

"I'VE GOT AUTOMOBILE SKATES"

If you ask your friends or anybody else, what kind of Skates they have, you will invariably receive this answer. Most people own Automobiles.

Automobile Model "C."

A Few Reasons Why Automobiles Are Better:

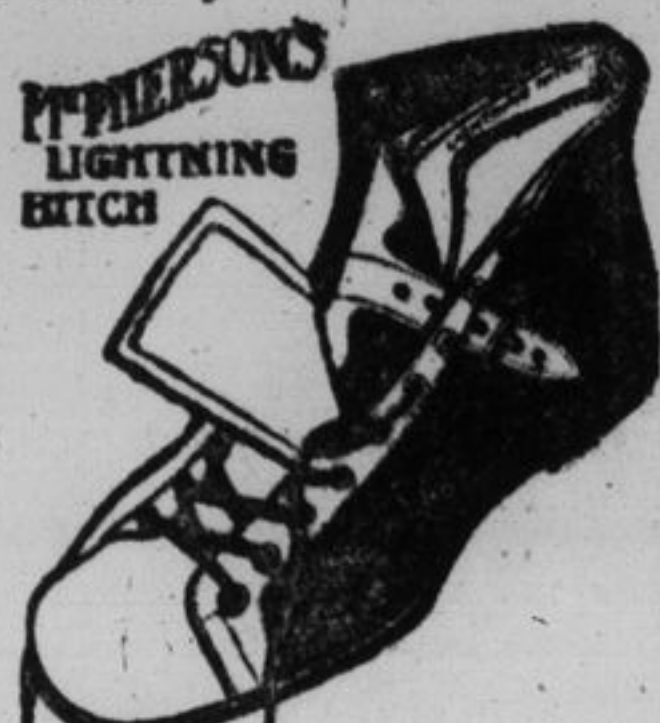

- (1) They are made from the Special Chrome Nickel Steel used in parts of high grade Automobiles, where strength and lightness must be combined.
- (2) The Blades are tempered hard as glass and take a very keen edge, but are not brittle, which renders the blade practically unbreakable.
- (3) The Aluminum Tops are also made from the same grade of aluminum alloy as used in the crank cases of the better motor cars.
- (4) And you get a positive guarantee with every pair.

McGill Coming Here in Force

Montreal Gazette. Arrangements are completed by the executive of the McGill Rugby Club, to run a special train to Kingston and return on Saturday for the play off between McGill and University of Toronto, for the senior Intercollegiate Rugby championship. The special will be over the Grand Trunk, leaving Bonaventure station 8.30 and arriving in Kingston at 12 o'clock in time to enable the passengers to reach the grounds in plenty of time for the game. The special will leave Kingston shortly after the conclusion of the play so as to arrive back in Montreal at an early hour. The special rate of $12.05 has been secured for the trip. Shaughnessy will hold a scrimmage practice each afternoon until Friday, when the team will likely leave for Kingston. Anderson, who had his knee injured, in the game against Toronto, will likely be in uniform for this afternoon, which will enable Shaughnessy to play the full senior team against the intermediates and substitutes.

Toronto Mail and Empire. It is not generally known that the entire proceeds of the game over and above the expenses, will be given to Queen's University, to aid in defraying the cost of the new stadium there. This action was taken at the suggestion of Varsity representatives and is to be highly commended. Queen's deserves recognition from McGill and Varsity. Queen's makes the Union, and in spite of reverses in almost every line of endeavor and in spite of large financial deficits which accrue from almost every line of sport in which it takes part, Queen's has kept on shouldering the burden without a murmur. In turning over to Queen's all profits which result from the play-off, both Varsity and McGill are taking the most sensible and most sportsmanlike method of showing their appreciation of the efforts of Queen's in the maintenance of intercollegiate athletics and it is to be

OTTAWA FAVORS VARSITY

The Ottawa Journal has the following comment: Viewing the game from this angle, it looks as though Varsity will go into the game slight favorites in theory at least. On the round, they have a more impressive scoring record than McGill. They will have Hobbs and Westman back in the game. The addition of Hobbs should speed up their team, as he is undoubtedly a whirlwind quarter back, in all probability the best in the game today. Joe Smith declares he is the best he has seen in his knocking around football teams, and his word should be some authority. Westman is a great line plunger, and this combination will add almost 25 per cent. to the strength of the blue and white. It looks like an even break, and you can take your choice. Personally, we would like to see McGill win, but favor Varsity. The team that gets the initial break is going to have a lot to say in the verdict.

ENGLISH GIRLS PLAY FOOTBALL IN PARIS

The English women's football team from Preston played their first match Monday against their French sisters—a representative team—at the Stade Pershing, Vincennes. The result was a draw of one goal each. Miss Kell, captain of the English team, who half-time was disposing of a bowl of hot coffee, said: "The French girls are much better on their own ground, and they have learned a lot since they were in England. Their goalkeeper, Miss Gurry, has been at Dick Kerr's for some time and we trained her. She has certainly given a good account of her training to-day."

BLAMES OFFICIALS, NOT RULES.

Toronto Globe: If the revised rules of football have served no other purpose this season, they have stimulated discussion and elicited some well-known authorities that ought to be worth careful weighing by those who compose the rules committee. Prof. Malcolm, who has been putting the Queen's team through its paces, believes that the rules, as they now exist, are on the whole satisfactory, but he does suggest some few minor changes. He would award the ball to the team not offering when a player is guilty of holding. Prof. Malcolm, who is a member of the rules committee, also expresses the opinion that the present code would be found much more acceptable if officials could be found who would enforce them strictly.

BOXING PAYS WELL.

The first official figure dealing with the operation of Ntw York state's boxing law, made public by Charles White, secretary of the commission, shows that $44,000 in taxes on boxing exhibitions has already been collected. This is $4,000 in excess of the state's appropriation for the first year's expenses of the commission. Mr. White also announced that the commission has issued 1,295 licenses, including 603 to boxers, 165 to managers, 75 to referees, 68 to judges, 212 to seconds, 26 to timekeepers and 34 to trainers and physicians.

FOOT-BALL.

The old baseball season is over and past. They've shown up the grafting and scandal, at last. We bet on some games, and then found we were mixed, and all because baseball, it seems, had been fixed. Here's hoping that football will keep itself clean, but still we must doubt it from some things we've seen. It's early, but charges of graft should be made before half the games of the season are played. We feel it our duty, as lovers of sport, to have grafting charges all sifted in court. There's grafting in football; we tell it with shame, but we're going to reveal it, whoever's to blame, and if someone is canned for the graft that he took, it's nothing in our lives if he gets the hook. The very first game that we witnessed this year, a left tackle jumped on a right tackle's ear. The quarterback then, with a series of blows, kicked off about half of the left tackle's nose. You may not believe it, but I was right there and saw every detail. 'Twas fierce, I declare! Disgusted, disheartened and sick to the core, I beat it for home, for I wanted no more. Here's a want ad (I watched till I saw it appear): "Wanted quickly, for grafting, a goodly sized ear."
