

Among the MOVIE STARS

John Henry Jr.

A New Star - Around the World - Cold Responsible for This Star - Canavan - Polly With a Past - Winner of the Golden Apple - A Baby Star.

A NEW star will shine forth from the screen within the next few weeks. Alice Calhoun, who will be seen in "The Dress of Destiny."

Like many other screen favorites who have become stars Miss Calhoun began with an O. Henry subject, a two-real classic based on one of the stories of that master writer. She was selected for the leading role in "The Dream," the last story penned by O. Henry. Her work in the short subject, her unusual beauty, and most of all her keen perception and ability to interpret the most difficult and feeling emotions made her success assured. "I realize that success is not gained in a single day or a week," she said during a recent interview. "I know I am fortunate in being started, and from the work I've done so far I know that the difficult part is ahead of me. I am going to make every effort to justify the public's confidence in my ability. I am going to do my best all the time."

Elsie Ferguson
Elsie Ferguson has only recently returned from a six-months trip around the world during which she visited the Philippines, Japan, China, Ceylon, Egypt and, after landing in Marseilles, spent a month in Paris. After a brief sojourn at her New York home, she left for Hollywood, Cal., where she will make a screen version of Arnold Bennett's play, "Sacred and Profane Love," in which she appeared on the stage last season.

Alice Calhoun

While in China Miss Ferguson was the guest of one of the leading families in the country, spending some time on their estates in the interior and obtaining a view of Chinese life and customs which is not often accorded to Occidentals. She is most enthusiastic in her praise of the Chinese as a race and declares that they are much happier as a nation than the peoples to whom civilization has brought the rush of rapid progress.

In Paris Miss Ferguson visited most of the celebrated dressmakers and brought back to the United States many interesting gowns which will be seen in her forthcoming pictures.

Tom Moore in "Caravan"

Katherine Perry

Tom Moore.
Here is Tom Moore in all the glory of his new picture, "Caravan," from the pen of Rupert Hughes. Tom has a chance in this picture to portray a role which is new to him and which fits him to the "T" which begins his first name—the role of a real, honest-to-goodness, no-fancy-frills Irishman. Since he was born in County Meade,

Elsie Ferguson

Louise Lovely

need it be said that he enjoys the part?
Louise Lovely
It was a cold that was responsible for Louise Lovely's debut in pictures.

Ina Claire and Ralph Graves in "Polly with a Past"

The charming ingenue who had come from Australia, her native land, to tour the states in a vaudeville engagement, contracted a heavy and prolonged cold, which so interfered with her voice that she was obliged to cancel her engagements. Just about this time she received an offer from the manager of a film company and accepted it. The concert stage lost a most promising follower for little Miss Lovely had inherited the voice of her mother, who was a famous opera singer, but then the screen gained through the other's loss and so who will complain? Certainly not the million of photoplay goers all over the world with whom Miss Lovely has long been a favorite, and who are looking forward to "The Little Grey Mouse," which promises to be a most unusual production based as it is upon a story of tremendous possibilities.

Ina Claire and Ralph Graves
Ina Claire, the beautiful young star of the stage and screen, and Ralph Graves, her leading man, are shown here in a charming love scene from the screen version of David Belasco's theatrical success, "Polly with a Past," by George Middleton and Guy Bolton. As Polly Shannon, an Ohio Clergyman's daughter, who obtains employment as a maid in a young bachelor's household and later impersonates a French adventuress in order to rescue another young man from the evil consequences of an ill-requited love affair, Miss Claire achieves one of the biggest successes of her career.

Katherine Perry
Katherine Perry, famous Follies and Midnight Frolic beauty, who last winter was awarded the golden apple for being the most beautiful girl in New York, will soon be seen in the leading feminine role in Owen Moore's forthcoming picture, "Lead Me Your Wife." Although well known to the public for her work in musical comedies and other stage productions, Miss Perry's present role with Owen Moore is the first big part she has ever played in motion pictures. Although she appeared in support of Mr. Moore in the latter's recent picture, "Sooner or Later."

Miss Perry's rise in the theatrical profession has been almost meteoric. She was given her first chance in a small part in the Century Roof Revue four years ago. Because of her exquisite beauty and nimble feet she won instant favor with the public and the following year Ziegfeld offered her a part in the Follies. That season and during the two that followed Miss Perry had the reputation of being one of the most beautiful young women the stage has ever known.

"We must have a cute baby right away for this picture," said Mack Sennett, several months ago, when he was preparing one of his laughing films. "Who knows where we can get a baby actor right now?"
"Well, how will that baby do?" said Comedian Billy Armstrong, as a joke, pointing to a little two-year blonde baby boy, who was playing about on the stage. The little boy was with his mother, Mrs. Henry G. Davis, who was visiting the studio for the first time. Mr. Sennett jumped at the suggestion in earnest, the mother consented, the child was placed in front of the camera and told to snatch at a fork held in the hand of his uncle, Billy Armstrong. The child snatched at the fork most naturally, and did it again, as cameras clicked. The film when projected, showed that little Don Marion Davis, "John Henry, Jr.," now is his motion picture name, is a born actor. He worked in many scenes in "Back to the Kitchen," and has just finished a sensational appearance in "Married Life," Sennett's latest film comedy.
