CHRISTMAS SERVICES HELD

"The Nativity" Was Rendered by Sydenham Street Methodist Church.

In Sydenham street Methodist church, on Sunday evening, the sacred cantata, "The Nativity," by Frederick Bullard, was given. It opened with an organ and violin prelude by Miss Shaw and Mr. Locke. Then followed a choral, "Bethlehem." The choir seemed to be in full force and acquitted themselves in an almost faultless manner in all the choruses. The soloists, Miss Woodman and Pollard, and Dr. Angrove, sang with much expression. Their articulation was very clear, every word being heard. Arthur Locke, in his violin accompaniments with the organ, added greatly to the success of the cantata. Miss Shaw, the conductor and organist, has a chorus which produces fine effects. Their staging must have been an inspiration to all who heard the cantata.

Mrs. R. G. Andrews, Miss H. McIntyre and Mrs. F. Anglin, who arranged the beautiful flowers about the pulpit platform, are to be congratulated.

Gifts Placed on the Altar. The two Sunday schools of St. George's parish were present at the annual gift service in the Cathedral on Sunday afternoon. The attendance was very large, and after a short address by the dean, the scholars marched to the chancel steps, during the singing of the carol, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and placed their gifts on a large tray on which they were carried by Rev. W. E. Kidd to the dean, who presented them on the altar. Many trays were filled, and the altar piled high with the children's offerings, which will be distributed to the poorer children of the city. The cathedral organist and choir were present and the singing was bright and hearty.

At Cooke's Church. The services at Cooke's church on Sunday were of a bright and interesting nature. The pastor, Rev. W. Taylor Dale, preached at both the services. His evening subject was, "The Message of Christmas." The musical service included an anthem by the choir, "Glory to God in the Highest," and a quartette, composed of Allan Lemmon, H. W. Newman, Thomas Donnelly, and Rupert Claxton, rendered a Christmas carol.

Mary Mayhew, widow of the late Joseph Simard, died Monday at Renfrew, after an illness, due to inflammatory rheumatism, that extended over a period of two years. The late Mrs. Simard was born in Lachine, Quebec, eighty-four years ago.

After six months rental we will allow money paid in rental to apply on purchase of piano, C. W. Lindsay Ltd.

Let Your Gift Be Fine Furs

Choose Them at "Kingston's Famous Fur Store" From the Largest Stock in Kingston

Furs appeal more strongly than anything else to most ladies. They are the very essence of comfort, style, refinement and fashion—the ideal Christmas gift!

WHY NOT A SEAL COAT? The coats shown at this store are made from the highest grade skins—products of our own work rooms—beautifully lined and finished—you may elsewhere get better prices but if so inferior quality.

Our stock includes plain and trimmed coats in Hudson and French Seal, ranging in price from $125 to $850, which is lower than at this time last winter.

Coatees, Capes, Scarfs, Sets and Muffs are also shown in a splendid variety of styles.

"The Always Busy Store"

REV. F. J. DAY, D.D.

Preached in the Congregational Churches on Sunday.

Rev. F. J. Day, D.D., Toronto, director of the Forward Movement of the Congregational church in Canada, was the special speaker at Bethel Congregational church on Sunday morning. He spoke upon the forward movement in the church, and showed the great impetus given in the work of the church by that movement. Instead of $120,000, the sum asked for, the people had subscribed $220,000. He told how this money was being used in the home and foreign mission fields, but in addition to promoting this work, it had enabled the board to create the augmentation fund from which the salaries of ministers were established upon a more satisfactory basis, and provision made for the incapacitated clergy, the widows and orphans.

But while the financial results were most gratifying, there was a greater object to be attained by the forward movement. This was the more efficient service of the church, and it was the duty of all capable of rendering service to give of their time, thought and energy in promoting the various activities that offered opportunities for their talents. Rev. Mr. Day concluded with a strong appeal for personal service as a part of the forward movement. The solo, "Jesus Saviour, Pilot Me," was sung by Fred Haffner. On Sunday evening Rev. Dr. Day spoke on the same subject in the First Congregational church.

RUSSIAN REFUGEES IN PITIFUL PLIGHT

A Brother of M. M. Hood Writes About the Fleeting People.

M. McIntyre Hood, a former member of the Whig staff but now of Woodstock, has received an interesting letter from his brother, Pto. Samuel W. Hood, who is on active service with the 1st Battalion, Gordon Highlanders in the British Army of Occupation in Turkey. The letter was written at Haidar, Pasha, near Constantinople, on November 21st, and at that time the refugees from the Crimea were arriving in thousands. It tells of the pitiable conditions of the refugees, and also gives the impression that British troops have been sent to the Crimea. The letter says in part: "I left Touzla on November 10th for Haidar Pasha, where we are in lovely barracks in what used to be a Turkish School of Science. It is all fitted up with electric lights, but there are no fires in it. Nevertheless we are quite comfortable, as there is a whole company in each room. I told you I expected to be home by Christmas, but now I will not manage that, as there are about three hundred of our men in hospital and a great many have been sent home as unfit for service in this country. Latest orders are that the battalion is to be here for two years in the army of occupation."

Last Wednesday about seventy thousand Russian refugees arrived here from the Crimea. It was a pitiful sight to see them. They were half-starved, and many of them had very little clothes. They landed without food or supplies of any kind. Our battalion collected about fifty pounds to buy food and clothing for them. Russia is in a terrible condition just now. The Royal Scots Fusiliers left here for India, but instead of going there, they landed at Sebastopol in the Crimea.

The letter goes on to say that the weather is very cold in Turkey at the present time, which adds to the sufferings of the refugees. The writer has been in Turkey with the British army of the Black Sea, for the past eight or nine months.

Mayor Moss, Reeve McEwan, Deputy Reeve Grace, Hugh McDougal and Dr. H. McCormack are mentioned as candidates for the mayoralty of Renfrew.

INSPECTOR SEIZES STILL AND LIQUOR

License Inspector William McCammon paid a visit to Loughboro township, and as a result of an investigation, he located a whiskey still and about three gallons of the real stuff. He confiscated the still and the liquor.
