It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief. Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable.

PLANS DASH TO SUPPLY STATE

Smugglers Defy Agents And Say Autos Will Invade Canada.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Nov. 8.—While the federal agents are priding themselves on having stopped the flow of liquor into this country from Canada, bootleggers and smugglers here, who almost openly admit their trade, told some of the details of a gigantic smuggling plot which, if successful, will bring enough liquor into this country to stock the state of New York for a year.

One of the men who hinted at the plan told of the "king of bootleggers" who wields influence from the border south to Washington. This man, he said, is known as "Mape" and is the brains behind the plot which will inflame the northern border.

For weeks, the information has it, rum-runners have been storing mammoth stores of booze across the boundary line for miles and miles in each direction.

These stores are almost sufficient to supply the whole of the state of New York and adjoining nearby territory with intoxicants for a period encompassing the winter months. The last of these movements has not yet been completed.

On a certain day, known only to "Mape," according to the information, the rum runners, backed by every facility as to automobiles, signals and money, will make their dash across the boundary below Ogdensburg in the vicinity of Hogansburg, in the hope of transporting the largest portion of their cargo through to the large cities of the state and here distribute it.

It is admitted that if such an attempt is carried out, lives may be lost. The fact which impels the booze runners is that winter is in the offing and that rum running conditions within a very short time will preclude the bringing over of any great quantity of booze without detection.

MISS AGNES MAULE MACHAR.

Tells How She Came to Write a Recent Book. Toronto Mail and Empire. Miss Agnes Maule Machar, Kingston, author of "Young Soldier Hearts of France," writes from her cottage on the St. Lawrence: "Your kind letter was forwarded from Kingston to my beloved summer home, where I am still enjoying what seems like an afterthought summer, though some autumn glories are charmingly interspersed. I wish you could see the lovely views here just now of deep blue river and wooded islands beginning to wear autumn livery—a few weeks snatched from the grip of coming winter.

"I want to thank you for your appreciative and sympathetic notice of "Wreath of Immortelles" I sought to weave in honor of my brave young French heroes. It was almost by accident I learned to know them—some quotations from Alfred Casalis having caught my eye in an article by M. des Barres, which is referred to in the supplementary portion. These at once led me to wish that war letters breathing such a spirit ought to be opened for the reading of our Canadian youth; and I sent for the French publication, and never ceased to enjoy the preparation of the little volume.

"You will be pleased to know that the bereaved fathers of both young soldiers have expressed to me their entire satisfaction with my idea and its execution, and that Pastor Augier in particular, says that it is an 'immense consolation' to him in what he had felt the mysterious removal of his beloved son from a world so much in need of such a hero, that by his published services he may still be doing good letters to the 'jeunesse Canadienne.' Both parties are pleased at the presentation of the two sets of letters together, though the writers—as it happened—had 'never met here below,' a fact unknown to me previously."

In reply to a question as to whether she had any particular matter at heart which she would like to speak to the public about, through this page, Miss Machar says: "As to your last query, Yes! I have a very special 'pet scheme' which for some years I have been pressing on public notice as an opportunity offered, which I contend is a truly patriotic one—that our educational system should practically acknowledge that its chief aim should be, as M. Arnold says, 'the cultivation of the moral sense and the clarifying of moral aims.' Ferncliffe, Gananoque, Oct. 24th.

REVOLTS IN MOSCOW.

Bolshevik Executive 100 to 300 Persons Every Night. Copenhagen, Nov. 8.—A dispatch from Helsingfors to the Berlingske Tidende quotes a detailed report on rebellions in Moscow. It states that the most trustworthy troops were sent against Wrangel, giving better chances for the rebels. Troops that were sent against the mutinous soldiers in a suburb of Moscow joined the rebels.

Owing to overcrowding of the prisons cloisters are now used as prisons. The Bolsheviks execute 100 to 300 persons every night. The government has not yet caught the ring-leaders of the anti-Bolshevik who daily issue proclamations urging the people to crush Bolshevik rule once for all.
