woman's Guild, and Mrs. Cooke received the crowds of visitors who thronged the hall, which was gaily decorated with flags and bunting.

The tea table was in charge of Mrs. John Baxter, with Mrs. Curzon-Smith, Mrs. Vokes, Mrs. H. J. Dawson and Mrs. James Baxter pouring the tea, assisted by Mrs. Sibbitt, Misses Etta Dowler, G. Dawson, Isabel and Ruth Gillespie, Alleen Stanton and E. Pense. Mrs. W. Knight did a thriving trade in ice-cream both afternoon and evening. The fish pond was in charge of Miss Agnes Stanton and Miss Knapp. The home made table, which fairly groaned with the good things for which the women of Pittsburg are famous, had Mrs. J. H. Wilmot, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. J. Milton, Mrs. Crossfield, Mrs. Grey, Mrs. Vanhorn, as sales women, while the splendid vegetables, pickles and jam were sold by Mrs. James Milton and Miss Medley. The really beautiful fancy work was in charge of Mrs. Davis, Misses Quinn, Milton and Hughes. Mrs. Ruttau was convener of the candy table, with Mrs. Hunt and the Misses Paul and Chambers as her assistants, while Mrs. Merchant helped the young girls with their variety table, with Misses Barbara Merchant and Frances Knapp as sales women. Gifts of half a ton of coal from Sowards and Co., a wicker stool from Anglin Brothers, and aluminum ware from Simmons brothers, as well as a handsome carved box from Sergt. Middleton, R.M.C., were much appreciated.

Showing Fine Views.
There was a very good audience at Gospel Hall, Wednesday night to see the lantern views on "Life in the West Indies," exhibited by Harold Jones, Orillia. The pictures were unusually clear and bright. Mr. Jones gave a very interesting talk on the simple life with the colored people in those islands, and their readiness to receive the Gospel message. This was followed by a set of slides on the Prodigal Son, and a few illustrated hymns. Mr. Jones is a very pleasant speaker and the audience seemed well pleased with the evening. To-night at eight o'clock, he will show the views on the Pilgrim's Progress, and a few other slides.

More November Raspberries.
James Henderson, one of the most prominent stock breeders and dairymen of Kingston township, brought to the Whig office a quantity of wild raspberries picked on his farm on Wednesday morning. The berries were on a branch just as they grew; many were ripe and some less matured. Mr. Henderson said it was a phenomenal thing to find raspberries growing in this manner right into the winter. These canes had never ceased bearing.
