His Master's Voice
RED SEAL RECORDS
Caruso, Enrico

87321—A Dream—That human being who never has been haunted throughout the day by the memory of dreams, is lacking in human experience, has missed, indeed, much of the beauty and the mystery of life. Here is a song, the memory song of a love-dream which, as Caruso interprets it, never could have found its inspiration, perhaps, under the bare light of day and the cold processes of reason. It is a song that practically everyone knows, for the concert singers of a generation have made it familiar throughout the modern world. But you never have heard it as Caruso sings it, and you may never hear it so sung again.

AT ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH
Anniversary Sermons Were Preached by Rev. A. L. Burch, Toronto.

Special services to mark the one hundred and seventeenth anniversary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, were held on Sunday and the occasion was one of great inspiration to the congregation. The services were conducted by Major, the Rev. A. L. Burch, M.A., Toronto, and special music, rendered by the choir under the direction of Charles E. Milner, A.R.O.C.

St. Andrew's church holds a very important place in the history of Kingston, in its religious life and in education. The church site was granted by King George III, July 6th, 1804, and Rev. John Barclay, M.A., ordained by the Presbytery of Edinburgh, was the first minister. Those who followed him were Rev. John Machar, M.A., 1827-1863; Rev. William Maxwell Inglis, M.A., F.R.S.E., 1863-1871; Rev. Dr. Thomas G. Smith, 1874-1883; Rev. John Mackie, M.A., 1885-1911; Rev. S. J. Moore Compton, B.D., 1911-1915; Rev. John W. Stephen, appointed Nov. 21st, 1916, the present incumbent.

Queen's University was born in St. Andrew's church at a meeting held on July 9th, 1829, and presided over by John Machar. The first synod was constituted at St. Andrew's on June 8th, 1831.

The original edifice was burned in 1858, and the present church was dedicated by the Rev. Principal Grant, moderator of the general assembly, Feb. 16th, 1890. In addition to being the repository of valuable memorial tablets erected to the memory of former pastors and members of the congregation, it contains the colors of the 146th battalion, C.E.F., a soldier's memorial tablet, donated by H. C. Nickle, and beautiful memorial windows in honor of R.M.C. cadets and members of the R.C.H.A. who served in the great war.

Rev. Mr. Burch's Appeal.
Reviewing social relationships, industrial world conditions and international affairs, Rev. Mr. Burch, at the morning service, made a powerful appeal for a fuller manifestation of Christianity in the individual life and deplored the worship of materialism as being the foundation of all present day evils. He took for his text Jeremiah XVIII:6, "O house of Israel, cannot I do with you as this potter? saith the Lord. Behold as the clay is in the hands of the potter, so are ye in mine hand, O house of Israel."

The prophet saw that destruction was threatening Israel, and he desired to show God's absolute power over the destiny of nations. As the potter, God would destroy what he found defective and restore it again. The speaker found the truth of Jeremiah's warning to Israel and its fulfillment in the destruction of the Roman Empire and in the last great war, when the whole world was involved. But the world has not learned the lesson. Jeremiah was called a pessimist and ignored because he spoke the truth. It is always so when a speaker brings a direct message that cuts home. Rome was destroyed as the potter's vessel and the church of Rome gathered up the fragments and built up a new nation or group of nations which in turn were destroyed in the sixteenth century. It was not until the nineteenth century that the peace message came and the temple of peace was erected at The Hague. "But," said the speaker, "it was a cursed peace, for at the very same time the forces of war were accumulating. Were we prepared for that message of peace? Lord Roberts knew that we were not and wore out his soul trying to convince those who would not hear. He died with a broken heart because he knew England had been deserted when she should have been prepared.

Material Success.
We have placed too high an estimate upon material success and have seen kinds of industry created in a short time. By this we have measured success, but we were spiritually blind and constructed a false standard of success measured by material things. We even speak of "the better classes in the church and better classes of membership." Whom did we mean? Did we mean those living clean lives and without blood taint of heredity? Have you in mind virtue and are you thinking of purity? Too often we meant those who paid most to the church funds and whose names spelt gold. In old Testament times the blessings of God were spelt in pureness of blood. We call ourselves great or successful or fortunate just as we are able to buy and we have laid the burden upon the fathers and mothers who are the only real assets of the land and made it harder for those upon whom it was laid. The big spaces in the world were for those who needed them least. That was the condition before the war.

The Evening Service.
At the evening service Rev. Mr. Burch spoke very effectively upon the crucifixion of Christ and gave his interpretation of the significance of the inscription "Christ, the King of the Jews," in Latin, Hebrew and Greek.

At the close of the service a musical recital was given. Vocal solos by Angus Orr, baritone, who sang, "It is enough." (Elijah) in splendid voice, Miss Edith S. Scott, soprano, who sang "These Are They" (Holy City) very sweetly. Miss Goldie Bartels, violinist, played "Andante" Mendelssohn, beautifully, and the organist, Mr. Milner, rendered Sonata No. 1 (Gulimant), Andante (Wely), "Allegretto" (Lemmens), and "Postlude" (Smart), with great execution.

The church was thronged at both services, and the recital was greatly enjoyed.

Confirmation at St. George's.
The apostolic rite of confirmation was administered by the Bishop of Ontario to a class of candidates in St. George's cathedral on Sunday evening. The bishop preached on the story of the laying on of hands, by St. Paul, the simple rite used through the ages since for the conveying of the gift of the Holy Spirit given to the church at Pentecost. It had later become the rule that at the time of confirmation, or the laying on of hands, the young people should renew publicly the promises made for them in their baptism. Addressing the candidates the bishop said it was a never-to-be-forgotten day in their lives. They would promise for themselves allegiance to Christ and His Church and receive, if they came in humble faith, the gift of the Holy Spirit to strengthen them against the temptations of life. He exhorted them to form habits of prayer, Bible reading and attendance at the services of the church.

Spoke on Work in India.
Dr. Margaret O'Hara spoke on India on Sunday evening, to a large congregation at Chalmers church, and told a beautiful story of her work there, telling of the various types of race and religions, also the various types of work, education, evangelical, industrial, social and medical. The address was listened to with keen interest.

THE CARR-HARRIS APPEAL
Suit for $100,000 for Commission and Influence Falls.

Toronto Telegram.
Robert Carr-Harris a Toronto contractor and formerly a civil engineer on railways in China, sued the Canadian General Electric Co. to recover the balance of $100,000 commission on which he has already been paid $17,000, for shell contracts secured for the company through an introduction to those in authority in England. Mr. Harris was a relation of Lord Buckmaster's, and through the avenue of that relationship he got introductions which might not otherwise have been obtained.

Justice Kelly dismissed his claim at the trial on the ground that the contract between Harris and the company was contrary to public policy. Just what the Appellate Division has done with the case seems to be in doubt, though five written reasons for judgment were handed down. Chief Justice Meredith, speaking for the court, stated that the appeal was dismissed, Justice Lennox dissenting.

At the trial Justice Kelly had said that if the contract was not contrary to public policy, Harris should get $17,000 more than he had received. In the Appellate Court, three of the judges, Justices Middleton, Riddell and Lennox, say that there has been no infringement of public policy. Two, Chief Justice Meredith and Justice Latchford, agree with Justice Kelly that public policy was infringed.

Two of the judges, Justices Lennox and Middleton, state that Harris should receive $17,000 more than he has. Chief Justice Meredith and Justice Riddell say that he earned no commissions.

"That which the plaintiff desired, sought and contracted to sell, and which alone was of any use to the defendants, and so the only substantial consideration for their contract to buy, was the influence of one of the highest ministers of the crown in the British government (Lord Buckmaster, Chancellor) and of other persons in high official standing in Great Britain, an influence to be procured in the one instance, through the ties of family connection, and in the other those of personal acquaintanceship."

"Tell that to the marines," the Chief Justice says he is tempted to say in answer to a suggestion that a company capable of manufacturing ammunition in enormous quantities, needed such influence to get an attentive and anxious hearing at a time when British armies were in danger of disastrous defeat for want of shells. Especially, he remarks, a company, such as the defendants, "headed by the capable and persistent president they had, and one who was both a member of the upper house and an officer of high rank—even if only what is called 'honorary' in the Canadian militia."

Justice Riddell says the plaintiff was but a fly on the wheel in the securing of contracts.

Justice Lennox would reverse the trial judgment, and direct judgment to be ordered for the plaintiff for $17,629.66 with interest from Sept. 5th, 1917.

Justice Middleton finds nothing improper in the transaction. He says: "No one in authority was to be improperly influenced, no public servant was to be called upon to depart from his primary obligation to the public. I am glad to reach this conclusion, as it is not a pleasant thing to listen to an able counsel denouncing the infamy of conduct to which his client is a party as a means of escaping liability."

W. E. Bateman delivered to the Chapman Farmers' Club on Monday a calf five weeks old which weighed 210 pounds. The price received was fourteen cents per pound.

ONTARIO FARM LAND WORTH $70 AN ACRE

Values Increase During 1920, But Live Stock Prices Decrease.

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—The average values of farm land in Canada were higher in 1920, as also were farm wages, but values of farm live stock and of wool showed a considerable decrease, according to the Dominion bureau of statistics annual report for the year in question.

The average values of occupied farm land in Canada, including both improved and unimproved land, together with all classes of farm buildings, was $48 per acre, as compared with $46 in 1919, $41 in 1918, $38 in 1917, $36 in 1915, $35 in 1916. British Columbia led the provinces, owing to the special value of land there for fruit growing. The average value in that province was $175. In Ontario the average value was $79.

Average farm wages increased over the preceding year, Alberta and Saskatchewan farmers paid the highest 1920 farm wages in Canada. The total value of live stock for 1920 mounted to $1,041,246,000, as compared with $1,296,602,000. The total value of farm poultry in 1920 was $37,015,000.

Senator Borah Dislikes
The "Strong Arm Stuff"

Washington, Feb. 28.—"Strong arm stuff" by officials who, without warrant, enter premises, seize books and papers and break up meetings, should be stopped, Senator Borah, Idaho, said Saturday. He introduced a bill to fine and imprison civil or military officers who do these things.

This developed from complaints that department of justice agents used "brutal and illegal methods" in Red raids.

Henry Neeb, farmer, of South Easthope township aged 42, was found dead in his barn.
