Charles Ray and Clara Horton in "Nineteen and Phyllis"

Betty Ross Clark in "The Branding Iron"

Alice Lake, Jack Livingston and Leo's Larrikin in "The Misfit Wife"

Carmel Myers

Mildred Davis and Harold Lloyd

A Little Game—"The Misfit Wife"—Leading Woman for "Fatty" Arbuckle—"Nineteen and Phyllis"—Musical Comedy to Screen—"The Branding Iron"

THESE things," said Harold Lloyd, "are what we call lucky cubes, Mittle."

"Lucky cubes!" exclaimed Mildred Davis, known around the studio as Mittle. "Why I've always known them as galloping dominoes, Speedy!"

"Wow!" piped Harold, who also has a studio moniker, "Speedy." "Wow, Mittle, and I thought you spent your spare time making lemon pie!"

"My week's salary against yours!" said Mittle.

"That isn't fair," said Speedy, "when you know I get more than you do. You see, Mittle, I want to be absolutely fair with you!"

"I'm satisfied," grinned Mittle, as she tossed a seven.

"Wrong number!" roared Harold.

"Great!" exclaimed producer Hal Roach. "Great! We'll use that explanation of yours, Speedy as a title for the next comedy. In fact I hate to break up your little game with the pair of 'box cars' but we're going to start shooting" right now.

"Suits me," said Harold, as Mittle tossed another seven. "let's start right in before I win all Mittle's hard-earned money."

And Mittle suspiciously followed the two young men over to the studio as work began on the next comedy which bears the title "Wrong Number."

Alice Lake

A dramatic scene from "The Misfit Wife," in which Alice Lake is featured. In this production Miss Lake is seen in the role of a poor girl manufacturer who goes West, marries a rich man and then strives to maintain her position when she is placed among his wealthy and snobbish relatives. The picture was adapted from an original play written by Julie Herne, daughter of the late James A. Herne, who wrote "Shore Acres," another recent production.

Betty Ross Clark

Betty Ross Clark, leading woman for Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, in his latest picture, "The Branding Iron," and "Brewster's Millions." Miss Clark is a descendant of Benjamin Franklin. She was born in Langdon, North Dakota, but was educated in from his usual country boy role, appearing in up-to-date garb as a dapper nineteen-year-old city boy.

Carmel Myers

Carmel Myers, who ran away from the screen a year ago to enter musical comedy, is now seen again in the film world. Miss Myers is only 19 years old. Up to the time of her appearance in musical comedy she had no stage experience. After a year on Broadway she was glad enough to get back to the studios and outdoor work.

Although Carmel Myers thinks that "Haunted Pajamas," is the best picture she has ever done, her new releases show a decided improvement over the past, and in "Folly's Trail," and "The Gilded Dream," she shows rapid strides that merit her stardom.

James Kirkwood

From a dramatic point of view, "The Branding Iron," promises to be one of the outstanding events of the season. In the role of Pierre Landis, Mr. Kirkwood is called upon to give a vivid impersonation of an uneducated, direct, forceful young rancher. It is a role ideally suited to his big, rugged personality that has long been popular with followers of motion pictures. First as a leading man with the early producers of one and two reel pictures, and later with the foremost stars of the screen in feature photoplays, Mr. Kirkwood achieved an enviable reputation. Also, he is well known as a director. He first appeared on the legitimate stage in 1906, and subsequently with Blanch Bates in a Belasco production.

Traveling Salesman."

Charles Ray

"Nineteen and Phyllis," Charles Ray's latest film, has been just completed. This photoplay is from an original story written by Frederick Stowers. The supporting cast includes Clara Horton in the leading feminine role, Lincoln Stedman, George Nichols, Cora Drew, Frank Norcross and De Witt C. Jennings. Mr. Ray departs

KINGSTON BIBLE SOCIETY

The Church People Contributed The Sum of $649.90.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Kingston branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society was held Thursday afternoon in the Y.M.C.A. rooms with a fair number of members present. Rev. Dr. Wilson, president, occupied the chair. G. E. Hague, the secretary-treasurer, presented a financial report showing the result of the recent canvass of the city undertaken by collectors from the different churches. The total receipts were $649.90, and there is one church yet to hear from. This was considerably more than last year and was considered as satisfactory. Although most of the sums were small, the fact that over 900 contributions were received shows a general interest in the work of the society. The committee expressed appreciation of this self-denying and faithful work of the collectors. It decided that Bible Society Sunday next year should be the second Sunday in Oct. If any parties who wish to contribute were overlooked in the canvass, the treasurer, G. E. Hague, 132 University avenue, would be glad to receive their subscription.

WERE SELLING WATER INSTEAD OF LIQUOR

Slick Trick Practised by Two Kingston Men Under Arrest.

On Friday morning Elmer Robinson and George Woodstock, Kingston, who were arrested by Police Constables Timmerman and Leslie Clark, early on Thursday morning, appeared before Magistrate Rankin in Nanapanee, on the charge of having liquor for sale and also carrying of offensive weapons. At two o'clock their case was still before the court. Both pleaded not guilty, and were detained by John Simpson.

A rather amusing incident occurred in the court on Friday morning when the three jars of liquor owned by the accused were examined. It was found that the jars were filled with water, and about one half pint of liquor was contained in a rubber bag which was fastened in the neck of the jug. Things were so arranged that when a customer, who was thinking about buying the liquor, asked to sample the goods, he would be able to pour some of the liquor out of the bag and so satisfy the customer that they had the real liquor. They were asking $140 for the three jars.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL

Hopes the Employment Situation May Be Improved.

The Kingston Trades and Labor Council met on Thursday evening, but no action was taken on the question of candidates for the municipal elections as all matters of a political character are dealt with the Independent Labor Party, a separate organization entirely.

An interesting report was presented by A. Stroud, representative on the Board of Trade, upon the work accomplished by that body during the past year, and a deputiation was appointed to draw up representations on the tariff and present them at the hearing of the commission on Monday afternoon next. The hope was expressed that efforts to improve the employment situation might meet with success.

The Marks Company.

"A Good-for-Nothing Husband," a domestic farce, was presented at the Grand Opera House by the Ernle Marks Stock Co., on Thursday evening in a manner that was highly appreciated. There was a large house and the actors brought forth repeated applause. Ernle Marks, in the title role, and Edna Durand, as Mrs. Malloy, scored a pronounced success. Tonight there will be a competition for amateur actors and actresses and the production of "The Girl He Could Not Buy," by the company.

Garbage Collection.

At a meeting of the city health committee on Thursday afternoon, it was reported that the one mill tax had not covered the expenses of garbage collection and disposal during the year. This was chiefly because there was an overdraft from last year of $900 and also because the wages of the men were increased by $1,400. A vote of appreciation of the services of Ald. Stroud as chairman was passed.

DAIRY SCHOOL COURSES

The Long Course is to Open on the 3rd of January.

On Friday morning, L. A. Zufelt, superintendent of the Eastern Ontario Dairy School stated the regular long course would commence on Jan. 3rd, and continue until March 25th. It is expected that between thirty and fifty men who are anxious to learn the cheese, butter and milk testing business will be in attendance. The examinations on this course will be on March 21st, 22nd and 23rd. There will also be other courses, consisting of special cheese making week, commencing on February 23rd, and continuing until February 26th. The special butter makers' week will be from March 7th, to March 12th. There will be an instructor's course from March 28th to April 2nd.

The superintendent, when asked about the situation in general, stated that in many cases on account of high cost of living, many young men who would like to learn the cheese business are unable to come to Kingston and take this course. In many cases men are learning the butter making business in preference to the cheese trade, because the remuneration is larger. At the present time the dairy school officials are trying to secure boarding houses for the students.

At a recent meeting of the creamery men held in Toronto, a resolution was passed asking that a butter makers' course be held at Kingston and Guelph. This resolution was evidently for the purpose of getting Guelph in line for the butter makers' course, as such a course has been held in Kingston for the past two years. This course proved such a success that it was decided to make an annual affair of it.

The following are the members of the staff for this year's session: Dairy Lectures, L. A. Zufelt; instructor in cheese-making, J. H. Eckstein; instructor in butter-making, J. A. Craig; instructor in separators, J. Buro; assistant in butter-making, C. F. Linn; instructor in milk testing, G. H. Baker; bacteriology, W. T. Connell, M.D.

RESOLUTION PASSED

By Church Body Regarding the Late Robert G. Richardson.

The following was passed by the quarterly official board and the board of Trustees of Sydenham Street Methodist church:

"Resolved that this board desires to express its genuine sorrow and sense of loss on the occasion of the death of one of our trustees, Robert G. Richardson. Though one of our youngest members, he had already shown his appreciation of the position to which he was appointed by his regular attendance at the meetings of the board and his interest in the work of the church. We had hoped that he might serve many years in the church that had always been his home, but to-day, with the whole city, we mourn what seems an untimely end. While we cannot understand the mystery of life nor know the meaning of the ways of Divine Providence, we comfort ourselves in our Christian faith.

"We do not sorrow without hope. Our grief is not the wild cry of despair but sorrow for a friend whom we shall miss, a fellow toiler whose work here has ended but whom we believe God has called to a higher service.

"We would wish to convey to his mother and all other members of the family our deepest sympathy in this hour of great sorrow. We would commend them to the love of God, to the comfort of the Holy Spirit and to our Saviour, who has conquered death and brought life and immortality to light through the Gospel."

OBITUARY

The Late Mrs. Elsie Bush.

Mrs. Elsie E. Bush passed away at Newark, N.J., on Wednesday after a lingering illness. The deceased was a daughter of the late S. N. Watts, Portsmouth, and her death is deeply regretted among a wide circle of friends whose sympathy goes out to the bereaved husband and family. Mrs. Bush was twenty-nine years of age, and was born in this city. She is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. John Watts. Nine years ago she was married to Arthur C. Bush, Newark, N.J., who, with two children, Egbert and Dorothy, survives.

Charge Against Guard.

The case of Everton Reynolds, a former guard at the penitentiary, charged with having carried a letter out of the penitentiary from a convict on August 13th last, has been set for hearing on Saturday before Magistrate Farrell. The case was up last Saturday, and was adjourned for a week, at the request of the government detectives who laid the charge.

There are rumors going the rounds to the effect that some evidence of a sensational nature regarding doings at the penitentiary will be given the hearing of this case.

SMUFF OUT SPECULATORS

To Have Products Distributed Evenly on Markets.

Riverhead, N.Y., Dec. 17.—Farmers of Suffolk County expect to smuff out speculators and pull down food prices by marketing their products through co-operative storehouses. They also have mapped out a five-year programme to make rural life attractive to their sons and daughters.

Through the Suffolk County Farm Bureau they expect to build structures to store the potato crops and other products and see that they are distributed evenly on the market. Then they believe they will be absolved of blame for the operations of speculators.

BISHOP "REPRIMANDED"

U.S. Sinn Feiners Protest Coalition's Peace Efforts.

New York, Dec. 17.—A cable message protesting against the use of his "spiritual authority" in British interests, was sent to Bishop Daniel Cohalan of Cork, by the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, occasioned by a sermon he preached in the Cathedral of Cork last Sunday.

"You have no right to excommunicate Irishmen for defending their country as threatened in your slave-minded sermon," the message said. "Nor must Irish priests be used to
