

Among the Movie Stars

Earle Williams and Little Dickie Hedrick in "The Diamond Queen"

Florence Vidor

Marjorie Daw, Noah Beery and Pat O'Malley in "Dinky"

Buster Keaton and Sybil Sealey in "One Week"

Struonous Life for Serial Stars—Williams Fond of Children—A Canadian Star—Comedy of Married Life—A Tense Moment.

It requires a great deal of nerve, primarily, to be a serial star. Not the sort of nerve described as "gall" or "crust," but the kind which designates daring and valor. To be a serial star one must know how to act, must be an athlete and an acrobat; but above all he must possess not a trace of fear and a willingness to take any and all chances.

Eileen Sedgwick, the youngest of serial stars, whose latest success is scored in "The Diamond Queen," comprising thirty-six reels of dare-devil action, demonstrated the fact that she possessed more than ordinary share of nerve when she was eight years old. She was then known as Babe Sedgwick (in fact she is still called "Babe" by her friends), and she was the youngest member of the Sedgwick family, which toured the South and West and presented a repertoire of comedies and dramas. Between the act, vaudeville acts were presented, and one of these was a slack wire specialty by a young woman of nineteen. At odd times, and unknown to her father and mother, Eileen, then but eight years old, practiced on the swaying cable. One evening the wire walker was sick and unable to perform. There was no other act to fill up the gap while the scenes were being changed, and Eileen, without a word to anyone, rushed on the stage and performed the act. She fell several times during performance, but undaunted by the accidents she returned to the swinging wire and finished all the stunts in the regular performer's repertoire.

Claire Adams

Eileen Sedgwick

Eileen Sedgwick's biggest film success will undoubtedly be scored in "The Diamond Queen," a serial based on the famous novel, "The Diamond Master," by Jacques Futrell.

Between Acts

Earle Williams, famous star, and Little Dickie Hedrick, who takes a prominent part in his forthcoming feature, "Diamonds Adrift." Dickie is one of the most beautiful children in the movies, and between scenes Earle Williams has taken great delight in playing with the little kiddie.

Claire Adams

Claire Adams, who is seen in the leading feminine role in the sensational feature, "The Money Changers," was born in Winnipeg, Canada. She became a stage actress as a child but abandoned her career to complete her education.

During the war she became a nurse in a Detroit hospital, training for the Red Cross, but at the end of a year her health was broken down and she was sent home. When Miss Adams recovered her health she entered motion picture work, which soon won attention and when the Government put on the Red Cross picture, she was given her big chance. Her experience as a nurse helped her to make more than good.

She was then discovered by Benjamin B. Hampton when he was looking for an actress to play "Leonore Anderson," in his "Riders of the Dawn." She made such an impression in this picture that she was signed up on a long term contract. Her latest important role is that of the heroine in "The Money Changers," which is from the pen of Upton Sinclair.

One Week

Buster Keaton, the well known comedian, and Sybil Sealey in one of the opening scenes from "One Week," a two reel comedy of married life that is the first of a series of two reel Buster Keaton comedies. Assisted by comely Sybil Sealey, the inimitable Keaton is shown rollicking through two reels of irresistible fun-making in which all the snags of matrimonial infelicity are encountered.

Buster Keaton got some totally unexpected advertising for the third of his series of laughivities, "The Scarecrow."

With big Joe Roberts, whose towering bulk forms the humorous foil for Keaton's antics, Buster motored into the country near Los Angeles, during an intermission in the filming of "The Scarecrow." A wreck of an old guardian in a golden-topped wheat field caught his eye because of its forlorn appearance. The farmer, recognizing the young comedian, grinningly offered him the scarecrow, which became a studio prop.

Several days later Buster Keaton driving by the field saw a big sign harking on the skeleton poles where the style atrocity had been. It read: "Former occupant now appearing with Buster Keaton in 'The Scarecrow.'"

Florence Vidor

Florence Vidor, whose beauty is of a fine "spirituelle" type, first attained fame playing in "If I Were King." She played the little Parisian dress-maker who rides to the guillotine with the ill fated Sydney Carton. She played the feminine leads in "Old Wives for New" and "Till I Come Back To You," and has appeared in practically all of King Vidor's photoplays. She is at present being featured by Thomas H. Ince in "Beau Reveil" and "The Woman's Life," not released as yet. Her last screen appearance was in "The Jack-Knife Man."

Dinky

This scene from "Dinky" depicts a tense dramatic situation at the door of a den in which Miss Marjorie Daw is held prisoner. Pat O'Malley, the hero, finds the hiding place and just as he is about to rescue the girl, Noah Beery, in the role of a Malay king of a band of smugglers living in San Francisco's Chinatown, steps into the scene.

SMILES

NOT PRUDISH, MERELY TECHNICAL

Miss de Colto: Here's my latest photograph. What do you think of it?
Mr. Shutter (the amateur photographer): Pretty fair. Little too much exposure, though.

FOR HER TO SAY

Lady (to tramp): Well, have you got through?
Hebe: If you mean have I finished de plate, mum, I says yes; but wedder I am t'rough'er not is fer you ter say, mum.

To a lover there are but two places in the world—one where his sweet heart is and the other where she isn't.

People who agree to everything you say are about as entertaining as a phonograph.

And some girls would make better housekeepers if they knew as much about pastry as they do about passementerie.

Lazy men bump up against a lot of criticism, but they usually live long and contented lives.

Seven Sentence Sermon

Never think it wasted time to submit yourself to any influence which may bring upon you any noble feeling.—Ruskin.

There is nothing impossible, even in the sphere of the cleansing of a man's own life and the empowering of a man's own faith, to the creative power of faith.—Robert E. Speer.

Were half the power that fills the world with terror,
Were half the wealth bestowed on camps and courts
Given to redeem the human mind from error,
There were no need of arsenals or forts.
—Longfellow.

There is a broad line of famine sufferers today that would reach around the world, allowing two feet for each victim.—Rev. W. W. Pincock.

I know that there is nothing better for them, than to rejoice, and to do good so long as they live.—Ecc. 3:12.

You never know what life means till you die;
Even throughout life, 'tis death that makes life live.
—Robert Browning.

My lord Cardinal, there is one fact which you seem entirely to have forgotten; God is a sure paymaster: He may not pay at the end of every week, or month or year; but I charge you, remember that He pays in the end.—Anne of Austria.

GANANOQUE

Jan. 5.—At the annual business meeting of the Catholic Literary and Athletic Club, these officers were elected: Honorary president, Rev. Father J. P. Kehoe; honorary vice-president, Rev. Father Byrne; president, Thomas D. O'Connor; vice-president, Wilfred Morgan; recording secretary, Emilio Vincent; financial secretary, Frederick Mooney; treasurer, John Smith; marshal, Capt. D. J. Kenney; guard, William O'Hearn.

The following have been duly elected as members of the Gananoque Roman Catholic Separate School Board: For two years, Rev. J. P. Kehoe, Ose Ledger, Robert Wiley; for one year, William O'Hearn, John Phillips and Alex. C. Dorey.

The local public and high schools re-opened yesterday morning with a full staff of teachers and an attendance well up to normal.

Dr. J. P. Sinofair is confined to his home quite seriously ill of pneumonia.

The works of the Skinner Company, Limited, which closed down during Christmas week, have closed down for another week, or possibly longer.

The St. Andrew's church hockey club has been re-organized with the following officers: President, J. C. Linklater, secretary-treasurer, H. E. Marlow; committee, Russell Emery, W. Luxenburg, Rev. C. E. Kidd; manager, Geo. W. Gibson, captain, A. Hagen, representatives on central executive of hockey league, H. F. Ward and T. C. Robb.

Walter Staebler, Hay Island, has gone for a three months' business trip in the United States.

The Catholic Literary and Athletic Clubs Hockey Association has been formed. Officers: President, L. P.

Shortall; vice-president, W. J. O'Brien; secretary-treasurer, G. L. Littlejohn; manager, Alex. C. Dorey; captain, Harold McCahey; delegates to Central Hockey executive committee, A. C. Dorey and Harold McCahey.

J. G. McCahey, Gouverneur, N.Y., is spending some time here at his old home at the Provincial Hotel. Miss Lehigh, Brockville, spent a short time during the past week with Miss Essie DeLong, King street, John Bedford, located for some time past in Toronto, is spending some time here with his wife and family, T. B.

Lambert, spending the holiday season here with his wife and family, has returned to his duties in Windsor. Wm. Haynes, Oshawa, an old Gananoquan, spent the past week in town with his sister, Mrs. Thomas Baker, King street.

COMPARE PRICES--VALUES

During these days of fevered "Special Sales" it is wise to remember when we advertise a Sale it IS a sale of honestly reduced prices. We are positive that our newly revised prices are lower than those charged elsewhere and we furthermore insist that if you do compare our values your own judgment will return the verdict.

"BUY AT JENKINS NOW"

SUITS AND OVERCOATS LESS 20% to 30% DISCOUNT

Every Suit and Overcoat of our regular stock priced up to $50.00 can be bought for 20% under regular price.

All our highest class Fashion-Craft Quality Clothes, selling ordinarily at over $50.00, are now reduced 25%.

Late last Fall we bought a stock of high-grade Overcoats from a manufacturer at greatly reduced prices. We still have a few of these exceptional bargains left at less than usual wholesale prices.

—$19.50 to $31.50—

IF YOU NEED CLOTHING SEE THESE BARGAINS

WINTER UNDERWEAR LESS 20%

The mild weather has left our stocks of Underwear almost untouched, so we are forced to sacrifice it now. Penman's, Turnbull's, all the best lines.

SWEATERS and SWEATER COATS 20% to 40% DISCOUNT

We have a huge stock of splendid garments priced away down for January clearance.

SEE OUR WINDOWS FOR MORE PARTICULARS

English and Canadian Hats and Caps Less 20% Discount

E. P. JENKINS CO. THE BETTER VALUE STORE

Fashion-Craft Made-to-Measure Clothing Less 20% Discount

Why not give the children

POSTUM CEREAL

instead of tea or coffee

Doctors and educators advise against tea and coffee for growing youngsters

"There's a Reason"

Executive of hockey league, H. F. Ward and T. C. Robb. Walter Staebler, Hay Island, has gone for a three months' business trip in the United States. The Catholic Literary and Athletic Clubs Hockey Association has been formed. Officers: President, L. P. Shortall; vice-president, W. J. O'Brien; secretary-treasurer, G. L. Littlejohn; manager, Alex. C. Dorey; captain, Harold McCahey; delegates to Central Hockey executive committee, A. C. Dorey and Harold McCahey. J. G. McCahey, Gouverneur, N.Y., is spending some time here at his old home at the Provincial Hotel. Miss Lehigh, Brockville, spent a short time during the past week with Miss Essie DeLong, King street, John Bedford, located for some time past in Toronto, is spending some time here with his wife and family, T. B. Lambert, spending the holiday season here with his wife and family, has returned to his duties in Windsor. Wm. Haynes, Oshawa, an old Gananoquan, spent the past week in town with his sister, Mrs. Thomas Baker, King street.