VICTORY BONDS DUE 1922 and 1923

Holders of these bonds could sell today at about 98½ and re-invest in 1924 at 96½ or 1934 at 95½, and if your income is $6,000 or less, it would pay you to do it. You would make $15 per thousand and extend your investment for a longer period.

HOCKEY CLUBS MUST SHOW THEIR BOOKS

Already the Ontario Hockey Association is taking steps to curb individuals and clubs who would evade the letter and spirit of the association's rules next winter in the matter of the age limit in the junior series, and in disposing of their gate receipts.

Birth certificates submitted by the junior clubs are being returned to the clubs with instructions that new birth certificates will be required for all players next season.

Each club must now have a set of books setting forth the receipts and expenses of each year in detail, which books may be examined by the O.H.A. or any of its officers appointed for such purpose at any time.

KING AND QUEEN

SEE PRINCE WIN

Watched by the king and queen, with other members of the royal family and a large crowd of spectators at Hawthorne Hill Friday, the Prince of Wales won his first race on a public racecourse. In the Household Brigade steeplechase, riding his own hunter, Pet Dog, the Prince carried off the Welsh Guards challenge cup, finishing the miniature Grand National course alone in dashing style.

The prince wore a red jacket with blue sleeves and a black cap. This was said to be the first time a prince of the royal family has appeared in a jockey cap. The stipulated weight was 175 pounds, and as the prince is a light rider, he had to carry no less than 28 pounds dead weight in his saddle. Captain Wyndham Lewis fell heavily during the race, and was removed unconscious from the course.

The course is a notoriously difficult one of two and one-half miles and 22 jumps. The prince passed the winning post amid deafening applause, and the king and queen immediately went to the paddock to congratulate him.

Manager Jack Dunn, of Baltimore, will appeal to Commissioner of Landis to have Catcher McAvoy reinstated. McAvoy quit organized baseball and joined the Independents, thereby suspending himself.

Fort William Road Race. Arrangements are now under way for running off the big ten mile road race on the 24th of May at Fort William. This big sports feature in which contestants from all parts of Canada have competed will no doubt be as successful this year as on former occasions. Three magnificent cups will again go to the winners. Last year Lawrence, of Montreal, pulled down the first prize, while Woods, of Calgary, and Selder, of Port Arthur, won second and third place respectively.

Ty Cobb claims the distinction of working the first squeeze play of the season. It was made in the seventh inning of Wednesday's game at Ranger, Texas, between the Detroit Tigers and the Columbus American Association team, when Ty, placed the ball to the left of the pitcher's box and Flagstead scored. Much of the Tigers' training in attack, under their new Manager, has been devoted to the sacrifice, squeeze and other tactics designed to produce a run in a pinch.

"Babe" Ruth is out of the play with the New York Klitties, suffering from a sprained wrist. Frank Baker, the former home-run king, returned to regular work with the Klitties in a game with Shreveport and gathered a two base blow in the eighth inning that sent Mausel across with the winning run.

Thirteen pitchers are trying out with the Baltimore Orioles. The final selection will probably be: Ogdon, Groves, Frank, Bentley, Thomas, Knelsch, Sullivan and Murphy.

Owing to the fact that this year's training trip will cost the Baltimore Orioles owners $5,000, Manager Dunn is threatening to give Goldboro' the go-by in future.

OLYMPIC GAMES SUCCESSFUL

Over 200,000 Persons Paid To Witness Various Contests.

The Olympic games of 1920 were a success from both a financial and attendance standpoint, according to a complete and detailed statement just issued by the Belgium Olympic Executive Committee. The attendance and receipt figures attached to the report show that the keen interest displayed in the soccer football game helped greatly to lift the international competition across the line which divides failure and success.

While only 28,665 persons, all told, paid admission, other than holders of season tickets to the stadium, to witness the athletic games in which America triumphed, 63,812 persons paid to see the Olympic football games.

A total of 219,659 persons paid to see the Olympic games, including ice hockey, and all other sports, and according to the committee, this number exceeded the attendance at Stockholm, and put the 1920 Olympiad on an attendance footing equal to that of most of its predecessors.

The detailed report, showing attendance and revenues from admissions to all Olympic events, gives an interesting index to the sport preferences of Europeans. It follows:

Spectators in francs	Receipts
Ice hockey 6,946	37,119
Bicycle races 835	3,913
Athletics 28,855	104,935
Gymnastics 16,795	12,882
Lawn tennis 7,524	57,275
Wrestling and boxing 15,158	80,708
Rowing 6,617	16,633
Swimming 24,549	64,682
Football 63,612	284,535
Horsemanship 11,251	54,092
Polo 1,149	6,805

In addition to these the season tickets for sports at the stadium, when figured for attendance records by multiplying their number by the number of days, give additional attendance of 56,570 for which the revenues were 305,850 francs. Other revenues, from programmes, etc., swelled the total revenues to 1,090,917 francs which at normal rate of exchange amounts to about $218,000.

Including 15,000 free admissions to the athletic sports and 20,000 free admissions to the football games, the grand total of spectators who saw the Olympic games is estimated at 349,689. As all major expenses, including cost of stadium, etc., were met by the Belgian government, the profit, after deducting minor expenditures reaches more than 1,000,000 francs. This will go to the Antwerp Olympic association, which took the risk, organized the games and procured the guarantee funds.
