GOOD SHOWS AT GRAND ALL MILK VENDORS LIABLE

Ernie Marks Stock Co. Attraction—"A Good-for-Nothing Husband," To-night.

The Ernie Marks Stock Company is entering good-sized audiences at the Grand this week. Ernie Marks is always a favorite with Kingston theatregoers. He has been coming to Kingston with his company for several years, and is always given a warm welcome. Kingston looks for a visit from Ernie Marks every season as his plays and vaudeville specialties are always entertaining. At popular prices, he has one of the best shows on the road to-day, and is deserving of liberal patronage. This season he has a clever lot of artists in his company and the class plays the company has been putting on have been very popular with the people.

Wednesday night the company put on "The Call of the Woods," a charming play of the Canadian west, and the entire cast was good. The story has to do with a young man who is continually hounded by a villain who does everything he can to ruin his life and steal his sweetheart from him, and in his efforts goes so far as to have him arrested on a charge of attempted murder, but after a series of most interesting events, he is finally cleared of all the charges against him and everything ends happily. The part of Dave Ferguson, the young man who makes such a gallant fight to clear himself of the charges, was ably portrayed by Earle Newton. Ernie Marks, in the role of Eben Quackenbush, was given ample scope for his comedy work, and put it over in great style. Edward H. Stauffer had an interesting part as Dr. Quackenbush, and played it well. Others in the cast deserving of special mention were: Fred Durand, as Willis Hughes; Fred Durand, as Flapjack Lescent; Edna Durand, as Mrs. Hughes; Louise Ad Del, as Doris Keene, and Daisy Newton, as Hilda Lescent.

To-night the company is presenting a play that is bound to be a success. "A Good-for-Nothing Husband," Amateur night, on Friday, will provide an extra treat for the patrons of the Grand when local talent will compete for a prize. The company will finish up the week at the Grand.

For the City License Fee—Board of Health Meeting.

The Board of Health held its final meeting of the year on Wednesday afternoon. The report of Sanitary Inspector Carson showed that a good deal had been done under the direction of the board during the year in the way of sanitary improvements throughout the city. The inspector recommends for the consideration of next year's city council the installing of sewers on certain streets, which at present are without drainage, and the houses on which, therefore, cannot install sanitary improvements.

Milk Inspector Bell also submitted a report. Recent tests showed that all milk sold here was up to standard requirements as regards butter fat and total solids.

Mayor Nickle drew to the attention of the board that many producers, who are delivering milk to city dealers in wholesale quantities, have not taken out licenses. He figured that this year the city has lost probably $200 as the result. The Inspector will see to it that all persons who vend milk in the city this coming year, take out licenses or they will be summoned to the police court. The fee is two dollars, and the milk by-law is very explicit in regard to the matter.

Bills continue to come to the Board of Health from grocers who have been supplying provisions to families who have been quarantined owing to having contagious disease. The city is responsible only when families are without means of support when quarantined, and none will be paid unless all members of the household have been previously vaccinated. Most of the grocery bills gave the impression that the sick ones had pretty good appetites. Some of them were held over for further investigation.

A letter was received from City Solicitor Whiting in regard to a question put to him by the board, as to whether the city council could give the district milk producers the sole privilege of conducting a central milk pasteurizing station here. The solicitor replied that the council could pass a by-law requiring that all milk be pasteurized at a central station, but a succeeding council would have the power of repealing such by-law.

In attendance were E. Cain, chairman, Mayor Nickle, Mrs. John Macgillivray and Dr. A. R. B. Williamson.

TO CONSTRUCT A SEWER

in Order to Give Work to a Number of Men.

The Board of Works met on Wednesday afternoon and the members expressed their appreciation of the splendid work done during the year by their chairman, Ald. Thomas Angrove, who has been most energetic in regard to the street work undertaken. Ald. Angrove had never been in the city council before, and yet he undertook, with signal success, to pilot the Board of Works through a difficult year after the same committee had been handled by veterans like Aids. Graham and O'Connor.

On recommendation of City Engineer Dick, the board decided to begin the work of constructing a sewer in Raglan road to connect with Barrie street. This will give work to fifteen to twenty men for some weeks.

It was decided to ask the Kingston Sand and Gravel Company if it would deliver during the winter two hundred square yards of sand at the price it recently offered for the delivery of five hundred square yards. The board does not want to stock up too much.

The question of opening the city's stone quarries in order to give employment to a number of men during the winter was discussed, but it was decided as the board had no funds to leave the matter to next year's council, whose inaugural meeting will be held on the 10th of January.

Death of the Old Nag.
"Betty," the faithful old sorrel driver who was almost as familiar on the streets of Arnprior as was his owner, James Young, Sand Point, died last week. It was "Betty" that Leitch drove on that fateful day in 1817, when returning from Arnprior he was shot to death by Wm. Bennett, who is now totally blind and is serving a life sentence in Kingston penitentiary.

Not Mayoralty Candidate.
Wilson McCue, who recently stated that he was in the field for the mayoralty of Smith's Falls, has altered his intention. His recent appointment, he says, to act as solicitor to a corporation whose work covers the entire county of Lanark would necessitate his frequent absence from town and he will not, therefore, be a candidate.

Got the Wrong Proofs.
A mother who had her child photographed in a studio here is reported to have received a shock on receiving the proofs to behold a child with a deformed lip. She thought the camera must have become bewitched; and was glad to discover that the proofs did not picture her offspring.

BITUMINOUS CONCRETE TOP

Will be Put on the York Road From Kingston to Cataragui.

It has been officially announced that the Department of Highways for Ontario intends to place a bituminous concrete top on the new highway from the junction of the Bath Road to Cataragui, a distance of two miles. Some time ago the Whig announced that it was likely that the department would do this work, but on Saturday last Anthony Rankin, M.P.P., who had been in Toronto, informed the Whig that in the course of a few days this announcement would be made. The department has issued a notice calling for tenders to do the work. It is quite likely this work will be done immediately the snow leaves the ground, as the government is very anxious to have the work proceeded with as quickly as possible.

It is not definitely stated, but it is generally believed, that it is the intention of the government to put a permanent top on the remainder of the new highway which extends from Cataragui to a point about two miles past Westbrook. The new highway was built this year, and is certainly an excellent piece of work. It is what is known as waterbound macadam. The piece of road from Cataragui to Kingston, which has had a great deal of wear since it was opened for traffic, got a little rough, so the engineer in charge recommended a permanent top to be placed on it. This is probably one of the busiest pieces of road on the whole stretch between Toronto and Kingston, and for that reason no macadam road would stand up for any length of time. The class of top which the government intends to put on is similar to the Princess street roadway between Clergy and King streets. The macadam roadway will be used as a base. It is stated by engineers of experience that a macadam base with an asphalt top makes one of the best roads possible.

The Highway Commission also calls for tenders for the construction of macadam roadway for a distance of 7.7 miles, starting at Kingston and running down the main road towards Gananoque.

This summer considerable work was done on this piece of road. For nearly six months the Dufferin Construction Company has been busy reducing the grade on one of the large hills, and filling in the large hollow which for years has been a great menace to traffic. Thousands of loads of material have been removed from one place to another. The contract now called for is to build the road.

Tenders are also called for two and one-half miles of macadam roadway from Belleville to Shannonville and four miles of macadam road, rock work and grading, in the Brockville area. An evidence that the Highway Commission means to help the labor situation this winter is shown in a paragraph which appears in the notice calling for tenders which reads as follows:

"In order to in some measure relieve the present labor situation, contracts for the above construction will be let to successful tenderers at once, so as to allow contractors to proceed immediately to secure material and place same at site of the work."

This will certainly mean a big thing for men in Kingston, as it will require a great deal of labor in the building of these roads. The chances are that the contractors who are successful in securing the work will erect their stone crushing plants during the winter months and break considerable stone so as to be able to proceed with the laying of stone as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

Beware of Fake Collectors.

An uptown gentleman was called upon late on Tuesday afternoon by a little girl who asked him for a contribution to the orphan's home. Soon afterwards, he saw her in a grocery buying candies with the money he gave her. He called up the both orphanages by telephone and was informed that they had no collectors out. People should beware of children who seek to collect money from them, unless they can show satisfactory credentials.
