MUCH ADD OVER A CHICKEN

Even the City Council Takes a Hand in the Discussion.

Probably what caused the most discussion in city council, Monday night, outside of the question of abolishing the position of milk inspector, was the chicken that was recently bought on the market and reported as being tubercular, and was later taken from the incinerator to Queen's pathological laboratories and there declared as perfectly fit for human consumption. Ald. Armstrong objected to the city paying the account of five dollars for this pathological examination, but moved against its payment, but could get no seconder. Ald. Craig, chairman of the property and markets committee, said he was responsible for the order given Sanitary Inspector Carson to have the examination made, as he deemed it as his duty to have an investigation as to what was being sold on the public market over which his committee had jurisdiction. So the account was ordered paid, but it is many a day since a mere chicken has been the cause of so much discussion at meetings of the Board of Health and city council.

Ald. Couper raised a question as to a light at the corner of Princess and Nelson streets, which appeared to him as being very dim when lit and not always going at night. Manager Folger, of the public utilities, happened to be in the council chamber, and threw some light upon this matter. He said that this particular lamp was only put up temporarily until the proper one arrived.

Ald. Litton wanted the Board of Works to do some road work away up on Johnson street, and Ald. Angrove said that this matter was under consideration. The Board of Works figured upon getting the necessary stone from the penitentiary.

This report of the health committee was adopted: That the city clerk call for a price to collect the garbage, the price to be given in a bulk sum for one year from April 1st next; the contractor to use the corporation's wagons, and do the work in accordance with garbage by-law; and be under the supervision of the garbage inspector.

This recommendation of the industries committee was adopted: That the industries committee of the city council unite with the industries committee of the Board of Trade to form the industries committee for 1921; that Ald. B. N. Steacy be the chairman of this combined committee; that Ald. Steacy and J. M. Campbell, president of the Board of Trade, be an executive, and that the business of this committee be conducted on the same conditions as last year.

Council approved the following recommendation of the finance committee: That the public free library be paid a sum not to exceed fifty cents per head of the population of this city, this amount to include any expenses in connection with alterations, repairs, etc., to any building.

Calvin Jackson applied for re-appointment as city chimney viewer for 1921 and asked that the charge per fue be fixed at seventy-five cents.

Other communications received were from the Orphans' Home committee asking that it be allowed to hold a tag collection on May 28th, and from the Society of the Children of Mary regarding caring for the city's poor.

In attendance were Mayor Nickle and Alds. Armstrong, Angrove, Chown, Clow, Corbett, Couper, Craig, Driscoll, Graham, Fleet, Kent, Litton, O'Connor, Potter, Robertson, Rodger, Sargent, Smith, Steacy, and Stroud.

Two resolutions were passed on motion of Alds. Chown and Clow, in regard to legislation about fire departments. The member for Kingston was instructed to support the amendment to the firemen's hours of labor act, and in the event of it not passing to support an amendment making the one-day-off-in-seven apply only to cities of over 100,000 population.

ERECT A MEMORIAL ARCH

Imposing Pile Will Commemorate the Cadets Who Died in the War.

The campaign to secure $60,000 for the erection of a memorial arch to perpetuate the memory of Royal Military College cadets and ex-cadets, who died on active service in the Great War and in previous wars, seems assured of success. Although the campaign was started but a short while ago, $25,000 have so far been subscribed.

That this amount had been contributed, and that the design, which will be definitely selected, would be made known shortly, were the salient points in an address delivered by Lieut.-Col. F. Logie Armstrong, Director of Records, at a luncheon of the members of the Ottawa-branch of the Association of ex-cadets of Royal Military College. W. A. Perry, commissioner of the Royal Mounted Police, presided at the luncheon. About thirty-five ex-cadets attended, including General G. W. Cartwright, Col. Oiler, Col. Duncan MacPherson, Major Austin Gillies.

Col. MacPherson, one of the R.M.C. "originals," better known among ex-cadets as "The Old Eighteen," entertained his conferees with a number of interesting reminiscences of his college days at Kingston. Col. MacPherson, a member of the original cadets, who formed the first class at Royal Military College back in 1878, when the college was first established, gave a vivid retrospect of life at the college in the early days.

The memorial arch will be placed at the outer entrance to the Royal Military College grounds, and will occupy a conspicuous spot. It will be a most imposing pile, built of Kingston limestone. The names of all cadets and ex-cadets, who were killed in the great war and other wars, will be inscribed on beautiful bronze tablets affixed to the arch.

No less than twelve architects submitted designs, and it is understood that the members of the committee in charge of the plans for the erection of the memorial arch have about made up their minds as to the design which will be accepted. It is reported that the memorial arch will embody a few of the architectural lines of the famous Arc de Triomphe, in Paris.

ECONOMY AND MERIT

Combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla, the Blood Medicine.

In spite of the increased costs and great scarcity of important roots, herbs, etc., the standard of quality and the quantity of Hood's Sarsaparilla have been faithfully maintained and are to-day the same as when this medicine was first perfected and offered to the public.

A bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla will average to last three or four weeks, while others last but a week or two, and some even less time.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is effective as a blood purifying and tonic medicine and also after the Flu, Grip, fevers and other debilitating, blood-poisoning diseases. It purifies the blood, creates an appetite, and makes food taste good.

TRIPLE ELOPEMENT

Father and Two Daughters Marry Unknown to Each Other.
Atlantic City, N.J., Feb. 1.—A triple elopement involving three members of one household, none of whom knew of the other's intentions, was disclosed with the announcement that William M. Chase, retired New York manufacturer, and his daughters, Edith and Evelyn, had married their respective betrothed within twenty-four hours.

Miss Edith Chase started the matrimonial race by slipping away from home, ostensibly for a shopping trip. She married Robert Crofts. Mr. Chase quietly left home to meet Mrs. Elizabeth Obergfell. They were married. On returning home they were greeted by Mr. Chase's other daughter, Evelyn, who had become the bride at Greenwich, Conn., of Donald Riddle, eldest son of former Mayor William Riddle.
