BANQUET AT BROCKVILLE INCIDENTS OF THE DAY

To Mark the Centenary of Brockville Recorder—Banquet and Presentations.

Kingston newspaper men were in Brockville on Tuesday evening to attend a banquet given by the Board of Trade, to mark the centenary of the Brockville Recorder. It was a splendid event, attended by over two hundred citizens and a large number of guests from various places in Eastern Ontario. The spread was given by the Daughters of the Empire, and the catering was of the very highest character. The banquet was held in the beautiful Victoria hall. W. A. Lewis occupied the chair, and Mayor Dobie, on behalf of the citizens, presented Hon. George P. Graham, the proprietor of the Recorder, with a magnificent silver loving cup. Addresses were made by P. D. Ross, of the Ottawa Journal; Col. George Ham, of the C.P.R.; Hon. Mr. Graham, H. A. Stewart, K.C., A. E. Donovan, ex-M.P.P., Toronto, and quite a number of old-time newspaper men, including J. A. Mackenzie, Brockville; T. Southworth, Toronto; W. Gibbons, Cornwall; J. Jonas Bell, Ottawa, and J. G. Elliott, Kingston.

The happy event concluded shortly after midnight. On the previous night, Hon. Mr. Graham gave a dinner to the staff and employees, at which W. J. Moore, managing director, was presented with a beautiful gold watch by the staff, and W. J. Reynolds, for forty-seven years an employee of the Recorder, was remembered by Hon. Mr. Graham with another gold watch. The staff also gave Mr. Graham a gold composing rule and an address. The occasion was quite unique in its character, and the splendid appreciation shown by the people of Brockville in regard to the occasion, will undoubtedly be a great stimulus in the progress and success of the old-time paper.

POOR RELIEF WORK BY LOCAL LADIES

Mayor Nickle Says City Council Will Grant the Money Required.

There was a meeting of the Poor Relief Society executive on Tuesday afternoon, and owing to the prevalence of illness and unemployment, the energies of the committee are fully occupied. Mrs. John Wright presided, and introduced Mayor Nickle, who told the gathering that if the society attended to all emergency calls demanded by conditions growing out of illness and unemployment, the city council would give it a grant to meet the expense of its work. Mrs. Wright stated that there are at the present time forty-two families receiving emergency assistance and seven aged people. Mayor Nickle's announcement was received with feelings of keen appreciation, for all of the ladies have been doing their utmost this winter, and all of the meetings have been largely attended. There are twenty-five women who hold themselves always in readiness to help the poor. Mrs. Wright attributed this to the keen interest aroused by the action of the Whig in calling for public subscriptions at Christmas time. Mrs. Wright herself has done admirable work, and has had strong support.

An excellent address was given by R. J. Diack on the subject of vocational training, which opened up a discussion that was very interesting. Those taking part were Prof. W. C. Baker, W. J.
