LINDSAY'S

"CHOOSE MUSICAL GIFT S THIS CHRISTMAS"

"If LINDSAY SELLS IT-- IT'S ALL RIGHT"

Most people know little about Pianos or Phonographs, and most rely upon the word of the merchant from whom they purchase. There is double satisfaction in dealing with a firm in which the buyer can place implicit confidence. Just such a firm is LINDSAY'S. A glance at the enumeration of the lines of musical goods they sell suffices to see that none but the best is ever offered in a LINDSAY store.

ASK EX-ALD. S. S. CORBETT INCIDENTS OF THE DAY

To be Labor Candidate for Mayor at Municipal Elections.

All is not so quiet in civic circles as many people imagine. There is not a great deal of loud talking, but there is a deep undercurrent that may ere long burst out. Just now, all attention centers upon the mayoralty. When Mayor Nickle announced his intention not to run for the office, he apparently put everybody up in the air, but the Independent Labor Party, this party purposes having a candidate for mayor as well as candidates for alderman in every ward. On Saturday evening, the civic election committee composed of the president, William Fleet, and two members, waited upon ex-alderman S. S. Corbett, to tender him the nomination for mayor. Mr. Corbett took the matter under consideration for a few days, as he did not feel prepared to give a definite answer on such short notice.

Aldermen are all at sea since the ward redistribution took place, and few appear to be certain as to whether they will run. Ald. W. A. Twigg says he will not run. He represents Victoria ward, but is now a resident of Sydenham ward. William Patterson, another labor alderman, says he will not run again.

The retail merchants are strongly represented already and are determined to re-elect their men again. Nomination day, however, is expected to bring about some surprises.

Mayor Nickle Is Considering A Second Term

On Monday morning Mayor Nickle was waited upon by a deputation from the Retail Merchants' Association and urged to reconsider his recent decision and to offer himself as a candidate for the mayoralty for a second term. Another deputation waited upon Mr. Nickle during the afternoon with the same request. The mayor promised to take their requests into his serious consideration. He preferred to retire from municipal life, he said, but was very much touched by the desire of so many people that he offer himself for another year of service. The mayor will likely make a definite announcement on Tuesday morning.

THE WORK OF THE CHURCH

Was Clearly Set Forth by the Rev. Ernest Thomas Last Night.

The work of the church to not reorganize society but to create a conscience and to uphold such standards that the community will reorganize itself. This was the thought in an address by Rev. Ernest Thomas, in Queen Street Methodist church, last evening. He was representing the Department of Evangelism and Social Service and pointed out three stages in the task of christianizing community life. The first is the interpretation of life in terms of holiness wherein in its turn insists that personal and community life are sacred so far as they become the means of expressing God's purpose. The evangelistic work of the church seeks to awaken in all people this consciousness of being related to God, and the work must be undertaken by the membership, officials and pastors of the local church.

The second stage is the destruction of predatory or wasteful forms of social life and the preacher referred to the recent organization of a federal ministry of health with its bureau of child welfare. This is likely to decrease the alarming death rate which has prevailed among children in Canada. The liquor trade was shown as engaged in a subtle and effective propaganda to break the peoples' morale by sneering at the law enforcement, and almost commending lawlessness.

The third stage is the redemption of the social and economic conditions in which moral evils are rooted. The recent declaration of the Methodist and other churches for the change of motive in industry, are now supported, not only by society, but by the foremost exponents of industrial efficiency and the best opinion now definitely confines the demand that production must be organized primarily to meet the needs of the community rather than to provide profits for the investors.

IMPROVING HORSE STABLES

Good Work Being Done by the Humane Society.

At the meeting of the Board of Managers held last Thursday afternoon, interest centered chiefly in the report presented by the president of the work being done by the Inspector, R. E. Ward, who is making a systematic inspection of the stables in the city. While some of these are in excellent condition, others are small and very dirty, with an occasional big throw-in, and some are entirely unfit for horses to live in. The dirty ones are being cleaned up and ventilated, and the pigs removed. Others are getting new floors, or floors where there have been none. Roofs are being raised and repaired, stalls enlarged so that the horse can lie down, managers installed and generally made comfortable for the occupant who has been working hard all day.

The society thanks the owners of these stables for the very generous way in which they are meeting and co-operating with their inspector in carrying out his wishes. With the exception of one or two disgruntlers the alterations are being done well and cheerfully, and it is hoped in time to have all the horses in the city comfortably housed and well cared for.

Mean Brute: "Every husband should have a joint bank account with his wife," said Mrs. Gabb. "Joint is right," growled Mr. Gabb. "Joint would mean that the husbands would put the money in the bank and the wives would draw it out."

On Charge of Doing Bodily Harm to an Orphan Girl.

Some months ago, when the child in question was brought to the Kingston General Hospital, she was suffering from severe wounds which she claimed were the result of a beating which she received from the hands of Hawley. The case was immediately taken up by W. F. Nickle, solicitor for the Orphan's Home. A large number of witnesses have been summoned to give evidence in this case. Several Kingston people, who saw the condition of the child when she arrived at the hospital, will be heard. After some months of treatment the child was able to leave the hospital.
