Glasses vs. Wrinkles

Which is the more becoming—a pretty pair of glasses, through which shine a pair of lustrous, wide open eyes, or a wrinkled countenance, with half closed lids and a frown always present?

LOOK AT YOURSELF

What does your mirror tell you? If the light hurts your eyes; if you have to squint when looking at fine print; or if you are conscious of raising your eyes, blinking or frowning, then you should let us fit you with glasses that will open your eyes to the full utility of going without them.

Glasses that will make you see better and look well at, consult:

ORGANIZATION IS URGED CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

Upon Medical Men—A Banquet Held on Wednesday Evening.

The district meeting of the Ontario Medical Association was held in Kingston, on Wednesday, and was concluded by a dinner at the Frontenac Club in the evening when the visitors were entertained by the city doctors, and a number of splendid addresses were given, including an illustrated lecture on the war by Brig-Gen. Ross. The programme included a scientific meeting at Queen's University during the afternoon when important subjects were dealt with.

Dr. H. A. Boyce, president of the Association, was chairman at the dinner, and in very warm terms welcomed the visitors. He introduced Dr. Bligham, of the Ontario Medical Council, Toronto, Dr. Mullen, president of the Ontario Medical Association, Toronto, and Dr. Routley, secretary, all of whom spoke of the great importance of the organization and the work it had to do to protect and advance medical science.

Dr. Mullen warned his hearers of the supreme importance of giving their utmost co-operation in the work the association was doing. He pointed out the close relationship of the medical practitioner to the social life of the community, and declared that in the changes taking place the medical profession had an important part to play in the rebuilding of the social structure. In certain walks of life, individual gain and not service was the motive. This was one of the problems of the association, and the unorganized member was a menace to the profession and to himself. He told of the formation of the association and what it was doing. He saw a tendency toward state medicine in some directions, but this would not be a success without the aid of the association whose aim was to insure satisfactory service. There was the relation of the profession to the public, but in recent legislation, notably in the Workmen's Compensation Act, the medical profession was not properly considered. Here, capital, management, the colleges, and the public were considered only. He claimed that the profession should have a representative on the board. There were also the life insurance companies and the sick benefit grog to be brought into the picture, and under education, the colleges and hospitals. Patent medicines had to be combatted. He concluded with a strong appeal for proper organization in Canada.

Dr. Routley said that the key-note today was organization. Under the title of "Proposed Legislation," he showed that there was a depletion of workers on the part of the profession to keep pace with the growth of conditions effecting it adversely. This was due to the absence of efficient organization. Of 2,450 registered practitioners in Ontario only 1,300 were members of the association. Three years ago the membership was but 300. He advocated standardization of fees as being an advantage to both the doctor and the public. A branch should also be formed with the object of bringing about a standardization of drugs. He regarded the Workmen's Compensation board as the thin edge of the wedge of state medicine. The profession was thoroughly organized in Alberta, but in Ontario it had no redress. He estimated that $4,000,000 was spent annually in Ontario on quack medicines, whereas the public had a right to demand that any man called upon to treat human ailments should have modern scientific training. He announced that the association was providing special lectures for local societies.

At the conclusion of Dr. Routley's address a resolution was passed fixing the membership fee at $5 a year. Dr. Ross, M.P.P., in opening his lecture on the work of the Canadian Medical Corps in France, told of his efforts to prevent the Ontario Legislature licensing other systems of treatment, and but for his timely work 1,200 men who had never received scientific training would have been admitted to practice in the Province. His illustrated lecture was most entertaining and instructive. It included a description of the treatment of casualties and disease with the result that typhoid, formerly the scourge of armies, was practically unknown in the Canadian Army with the result that its efficiency was unimpaired at the end of the great conflict, and it was used as the spear-head in the last victorious offensive. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the speakers by Dr. Boyce.

Dr. A. W. Richardson Re-elected President at the Annual Meeting.

At the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society, held on Wednesday afternoon, Dr. A. W. Richardson was, by a unanimous vote, re-elected president.

Dr. Richardson presided at the meeting and at the opening made a few remarks regarding the work of the society. He said he was greatly pleased over the interest the members of the executive had taken in the work. He paid a warm tribute to the work carried on by John Pollie, the agent, and all the officials. The agent had been most faithful in his work, and all the business had been carried on in a most satisfactory manner. Dr. Richardson also took occasion to thank the ladies of the Orphans' Home and the Infants' Home for their splendid support, also the county officials for the keen interest and support given, and to the many who had in any way helped the society. All the wards of the society were well housed and well cared for. The report of the treasurer showed the society to have a surplus balance of $717.75.

The report of John Pollie was listened to with interest, and a matter of special note was his announcement that during the year not one child had been committed into the care of the society. This fact, it might be pointed out, is due to the able manner in which all the cases have been handled. The aim of the society is not to make wards for the society, but rather to keep children in their own homes, where it is at all possible.

Mr. Pollie stated that if the work of the society had been a success during the year, it was due to the co-operation given by citizens. Mr. Pollie paid a warm tribute to the support given him by the police. He said that at all times he was given the aid of the police cheerfully. Another interesting fact pointed out by Mr. Pollie was that during the year not one boy had been sent to the industrial school.

On motion of Dr. G. W. Bell, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Pollie for his able work, and on motion of Adjutant Goodhue a vote of thanks was also tendered to Dr. Richardson for the work he had carried on for the society.

Feeling reference was made by the members to Frederick Welch, who for many years, has been an active worker for the society, but who at the present time is unable to carry on his duties. Mr. Welch was on motion of Dr. Bell, made an honorary member of the society. The election of officers for the city resulted as follows:

President, Dr. A. W. Richardson; vice-president, James Halliday; treasurer, G. V. Barlow; secretary, Dr. W. W. Sands; honorary solicitor, J. L. Whiting. Executive: Frederick Welch, S. R. Bailey, W. H. Graham, S. T. Lilley and the mayor.

For the county the same officers as mentioned will act, with the executive composed of J. W. Bradshaw, Adjutant Goodhue, Dr. G. W. Bell, William Murray and the warden of the county.

Officers Appreciated. On Wednesday evening, a very enthusiastic meeting of the members of the Harrowsmith Farmers' Club was held for the election of officers for the ensuing year. In appreciation of the good work of last year's officers, the meeting decided to re-elect all the present officers for another year. A resolution of appreciation was tendered to the manager and members of the staff of the Harrowsmith co-operative store.

NOLAN-TERRION NUPTIALS

Kingston Young Man Takes Peterborough Girl as Bride. The Church of the Sacred Heart, at Peterborough, was the scene of a pretty wedding, Wednesday morning, when Rev. Father O'Brien united in matrimony Pearl Terrion, eldest daughter of Mrs. Frank Bedore, of Peterborough, and Michael Nolan, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Nolan, of 125 Stuart street, Kingston. The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mr. Armstrong. The bride looked charming in a navy blue suit and hat to match and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses. She was assisted by Miss Mary Nolan, of Kingston, sister of the groom, who looked pretty in a navy blue suit and carried a bouquet of white carnations, while the groom was supported by James Bedore, brother of the bride. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the bride's home, after which they left for Kingston and points east. The bride received many beautiful presents. The happy couple will reside in Peterborough.

FIRE IN A BANK AT HARROWSMITH

Damage of $600 in the Bank of Nova Scotia Building. On Tuesday afternoon, a fire which started in the building occupied by the Bank of Nova Scotia, in the village of Harrowsmith, did damage to the extent of about $600. The fire started in the stairway leading to the second floor of the building. The prompt action of some villagers, who used some chemicals and water, saved the building from being totally destroyed.

Tendering a Banquet. O. E. Shorley, of Toronto, president of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada, and J. H. Castle Graham, general secretary, arrived in the city this morning and are being banquetted at the Frontenac Club this evening by the life insurance men of Kingston.
