GAVE EXCELLENT ADDRESS

Inspector Stuart Traced the Development of Education.

A splendid meeting of the Home and School Club of Central school was held on Monday evening, a feature of the event was an excellent address by Inspector J. R. Stuart on educational matters while a very fine musical programme was rendered by talented pupils. Mrs. H. Simonds, convener of the social committee, reported that the proceeds of the recent sale of home-made dainties netted $105.

Mr. Stuart, speaking upon educational matters, congratulated the parents upon the active interest shown by the splendid attendance. He traced the development of education from the time it was conducted entirely in the home up to the present when the responsibility rests upon the state. He emphasized the importance of home training and showed that the schools were but one factor in education as children learned much from their companions and those with whom they came in contact during recreation. The avenues of education were many and varied. He showed the proper relation of the different subjects taught, what were regarded as essentials and what were erroneously thought to be fads, whereas all are important. Mr. Stuart showed a broad and comprehensive knowledge of his subject as well as a vision which augurs well for the future of the youths of the Kingston public schools.

Warm appreciation of the address was expressed by the large gathering of parents present. The singing of the Junior fourth class was very nice, and consisted of chorus, "Sweet and Low," solo by Esther Circle, chorus, "Ye Mariners of England." Donald Hurd gave an exhibition of club swinging.
