Theatrical

"Open Your Eyes." The sensational photoplay of love betrayed, prepared under the supervision of the United States Public Health Service, shows at the Grand Opera House all this week. "Open Your Eyes" is one of the strongest pictures ever made, dealing with social diseases, yet it has real entertainment value in a story that thrills, interests, and then leaves a hovering thought behind it is a living, human drama of every-day American men and women, possessing great strength and sympathetic appeal, destined to be as potent a factor in combatting the social evil as was "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in creating the overwhelming public sentiment against negro slavery.

Briefly, "Open Your Eyes" is the story of two girls, both young, beautiful and innocent, just budding into young womanhood. One finds her mother all that a mother should be. Her questions are frankly and sensibly answered, and consequently she is able to avoid the pitfalls that lie in the pathway of youth. The other, less fortunate, finds her mother too busy with social duties to listen to her daughter's questions, and when the lonely girl turns to companions of her own age for knowledge, she gets it at first hand from a handsome young rake. The contrast between the careers of the two girls, one protected and shielded from the dangers that lie about her by a wonderful mother, and the other "going it blind," as so many young people do in life, makes a powerful and romantic story, especially when the "rounder," after betraying one girl, becomes engaged to the other. This situation leads up to one of the strongest climaxes ever filmed. No children under sixteen years of age will be admitted.—Adv.

At The Strand. Scenes in India, which only to rival even the most fanciful of Dora's famous drawings, have been reproduced on the screen in Norma Talmadge's latest starring vehicle, "The Branded Woman" which will be shown at the Strand Theatre Monday Tuesday and Wednesday. Because of the elaborate nature of the sets called for in this motion picture, which was adapted by Anita Loos and Albert Parker from Oliver D. Bailey's well known stage play, "Branded" the result has been an artistic triumph. In addition to beautiful interiors for a private house in Paris and the fashionable boarding schools on the Hudson, are some remarkable scenes in India. The scenes of the Far East reveal a real open market place and a slave-block where Norma, as the heroine, is sold by public auction, with donkeys and natives in picturesque costume lending a touch of "atmosphere." But most remarkable are the scenes in "Hades." One of these sets represents a dream of Norma's, wherein she imagines herself dragged down by society into a hideous whirlpool, from which she is rescued by the man she loves.—Adv.

At Griffin's. Norma Talmadge productions are always unusual. They must be for Norma herself is unusual. Her quaint and widely varied characteristics are at once the surprise and the delight of her thousands of admirers. Many have asked why she was never given the opportunity of demonstrating her very evident ability as a comedienne. The answer is simple. Until of late a suitable vehicle of that type had never been found. At last, however, she is to be presented in a comedy photoplay as dainty and piquant as her own self. An enchanting love story, as delicate as rosewater, has been carefully woven into the plot. Here and there tense dramatic touches have been added. The occasional suggestion of tears only serve the more to heighten appreciation of the chuckles and hearty laughs which follow in rapid succession. "She Loves and Lies" is the title of this delightful photoplay, and will undoubtedly win many admirers for Miss Talmadge. A good programme of related attractions are also on the bill for to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday, which is sure to please patrons of the best in motion pictures. Be sure and see our programme.—Adv.

The Maple Leaf Forever. Watertown, N. Y. Times. The Dominion of Canada is developing a nationalism which indicates the complacency with which it accepts its position as a colony of Great Britain. Canada is distinctly loyal, and yet it is proud of its own nationality and seeks to advertise it all over the world. Today we find the Canadian Government Merchant Marine making the announcement that hereafter a great maple leaf will be placed as the insignia of Canada on the smoke-stack of every merchant marine vessel, and every vessel is to bear the prefix "Canadian." "The Canadian Ship, Halifax," "The Canadian Ship, Newfoundland," etc. All this indicates the rising spirit of Canada. It is not the spirit of Bourassa's nationalism which would break away from the Mother Country, but it is the spirit of nationalism which indicates pride in the affiliation with such a Mother Country, the spirit which Kipling expressed when he sang of the Canada that was daughter in her mother's house but mistress in her own.

MEMORIAL GATEWAY AT R.M.C. Campaign Fund Opened at Meeting Held in Montreal. Major Greenwood, of the Royal Military College, is home from Montreal, where he attended a meeting on Saturday night, of ex-cadets of the college, regarding the memorial gateway which is to be erected at the college, in memory of the cadets who fell in the great war. The campaign fund opened at this meeting in Montreal, and every ex-cadet will be given an opportunity of subscribing to the memorial. It is of interest to note that Quebec City, where there are only thirteen ex-graduates, the sum of $2,000 was subscribed.

ANOTHER SAD DEATH

A Queen's Student Passed Away On Saturday Afternoon. A very sad death occurred at the Kingston General hospital, on Saturday afternoon, when Bruce Norman Johnston, aged twenty-two years, youngest son of the late Norman and Mrs. Johnston, Lansdowne, succumbed after a very brief illness. The deceased was a second year Arts student at Queen's University, attended his classes at the university until Tuesday last when he was taken to the hospital. He was suffering from pleurisy, which developed into pneumonia. The later part of the week blood-poisoning set in. On Saturday morning it was seen that the end was near. A brother and sister, who had been at his bedside, summoned the mother who arrived before he passed away. It is a very sad case as the young man had passed through the Brockville Collegiate and, after attending the model school in Kingston, taught for two years and then enlisted in the Royal Air Force, and was in training at Long Branch for overseas service when the armistice was signed. He decided to continue his studies and entered the university about fifteen months ago. He is survived by his mother, two brothers and two sisters, Archie and Maxwell, Miss Katharine and Miss Lola. The remains were taken to Lansdowne on Sunday by R. J. Reid, undertaker. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock.

Victoria Home and School Club. The Victoria Home and School Club held its monthly meeting on Friday afternoon. Satisfactory reports were presented from all committees. The Halloween sale of home cooking brought in $193. The club has arranged to have a telephone installed in the school for the use of the principal and teachers, as the need for one has been felt for some time. Arrangements are also under consideration to have a full supply of films for the teaching of the geography of the dominion, the government having spared no expense to produce the same. In the near future the club expects some particularly fine out-of-town speakers and hopes to throw open the meetings to the public.

Honors For Maj.-Gen. Emsley. The government has been officially advised that the French Government has awarded the Croix de Guerre to Major-Gen. Harold Emsley, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.
