

BIBLE THE ONLY PANACEA EDUCATIONAL DISCOURSES

For the Unrest That Exists in the World at the Present Time

Given in Sydenham and Queen Street Methodist Churches on Sunday.

Mr. Donovan, K.C., Toronto, gave an address in St. Luke's church on Sunday night, in the interests of the Upper Canada Bible Society. He was listened to by a very large congregation. The pastor, J. de Fencier, officiated at both services, and in the afternoon conducting a baptism service.

In Sydenham Street Methodist Church on Sunday morning, Dr. G. J. Trueman, M.A., Ph.D., assistant secretary of the Educational Society of the Methodist Church, spoke in the interests of the educational work. Dr. Trueman has spent thirty years in teaching in the Methodist schools and colleges.

Mr. Donovan is vice-president of the Upper Canada Bible Society, and he delivered an illuminating address on the influence of the Bible on the English nation. He traced the history of England down from the year 1552. He referred to the early settlers coming out to Canada from England. They came out with liberty in their hearts, and the Bible in their hands.

In opening his address, he stated that all the influence was not obtained in the schools, as the same training is the most essential. If the home is not right, it is producing a poor manhood. During the years that he has been associated in the teaching profession, he has always tried to make the scholars live up to their mother's prayers, and he was pleased to say great results had been attained therefrom. In the making of character, the speaker said that a great part of character is formed during the hours that the boys have leisure hours, and are mixed up with other boys in play. Many may say that the present boys are going wrong, but Dr. Trueman says this may be the case with some but it must not be forgotten the boy is not responsible for the environment which he finds upon entering the world. In other words, it is up to us to see that the environment which the boys have to face nowadays is cleaned up.

The speaker lost a son in the war, and he made feeling reference to all the men who laid down their lives in the great struggle. These men, he pointed out, had made sacrifices and it was for the people left to make sacrifices in the work of spreading the gospel.

In dealing with the subject of schools, the speaker said that the church educational committee had a big programme. It is not only its duty to train the boys to be preachers and teachers, but in many cases they are doing more or less missionary work. He cited cases of men who at the age of twelve or fourteen had given up school and had gone to work, and when at the age of twenty-four or five they realized there was something better in store for them, and had returned to the schools, conducted by the church educational society, with the result that they had made good. Two of the young men are today principals of Methodist schools, while two others are professors in the college.

Chinese Student at St. George's. At the morning service in St. George's Cathedral on Sunday, L. T. Twang, Chinese student, who is taking a theological course at Wickcliffe college, Toronto, preparatory to entering the Christian ministry, spoke in behalf of the Bible Society. Mr. Hwang, whose English is excellent, though he has been but a year in Canada, gave an exceedingly clear and comprehensive address. He said he was born at the transition period in China, and had the advantage of the older classical education and also of the newer and more progressive one, being sent to the model schools when sixteen years of age. The education he received was excellent, but "wisdomizing is not Christianity," though his education in the more modern English literature was for him the road to Christianity. Milton and Shakespeare were, he said, well-known in China for years, but the modern school introduced Tennyson, Browning and Bunkin and from these interpreters of the scriptures he had first grasped the idea of Christianity. The brotherhood of man was taught by Confucius and the other eastern religious teachers, but Christ alone taught that the only enduring love of man was the divine love that had its source in the Man, Christ Jesus. China was learning the western civilization, but as a boy beginning to learn the world learns both bad and good, so this country with a history reaching back over 46,000 years, and how looking to the west for the modern thought will learn what is taught; it is for the west to see that the lessons are for the best interest of China and the civilization of the east.

At Queen Street Church. Rev. Daniel Mick, S. T. L., Ganoque, was the special preacher at the Educational Anniversary service in Queen Street Methodist church on Sunday morning, and special music appropriate to the occasion was beautifully rendered by the choir under the direction of Miss Nesbit. Rev. W. S. Lennon conducted the service and made an appeal on behalf of the British Empire War Relief Fund, also for congregational support of the church's educational fund. Last year the amount contributed was $70 and this year $100 is asked for.

At the First Baptist Church. Rev. W. E. Hassard, B.A., B.D., one of the district secretaries, spoke in the First Baptist church. The purpose of these services is to link up the various churches with the Bible Society along the line of missionary endeavor. Every church is dependent for its supply of scriptures on the Bible Society and this supply is given either free or on "missionary terms." Special emphasis was laid on the need of adequate support to the increased demand throughout the world. Last year the British and Foreign Bible Society distributed over eighteen and a half million copies, over three million of which were sold in China. During the past year nine new languages were added to the list, making 627 in all. A new language every six weeks is a record to be proud of. With the opening of fields that have been closed during the war, such as Russia and Siberia, with the entire disruption of business in the Balkans, with the depletion of stocks in many depositaries, and the very great increase of cost in production, it is very essential that all the friends of the Bible Society in Kingston be very liberal in their gifts to this work.

Rev. Mr. Mick spoke from Acts 7:22: "And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians and was mighty in words and in deeds." The words were uttered by St. Stephen the Martyr in his defence before the high priests. The preacher went on to show that God chose men for his great work and directed their education for his service. Joseph had been chosen by God to train his people in Egypt, and it was Moses to whom the greater task was given. God had made a great mistake in the men he chose: Abraham, Joseph, Moses and later, David, who revealed great intellectual power and moral consciousness. St. Paul was another example, being the outstanding apostle who carried the gospel to the Gentiles. Others were Martin Luther, whose interpretation of the truth as justification by faith brought about the great Reformation, and John Wesley, who looked deeper. John Knox gave to Scotland the public school and his influence was felt for many generations among his people. But there were men in Canada, too, whose lives marked the progress of the country in religious and educational matters. The result of their work was manifested when the war came in 1914, when the point of contact was shown in a singular manner. Education is really a process of mind expansion and he could not see any reason for the separation of capital and labor whose interests were common interests demanding the closest co-operation.

SEVEN DRUNKS WERE THERE Looked Like Scene in the Olden Days in Court. It looked like the olden days to see a line-up of seven drunks before Magistrate Farrell, in the police court, on Monday morning, they having taken a "punch" at the Ontario Temperance Act over the week-end.

One of the tipplers tried to put something new over the court by stating that he found a bottle of whiskey, but the magistrate regarded it as a fairy story. The accused was fined $200 and costs, or three months for having liquor in his possession, and was also fined $10 and costs for being intoxicated. Two of the offenders were fined $10 and costs each and four were remanded.

Victorian Order of Nurses. At the monthly meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses, the nurse reported $30 visits having been made during October and 151 child welfare visits. Denominations: Protestants 24, Roman Catholic 3. Donations, $20.00 from a friend, for child welfare. Mrs. F. Robinson, nurse in charge of the child welfare station, gave an interesting report of the child welfare conference held in Ottawa.

Andrew Mooney, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia branch at Port Arthur, was fined $5,530 for having in his possession, without government coupons, 381 beaver pelts and 262 muskrat skins.

The speaker had heard a Christian Jap give testimony upon what had been accomplished by Christianity in Japan and it was an additional cause for thankfulness to those who carried the gospel to that country. The Princess Street church was supplied by Prof. Gifford and Rev. D. Mick, morning and evening respectively, while Rev. E. R. Kelly, Cataraugus, had charge of the services at Portmouth Methodist church for the day.

Fire in Ice House. At 11:38 p.m. Saturday the firemen were called to an ice house on King street west. A citizen passing noticed smoke coming from under the roof, and sent in the alarm. However, there was no damage done. It appears that on Sunday afternoon the grass near the ice house caught fire, probably from a lighted cigarette, and it is believed that this blaze made its way into the ice house and set fire to the straw.

Ganoque is quite well represented in the hunting grounds in the Northern wilds along the K. & P. railway near Kaladar and Lavant and Wakefield, after big game, reported as plentiful this season. Among them are: H. R. DeWitt, W. J. Kelly, Thomas Gomonstock, Robert Haig, James Donevan, W. A. Williamson, Thomas Nuttall, W. J. Reid, Mark McFarlane, George H. Kane, William Cowan, Albert Harris and Bert Davis.

Mr. Mick paid a high tribute to Lloyd George, who possessed a fine mind and a heart tuned by God and a soul in touch with the infinite. He stayed in power when all others fell, and retained the confidence of his people.

The little school house and the old church of the Canadian village had contributed a great influence little dreamed of by those who built and supported them, often at much sacrifice to themselves, for many great men were trained in them and fitted for high positions in the spiritual, social and industrial life of the country. When the world begins to calculate what it owes for such men it cannot calculate what the results will be.
