THE HORSEMEN'S BANQUET

Samuel McBride, Toronto, Pres. of Canadian National Racing Assn, Speaks.

The annual banquet of the Kingston Gentlemen's Driving and Motor Club was held in the British-American hotel on Tuesday evening, and the occasion marked an epoch in the history of the club. It was the horseman's night, and the entertainment was a royal one. Fifty-two persons sat at the tables, and prominent among the guests were Samuel McBride, president of the Canadian National Racing Association, Toronto; Lester Boyce, Napanee; Mr. Parks and Dr. Benson, Belleville. Splendid addresses were given, and the music furnished by the Jazz orchestra, Hutts Harmony Hounds, and the Kingston orchestra, was greatly appreciated. L. A. Gask, baritone, sang several songs in fine voice.

M. S. Grace, president of the club, occupied the chair, and extended a warm welcome to the members and guests. He introduced Mayor Nickle, who, after congratulating the club upon the fine sporting spirit always shown, gave an interesting account of civic affairs, dealing with the finances and criticisms often heard. J. M. Hughes, ex-mayor, proposed the toast to the club. He complimented the members upon its record for clean sport. He was present at its organization, and he was glad to know that it was now the largest racing club in Ontario. Speaking of civic affairs, he said that during his period of office there were no overdrafts, as he believed, in keeping expenditure within the means. He believed that if the driving club had control of the fair grounds there would always be a good track.

E. J. Metcalfe, secretary, responded and told of the growth of the club which during the last four years had paid out $3,808. It now had seventy members in good standing.

Samuel McBride gave an account of racing in Canada during the past thirty years. He has been president of the Toronto Driving Club for twenty years. It was at first formed along lines similar to the Kingston club, but now carries on professional racing, including trotters and pacers. In 1908, a Toronto trotter, King Brison, made the world's record. They searched the dominion for the best horses, and now have the highest average in America. He represented Canada on the National Racing Board and secured concessions for ice racing, carried on from December 1st to April 1st each year. The rule regarding the use of harnesses was the beginning of honest racing in Canada. He told of the formation of the Canadian Racing Association, which governs the sport in this country, and the Americans have not now the hold in Canada that they had. Previous to 1910 every purebred horse had to register in the United States, but they are now registered in Canada, and this registration has become a factor in racing. Mr. McBride considered that it was a great achievement when a Canadian bred horse, owned, trained and driven by a Canadian, covered the mile in two minutes flat in the United States. Some noted Canadian horses were Shield Coot, trotter, 2.04 1/4; Eel, pacer, 2.02 1/2; J. Patchon, 2.03 1/4; Hull, 2.04; Gratton Royal, 2.06 1/4; Amardale and Day Spring. Some of these records were made on ice, but the ice record is not a handicap on the summer track. The farmers are now breeding Standard bred horses.

Mr. McBride told of the negotiations with the dominion and provincial governments when race tracks were under investigation, and of securing concessions for harness racing. He gave some wholesome advice for the managers and drivers in races, and reminded his hearers that the sport belonged to the public that demanded only good races. Only by the strictest enforcement of rules could the sympathy and support of the public be secured.

Other speakers were Lester Boyce, Napanee, and Mr. Parks, Belleville. T. Nicholson, treasurer, proposed the toast to the guests, and Mr. Hedley responded. A hearty vote of thanks to the speakers was moved by William Veale and seconded by Mr. Lowry.

Theatrical

"Hearts of Erin" Coming.

George M. Gatts' "Hearts of Erin," in which he will present the young actor, Walter Stevens, at the Grand Opera House, Monday, Nov. 29th, one night only, is described as being like a breath from the heather clad hills of Ireland. It is a romance of Irish life in the latter part of the 18th century and is said to be filled with the real humor, the sparkling wit and the sentiment of the Irish people as they are in their native home. It is scintillating with bright dialogue, and, as Ireland was one of the fashion centers of Europe at that period, brilliant costuming enhances the beauty of the story. The authors, Charles Bradley and Lorin Howard are masters of this style of writing and have filled their play with the most interesting types of Irish characters. Mr. Gatts has left nothing undone. He makes the production one of the most sumptuous ever seen in Irish drama and has organized a cast of unusually clever players to support his young star of charming melodies, which display his tenor voice to the greatest advantage.—Adv't.

"Twin Beds" Coming.

Thursday and Friday, Nov. 25th and 26th, has been marked off the theatrical calendar for the presentation at the Grand Opera House of Salisbury Field and Margaret Mayo's international comedy success "Twin Beds" with the same great cast and production that will only play the principal cities. Lighter holding both its sides but itly expresses the condition of an audience witnessing "Twin Beds". A delectable story is told of the dire calamity that befalls when six people, assorted in couples and housed in three floors of a fashionable big apartment house, have a neighborliness thrust upon them which fate never intended, and of the difficulties of acquiring peace and quiet in the home when nothing but a few feet of lathes and plaster separate one home from another. The authors have told their funny story, retaining your sympathy for everybody, and if you don't simply scream at the spectacle you should consult a doctor. Seats are now selling unusually well.—Adv't.

At the Strand.

Merit has at last met its reward in the case of Thomas Meighan and the genial screen player has achieved stardom. His first stellar vehicle is "Civilian Clothes" adapted from the popular stage play of the same name. The picture will be shown at the Strand theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Though still a young man, "Tommy" Meighan has enjoyed a stage and screen experience such as comes to few players in a lifetime. He started his dramatic career with Grace George and, after successful engagements with David Warfield in "The Return of Peter Grimm" and "The College Widow," he transferred his talents to motion pictures. His early screen appearances were in support of Mary Pickford and Marguerite Clark. As the hero of George Loane Tucker's "The Miracle Man," he scored a huge personal success. Cecil B. DeMille's "Male and Female," and "Why Change Your Wife," in both of which he played the leading male roles, marked further milestones in his development and led to stardom in "Civilian Clothes." Mr. Meighan is a singularly handsome young man of genial and virile personality. He is ideally suited to play the ex-soldier role in "Civilian Clothes." The picture, which is a Paramount, was produced by Hugh Ford. Martha Mansfield is the leading woman.—Adv't.

At Griffin's.

To-night will be the last opportunity to see the splendid programme which has been pleasing the audiences at Griffin's during the past two days, and is headed by that great Drury Lane melodrama, "Stolen Orders." An all-star cast appears in this picture, including Kitty Gordon, Montague Love, June Elvidge and Carlyle Blackwell. This stirring picture of military and social life contains a unique element of mystery and romance, which appeals to all classes of theatregoers, and should be seen by all. Another item of interest on our programme is Jane Grey and William Courthey in "The Inner Ring," a particularly interesting picture of the Russian revolution, in which these two great stars are seen to splendid advantage, and are supported by some of the greatest stars on the speaking stage. A good comedy and other subjects in the programme, which will be given a final showing to-night.—Adv't.

Presentation at Inverary.

On the occasion of William Gummor, Inverary, coming to Kingston to reside, the people of that section of the county met on Monday evening and made a presentation in the form of two chairs and a table. A. A. McFadden, the reeve of the township, presided, and speeches were made by F. S. Ferguson, C. Loney, A. Garrett and S. Perry.

Unveiling of Chalmers Tablet.

Next Sunday morning there is to be a garrison parade to Chalmers church, where a magnificent bronze tablet to the memory of those who served in the war is to be unveiled by Rev. Dr. Malcolm Macgillivray, Rev. Dr. Wilson is to officiate.

A Grand Concert.

Grand concert, full orchestra in attendance, Princess street Methodist church, Nov. 25th. Rev. W. T. G. Brown, chairman. Proceeds in aid of building fund. Admission 25c.

A decrease in both call and current loans in Canada, and an increase in deposits, together with an increase in note circulation, are the features of the bank statement for October, issued by the department of finance, Ottawa.
