A SMOKER AND CONCERT "DARDANELLA" AT GRAND

Held on Friday Evening by "A" Company, Frontenac Regiment.

"A" Company, Frontenac Regiment, held a smoker and concert on Friday evening. Lt. Col. A. W. Gray, M.P.P., came from Toronto, and Gen. Hill, A.A.G., M.D. No. 3, dropped in during the evening and gave an excellent address.

Major F. W. Partridge, O.C. "A" Company, presided, and a very fine programme of music, both vocal and instrumental, was rendered and two boxing bouts were witnessed. Between the numbers Lt.-Col. Gray and Gen. King spoke.

The boxing exhibitions were given by Jack Patrick, of the Naval Brigade, and Pte. Aiken, of the Frontenac Regiment, and Jim Pople and C. Gray. Harold Shaw acted as referee. Some very clever work was shown.

Gen. Hill offered his congratulations to Major Partridge and all of the members of the unit for the progress shown in a few short weeks. He hoped that this would continue and the company become the first in the Frontenac Regiment, if not the best in the district. He was pleased to be able to state that M. D. No. 3 occupied a leading position in the re-organization of the militia. There were some things he found in the district he appreciated and solidly was one of them. Any work undertaken and performed became permanent and there was satisfaction in a situation of that kind. He hoped to see men who served in the late war join the militia units. Their experience was needed to train the young men of to-day so that should they ever be called on for military duty they would have the benefit of such training. These young men were taking the places of the older ones, and it would not be very long when those who served in the last war would feel themselves displaced, so to speak, and among the older veterans. These young men are to be the future platoon commanders.

A pleasing feature of the entertainment was an act by Harold Shaw and "Joe" Jeffries. The latter also sang several songs and gave a number of bugle calls. Songs and recitations were by Messrs. Lennox, Kelly, Cpl. Garrity, McLeod and Campbell; A. Bauder, violin selections. Quartettes were sung by S. and A. Salisbury, Maher and Saunders, and Donald Hurd gave an exhibition with the Indian club.

Lt.-Col. Gray was quick to feel the spirit already shown by "A" Company, a spirit of good fellowship, which he said always was shown from the time he joined it many years ago and when he served as a sergeant. He told of what was being done at Napanee, and Westport and Enterprise and he hoped to see the Kingston company maintain a place of leadership that would spur on the others. Captain Smith, O.C. the 4th machine gun brigade, also spoke, referring to the keen competition shown in the baseball contests now taking place between the city units. Major Partridge responded on behalf of the officers and men of the company. At the conclusion cheers were given for Gen. Hill, Col. Gray and Major Partridge, and the entertainment ended with the singing of "God Save the King."

This Musical Comedy Draws Big House—Appears Again To-night.

"Dardanella," the oriental musical comedy sensation, opened a two-day engagement at the Grand Opera House on Friday evening before a large-sized audience. This show is something different from what has been seen in Kingston in some time. The company is ably supported by Miss Rita Lawrence, who plays the role of Alma, the only child of Petitiones, an heiress to a million, and Elise Edmond, who takes the part of "Dardanella," a Turkish maiden. Miss Edmond is by far the outstanding lady member of the company. She was loudly applauded after singing "Thou Brilliant Bird." Her notes, which resembled the twittering of the birds, were exceptionally well taken.

William Cross, in the role of Joseph Pettibone, kept the audience in a gale of laughter with his funny sayings and actions. He was continually getting into trouble with his wife, Lottie Grant, who ably supported him. Paul Johnston, who played the part of Harry Manners, the man who spent more than he earned, took his part in a capable manner.

The Vaudeville Versatile Trio, composed of Hyland, Grant and Hyland, delighted the audience with their singing and step-dancing. The "Hoosier Dixie Four," with their catchy songs, made one of the hits of the evening.

The company carries a chorus of pretty girls, and the costumes worn throughout are excellent.

"Dardanella" will be shown at the Grand Opera House, Saturday matinee and night.

And a man who is shaving himself with a dull razor can't be blamed for talking like the old nick.

IN MEMORIAM.
In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Sgt. W. J. Stinson, who died in Sydnam Hospital, one year ago to-day:

Dearest husband, thou hast left me, Here thy loss I deeply feel, But it's God who has bereft me, He can't all my sorrows heal.

Peaceful be thy gentle slumber, Peaceful in thy hero's grave, And thou no more canst join our number, And no more our sorrows share.

As he lay in his suit of khaki, His pale hands folded on his breast, My sad heart was asking the Master, Why he was so suddenly called from us?

Sadly missed by his wife and daughters, Jennie and Bertie.

IN MEMORIAM.
In loving memory of our dear son, Joseph Wesley Brigen, who went to rest March 5th, 1921.

God called one more angel child, Amidst his shining band, And so he bent with loving smile, And clasped our darling's hand.

Another little lamb has gone, To dwell with him who gave Another little darling babe Is sheltered in the grave.

OBITUARY

The Late Mrs. James Potter.

Mrs. James Potter, resident of Brockville for many years, passed away Thursday morning at her husband's residence, Brockville, after an illness of over two months and a half, in her sixty-fifth year. The late Mrs. Potter was born at Pittsburg, Ont., a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lackie. After her marriage to Mr. Potter she moved to Brockville and with the exception of three years spent in Belleville resided there. Besides her husband she is survived by one son, George Potter, also four brothers and two sisters, Mrs. George T. McCormick, Brewer's Mills; Messrs. William and Robert Lackie, Woodburn, Ont.; John, Albany, N.Y.; Mrs. D. R. Hall and Adam Lackie, Brockville.

Late Mrs. Catharine Walker. Word was received in the city Saturday of the death in Buffalo, N.Y., on Friday, of Mrs. Catharine Walker, a former resident of Kingston. The deceased was eighty-eight years of age. The remains are being brought to Kingston on Sunday, accompanied by Richard H. Walker, son of the deceased, and the funeral is to take place on Monday afternoon from M. P. Keyes' undertaking parlors to Cataract cemetery.

Victorian Order of Nurses. The monthly meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses took place Thursday with a good attendance. The nurse's report for February showed 358 visits made, 142 baby visits to the welfare station, and 25 social service visits. Denominations: Protestants, 14; Roman Catholics, 10. Donations: Clothing, Mrs. Ada, Mrs. Jamieson, Mrs. J. Pense, Miss Mowat, Mrs. Phillips, Miss McCormack; two dolls Miss Queenie Gimblett, and a cheque from a friend.

The committee have decided that instead of holding a tag day, to appeal to the public for funds to carry on this good work, by the paper bottle banks, which during May will be delivered to every home in the city.
