Putting Players In Good Condition

To keep a hockey team in good physical condition is no small undertaking. It is only those who have worked with players who have any idea how often different members of the teams break the training rules ordered by the management. For years past the great difficulty at Queen's University has been that the students who took part in the different games would not get down to real hard training. A training table was established at considerable cost, but some of the members of teams did not obey certain rules. While in training, there was an order which said that the players could not smoke and eat certain articles. In some cases it has been shown that directly before the games players have deliberately eaten forbidden foods, and, worst of all, smoked cigarettes. Since "Billy" Hughes was engaged as trainer, there has been a great improvement, but nevertheless there are some players who seem to treat the training rules as a joke. This season it has been clearly shown that the students who lived up to the rules handed out by "Billy" Hughes have been able to stay in the hockey games from start to finish.

Just recently, the Whig was told of how one hockey player, who took part in the senior intercollegiate hockey series, obeyed "Billy" Hughes. The student, who lives a considerable distance from Kingston, decided to remain in the city over the Christmas vacation. The people at home thought they would try to make the Christmas season as pleasant as possible, so they forwarded a stuffed chicken and a Christmas cake. When it arrived the student advised one of his chums that he would have to eat the contents of the parcel as he was in training for the hockey season.

NEWARK IS IN: HERZOG THE PILOT

The circuit of the International League was completed at New York when the club owners in a meeting at the Commodore hotel, awarded the Akron, Ohio, franchise to Newark, N.J. The purchase price was $25,000, it was announced by John Conway Toole, president of the league. The meeting had been called for the purpose of having the club owners vote on the award, as both Newark and Montreal were bidders for the franchise. The decision in favor of Newark was finally reached when it was shown the New Jersey City would make the circuit more compact and do away with a long jump necessary in the case of Montreal. The Canadian city had made a general bid which was said to be $41,000. The new club at Newark will be headed by Roy Mack, son of Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics, who will be associated with Dave Driscoll, of Jersey City. It was said that Charles Herzog would probably be made manager of the Newark club.

President Toole said the International League schedule, which had been prepared with dates for Akron, would be revised immediately and would probably be ready for publication early next week. The league will open the season April 20th.

Betting in England. It appears that racing was illegal in England, except under certain conditions, until the early part of Queen Victoria's reign. The ban was then removed. This information is given by Vigilant, of the London Sportsman, in the course of an article on betting. The writer quoted opposing the idea that all payments made by cheques in connection with betting are recoverable, and despite recent legal developments, does not believe bookmakers have much to fear.

THE NORTH COUNTRY FEARS HOCKEY SCANDAL

Persistent reports from the north indicate that a scandal has developed in N.O.H.A. ranks, players on two senior teams being involved. Angus Campbell, president of the association, returned yesterday from Timmins, and he said that the executive was investigating reports that were in circulation, and which hinted at the "fixing" of several of the games. The names of four players are mentioned in connection with the matter, and it is stated that one of them has taken an affidavit admitting his share. It is declared that two players were to receive $250 each for their efforts to "throw" a game, and it is believed that one of them actually did get this amount.

President Campbell said he had heard all sorts of rumors in connection with the matter while in Porcupine. A meeting of the N.O.H.A. executive was held yesterday afternoon, at which the subject came up, but no official action was taken. Mr. Campbell said it was a serious matter to accuse players of "fixing" games, and the executive would proceed carefully. An investigation is under way. At the same meeting the recent Soo-Sudbury game was under consideration. The referee's report largely blames Sudbury players for the trouble, and it was decided to issue warnings, but not to make any suspensions. The Sudbury players have permission to go on an exhibition tour.

IRELAND A BATTLEGROUND

Influential British Committee Reports of Bolshevik Menace to World.

London, March 4.—Many influential members of both houses of parliament met, the Duke of Northumberland presiding, to consider the subject of the Bolshevist conspiracy against liberty and democratic institutions in general and the safety of the British Empire in particular. The principle feature of a report by the committee which has investigated the subject since the meeting over which the Duke presided last July. Among the speakers were Sir Michael O'Dwyer, formerly governor of the Punjab, who described the state of India; Sir Edward Carson, the Earl of Denbigh, Lord Sydenham and Lord Ebury. All of them emphasized the gravity of the danger and the need for the awakening of the civilized world to it. Speaking of the report, the Duke said it was manifest that there was a conspiracy at work which aimed at the destruction of all religion, all moral laws, all property and all forms of government throughout the United Kingdom, India, the British Colonies, France and America. "Our democratic institutions, and particularly our trade unions," he said, "are to be destroyed and replaced by an autocratic dictatorship of a small minority worse than any tyranny known in history. The Irish rebellion is only part of the movement. Ireland is at the present time the battlefront of the revolutionaries, their immediate aim being to compel us to keep so large a garrison in that country that the forces left in Great Britain will be inadequate to deal with the communist rising which is being prepared. In these circumstances, it will be fatal if the government should show any weakness in dealing with the murder and arson campaign now carried on there, or reward the revolutionaries with concessions, as some peace negotiators suggest.
