CASES IN POLICE COURT

Another Adjudgment in the Shawcross Assault and Robbery Charge.

Still another adjournment had to be made on Tuesday morning, in police court, in the case of Edward Stokes and John Hilyard, charged with assaulting and robbing William Shawcross, on the night of December 3rd. Shawcross is still unable to appear to give evidence in the case, and they were disappointed over the fact that the case had to be postponed. Thomas McKeown, a company of 23 people and two baggage cars filled with scenery and electrical effects, in fact, it is one of the largest organizations of its kind on tour this season, notwithstanding the increased cost of R.R. transportation and the high prices of everything pertaining to a company of this magnitude. The firm of Counihan & Shannon, Inc., have embellished the attraction until it stands alone—bigger and better than ever. "Way Down East" is guaranteed by the management, and from its uninterrupted successful career of twenty-five years it hardly needs such guarantee, but for the sceptical few, suffice to say that "Way Down East" has been witnessed by over 20 million people, it has received the unanimous endorsement of the press and clergy, and is a play that every man, woman and child should see, and having seen it they will want to see it again. "Way Down East," with its full equipment, will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Friday and Saturday nights, with New Year's matinee, with the same company and effects that played all the larger eastern cities, having just completed its engagement in New York, Boston and Philadelphia.—Advt.

Theatrical

"Way Down East."

One of the dramatic treats of the year is the big revival of that everlasting success, "Way Down East." The play carries a company of 23 people and two baggage cars filled with scenery and electrical effects, in fact, it is one of the largest organizations of its kind on tour this season, notwithstanding the increased cost of R.R. transportation and the high prices of everything pertaining to a company of this magnitude. The firm of Counihan & Shannon, Inc., have embellished the attraction until it stands alone—bigger and better than ever. "Way Down East" is guaranteed by the management, and from its uninterrupted successful career of twenty-five years it hardly needs such guarantee, but for the sceptical few, suffice to say that "Way Down East" has been witnessed by over 20 million people, it has received the unanimous endorsement of the press and clergy, and is a play that every man, woman and child should see, and having seen it they will want to see it again. "Way Down East," with its full equipment, will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Friday and Saturday nights, with New Year's matinee, with the same company and effects that played all the larger eastern cities, having just completed its engagement in New York, Boston and Philadelphia.—Advt.

At the Strand.

Miss Pauline Frederick charmed the audience at the Strand last evening when she made her debut in the super-special picture "A Slave of Vanity." Never has this great emotional actress had a vehicle which afforded her the opportunity that new picture does. At all times Miss Frederick is convincing and her acting is materially aided by an extraordinarily fine cast. "A Slave of Vanity" is the screen adaptation of the famous drama "Iris" written by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero and produced in both England and America. The story is that of a young and charming widow whose husband left her his entire estate on the condition that she did not marry again. Fortunately or unfortunately for herself she finds that an attractive young chap, whose income is small, has found his way into her heart. To marry him she must sacrifice millions and her social position. She loves him but has always been used to luxury. A rich London banker is also seeking her hand. In the midst of her dilemma her fortune is swept away. Her problem becomes twofold. However, there is a happy solution and "Iris" (Miss Frederick) finds it.—Advt.

At Griffin's

Those delightful young persons Douglas Maclean and Doris May are at Griffin's in their latest comedy bombshell "Let's Be Fashionable." They keep up the same rapid joyful pace that they set in "Twenty Three And a Half Hours Leave." No movie goer could ask more. This time the pair are a couple of newly-weds who take up residence in a modest bungalow in an ultra fashionable summer resort. Their efforts to keep abreast of society's fast whirl results in a host of laughable complications. Finally they decide that it is more important to be happy than fashionable. "Let's Be Fashionable" is a treat for all movie devotees and should not be overlooked. Don't miss it. The fifth episode of "The Branded Four," and other well selected subjects round out a good program which will be repeated to-night and to-morrow.—Advt.

SIR HENRY DRAYTON HAS A BUSY DAY

Discusses Development of the Waterpowers of the Rideau.

Sir Henry Drayton, M.P., minister of finance, had a very busy time on Tuesday. All morning he was at the Board of Trade rooms, and received a large number of citizens who had matters to bring to his attention. Among those who had matters of importance to discuss were J. M. Campbell, president of the Kingston Board of Trade, and Lt.-Col. Andrew Gray, M.P.P., Westport. Lt.-Col. Gray is greatly interested in the development of the waterpowers of the Rideau system, and he believes that by damming the upper reaches and lakes a reserve supply of water would be obtained that would be ample to meet all power requirements during the dry spells of any year. He would overcome the objections of farmers by buying up any land liable to flood from the construction of dams. Lt.-Col. Gray is also interested in the proposals to construct the railway connecting the C.N.R. and the G.T.R. This evening Sir Henry Drayton will witness a signalling drill by the naval cadets and the high school cadets and at a meeting in the Army and Navy hall he will present the A. and N. silver medals to Brig.-Gen. W. B. King, C.M.G., G.O.C., M.D., No. 3, and to Col. Hill, A.A.G.

The Austrian Government is said to be preparing a manifesto to the League of Nations asking that Austria be attached to Germany.

TOWNSHIPS OBJECT TO PAYING ROAD LEVY

Pittsburg and Kingston Have Entered Appeal to Municipal Board.

The townships of Kingston and Pittsburg have objected to paying the government assessment for the new highway which is now under construction and have made official objection to the Ontario Municipal and Railway Board. Nickle, Farrel and Day are acting for the two townships. When speaking to a member of the Kingston township council, the Whig learned that the county of Frontenac had been assessed by the Ontario Government a certain sum for the construction of the road. The county councillors, especially those from the back townships, thought that as the road was a benefit to the townships of Kingston and Pittsburg they should pay the whole assessment. In the township of Kingston there is about seven and three-quarter miles of new roadway, and in Pittsburg there will be two highways, namely the Kingston-Ottawa, which will be constructed next year, and the Kingston-Gananoque highway which is now under construction.

One councillor stated that he understood that the government had a scheme underway by which the whole cost of the road would be looked after by the government.

AT ST. MARY'S-OF-THE-LAKE.

Children Had a Merry Time at the Christmas Festivities.

Christmas was most beautifully observed at St. Mary's-of-the-Lake Orphanage, and the children will cherish the memory of Christmas, 1920, as being one of the happiest days of their lives.

The day was ushered in with three masses, the celebrant being Rev. Father Joseph. The musical numbers were rendered by the sisters and children's choir. The chapel never presented a more beautiful appearance. The altar, resplendent with lights, the decorations of holly and pine branches, the Christmas crib, wherein reposed the image of the Infant Jesus, the sound of the sweet, fresh voices of the little ones pouring forth hymns of praise, all left but little to the imagination whereby one might be carried back in spirit to the birth of the Divine Infant.

Then there was the day itself, surely, from all appearance, one that brought joy and happiness to those connected with the institution as well as the children themselves. A beautiful breakfast was first in order, which was followed by music and games in both wards. Next in point of interest was the Christmas dinner. Tables were laden with turkey, vegetables, cranberries, plum pudding, etc., a generous supply for everyone. It would be a pretty sick child indeed who did not eat his fill on Christmas day, and there were no absentees, and all lived up for the feast.

The annual Christmas entertainment was held in the reception room at 2 p.m., so that the members of the Orphans' Guild, as well as other friends of the institution, might have the opportunity of witnessing the performance. "A Day in the Woods," a neat little operetta, was acted by the children, which called forth words of praise. Then all repaired to the boys' recreation room, where good old Santa Claus awaited the merry group of children, indeed his bag of joy-producing must have been well stocked when he reached "the lake," for many a young heart was made jubilant when it beheld the Christmas tree, laden with huge stockings packed with oranges, nuts, candies, articles of clothing, toys, etc., a real store of treasure for everyone. The number of friends who cheered the little ones by their presence thoroughly enjoyed the happy scene.

The donations of funds and food-stuffs were most generous. To the mother and the ladies of the Orphans' Guild and to all friends who aided in any way in making it a "red-letter day" in the lives of the children the sisters extend their most heartfelt thanks.

Police!

When sober he acts quite forlorn, He is a silent coot, But you should hear him blow his horn When he's out on a toot.

Phelan Hughes, Hamilton, who spent the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes, Princess street, left yesterday for his home in Hamilton and will leave the office of next week to visit his sister, Mrs. Kenneth Keeler, Las Cruces, New Mexico.
