KILLED HUSBAND INSTEAD OF WIFE

Derrick Tennant, Caintown, Mistook Robert Wood For the Latter's Wife When He Fired At Him In the Darkness.

Brockville, Feb. 8.—It develops that Robert Wood, who was shot and killed at his home near Caintown yesterday morning by Derrick Tennant, his wife's uncle, met the death intended for Mrs. Wood. Tennant, who had risen ahead of the other occupants of the house and dressed himself, stationed himself at the door of the bed-room, with a shot-gun in his hands, and made a noise by calling. He told County Constable W. I. Mallory, of Mallorytown, who afterwards placed him under arrest, that he fully expected that Mrs. Wood, against whom he had an imagined grievance, would answer his call. Instead, her husband came from their bed-room, right across the hall from Tennant's room, and clad in his night-clothes, made to cross the hall to reach the old man's room. In the darkness the latter believed that he was Mrs. Wood and just as he reached the head of the staircase, fired twice. One charge struck Wood in the left upper chest and the other in the right chest. He staggered forward and fell down the staircase, dead.

Perceives His Mistake.

Perceiving that he had made a mistake, the murderer made for the bed-room in which Mrs. Wood remained with a view to killing her as well. In the meantime, roused by the shooting, she had opened a rear window and jumped a distance of some 12 or 15 feet to the ground. Taking to her heels, she ran to the nearby house of George Leeder, where she received shelter.

Tennant then made his way to the barn on the farm and set fire to it. The fine structure was totally consumed, together with its contents of hay and implements, the cattle being, however, saved by neighbors.

Crossing to the house of James A. Ferguson, Tennant there made an attempt to shoot himself, after confessing to the crime. His gun was, however, wrested from him. He then went to the wood-shed and made several attempts to cut his throat with a pocket-knife, jabbing at it with the end of the knife. Again, his attempt was frustrated. The wounds which he inflicted were slight and he will recover.

Constable W. I. Mallory brought Tennant to Brockville, where he lodged him in the cells at the police station. Later he appeared before Police Magistrate J. Albert Page and was charged with wilful murder. For a time he appeared in danger of collapsing, but recovered himself. Tennant was remanded until the 15th inst., and removed to the Counties jail. He is 79 years old today.

In the jump from the window of her house, Mrs. Wood was injured about the head.

The house where the crime was committed is located in the second concession of Yonge Front on lot 13 and about four miles north of Mallorytown.

Mrs. Wood avers that Tennant had made threats against herself, and precaution was taken to guard against his ungovernable fits of temper.

Treated for Self-inflicted Wounds.

Brockville, Feb. 8.—Derrick Tennant, charged with the murder on yesterday morning, of Robert Wood, Caintown, is now a patient at the General hospital, where his self-inflicted wounds are being treated. In spite of his seventy-nine years, no serious results are expected. He is under constant guard.

SAYS MIDDLE PARTY EXISTS IN IRELAND

London Sunday Telegram Asserts it is Executing Justice.

London, Feb. 8.—The Sunday Telegram, owned by Horatio W. Bottomley, editor of John Bull, asserts the existence of a third party in Ireland, "concerning itself with executing justice, according to its own views, on any persons who commit alleged crimes and escape punishment."

The newspaper says the party is styled "The Middle Party" and that it meets frequently, its headquarters are in North Wall, where there are conferences with military officers of high standing. The names of either Sinn Feiners or government forces charged with murder are produced and judged. If persons so named are found guilty, sentence is pronounced and the victims soon afterwards are found dead.

The correspondent says the party has ramifications in the provinces and is composed mainly of middle class business men. He cites instances of executions by the party, but withholds names.

Monroe, La., Feb. 8.—An unidentified white man, nude and dying, his skull crushed and his flesh burned from his waist down, was found yesterday in the woods near here. The man, believed by local officers to have come here from Houston, Texas, died without regaining consciousness.

Evidence that coal oil had been poured on his body was found by officers, and a smoldering fire near where the man was found indicated that the man had been thrown on it. Tattoo marks "W.
