WILLIAMS NEW SCALE

IN providing proper musical education for the young, the use of a really good piano is essential. The growing child will be influenced for life and his or her ear formed, by early impressions. Give your children the best examples and none but the best will please them in after years. The pure, sweet, resonant tone of the Williams has earned the cordial recommendation of many great artists. And this tone quality endures because of the instrument's perfect construction in every detail.

"THE HOME OF GOOD MUSIC"

IN WINTER COATS

Cold Weather Garments Are to Be Loose and Wrappy.

Four Distinct Models Are Being Shown, All Characterized by General Freedom.

Winter coats are now on display in many shops of the larger cities, and although few women are buying them, hordes of femininity bestir the clerks to show these winter models, in order that they may know how far behind the times their own 1920 model is.

The models upon exhibition show four distinct types of winter wrap, although all the new season coats are marked by looseness and general freedom. The redingote seems to be leading in popularity. This is a full length model with a semifitted back, straight and full front, with cordings, shirtings, or smocking at the normal waistline. It is this model that is most like a bonafide coat and not the dolman wrap, as are most of the winter outer wraps. The redingote may have a fitted sleeve or the loose kimono sleeve, and it is the latter that is most frequently seen.

Then there is the flared or barrel skirted coat, the coat cut circular like a cape, with full, straight back and front, and belt at low waistline, and the sackcoat, loose, beltless, and perfectly straight from shoulder to hem. The raglan sleeves of all these models are heavily embroidered with gay designs of wool or metallic threads. Braid is copiously used in swirling, intricate designs. Collars are almost as diversified as the wraps themselves, although preference is shown the extremely high directors collar. Shawl and funnel collars are shown on a few models.

Most of the winter wraps are skirt length, although some seven-eighth-length models are shown. Wraps show the same irregularity of hem as do skirts and hat brims. It is considered very chic for one side of a coat to hang downward several inches farther than the opposite side. Deep shoulder capes, sometimes as many as three or four, are another very new feature, and these capes often terminate in a rolling collar and hood. A "Little Red Riding Hood" model is shown made of startling crimson. Although sedate shades of black, gray and brown are prominently shown, there is much lavishness of gay color used. Royal and turquoise blue, copper and rust, peacock orange, scarlet and emerald abound in the more dressy wraps. Gayly plaided homespun topsails make a pleasing array for sport wear.

Really elaborate fur trimmings do not abound. Coat dealers explain that the furrers bought up all the fur, and that little was left for trimmings in the ready-made realm. Bandings and collars of rabbit, black goats' hair, caracul, Persian lamb and pile fabrics of plush are used as trimmings whenever gay embroideries or braid designs are not used.

A strange feature of new wraps is the combination of color and material. A gray and black wool velours model is shown, stitched in gray and trimmed with fur. There is a round yoke of black satin and hip inset panels of black satin embroidered in canary yellow wool. Dangling wooden beads fall from the cuffs, belt and collar.

Wraps show more plainly than any other garment the gigantic influence of oriental garb, both in color and line.

For White Shoes. Mix a tablespoonful of laundry starch with a little water to make a thin paste. Apply as you would any other cleanser, allowing the shoes to dry thoroughly before wearing.

Satin Dresses for Fall. Smart, all-around utility dresses, the sort of stand-by frocks of a woman's wardrobe, will be of satin, rather than of taffeta, this autumn, it is said.

BEADS ADD TO THIS FROCK

Blue satin in the shade called midnight, and bead embroidery form this chic frock. The beading is done in gold and blue.

CREPE VERY LATEST THING

Material of Various Weaves and Styles Now Having Pronounced Run of Popularity.

In the matter of silks crepes are the very latest thing—crepes of heavy, luxurious sheen, those woven with satin surfaces and satin backs and those woven with stripes and figures and patterns. Satin had its vogue (and it can never be wholly pushed from the center of the stage), but new crepe in various weaves and styles is having its heyday. Many evening dresses undoubtedly will be made from its lustrous folds and for afternoon wear it will be altogether fashionable. The surprising thing about this fabric is how wonderfully it has been developed. It is heavy or light; thin and filmy or positively stiff, as in the brocaded varieties that will be used for formal dinner gowns and for fur-trimmed evening wraps for sumptuous occasions.

Some of the new brocaded materials are done with threads that are not metal, but which are so cleverly handled that they give every appearance of being metal. And in this we have an innovation of value because the nonmetal threads will not tarnish, but will last from season to season with the same freshness as does the foundation weave of the handsome fabric.

$200,000 FOR ACTORS

Request to Aid Aged Members of Profession.

New York, Nov. 19.—The will of General Rush C. Hawkins, filed for probate, disposes of an estate estimated at more than $1,000,000, chiefly in public bequests. General Hawkins, who was the leader of the Hawkins' Zouaves in the Civil War, and died as the result of being run over by an automobile near his residence, 42 Fifth Avenue, lived alone and had no heirs-at-law.

The residuary estate is left to Norwich University at Northfield, Vermont.

The largest direct bequest is $200,000 to the Actors' Fund of America for its home on Staten Island, which the testator, says is "now occupied by aged and dependent members of the dramatic profession, who have worn themselves out in the service of the public." He says that the income from the fund is to be used not only for the home but for members living outside.
