HAPPINESS

HAPPINESS is the most precious thing in life. Happiness makes the "kiddies" romp and play; it lightens work for the grown folks; it sends a man to business with a clear eye and a buoyant step equipped to succeed. No home can be completely happy without music, and the will bring music to ANY home. If there is a pianist in the family, it being also a perfect Lindsay Piano, the Lindsay Player-piano will be his or her delight; in addition it will procure for all the others in the family a means of ACTUALLY PLAYING the piano just as well as the musician.

LINDSAY PLAYER-PIANO

If there is a "silent" Piano in your home exchange it for a Lindsay Player-piano. Phone us and find out what the piano is worth as a trade-in. Special easy terms are being granted at Lindsay's during National Player-piano Week.

Free Demonstrations Every Day.

Got Clothes for 70 Years.

Fig Tree John, an aged Indian hunter, who guided Fremont through the west on his expedition to the Pacific coast, receives from the government every five years a new blue suit with brass buttons similar to those worn by the Americans in Fremont's time. In 1845 he expressed a wish that he be paid for his services in that manner as long as he lived.

"And this part, Gibbs, is so strange! He fired it twice, you father directing him. He fired first at some target over the mantel, and then somewhere else--"

"Couldn't pull the trigger!" Gibbs said breathlessly.

"Oh, indeed he did! He fired twice, but you see those chambers were empty. And, Gibbs, he says that Grandpa said to him 'Good old Tommy! You remember how he used to say that? Then they had some talk about soldiers, and finally your father was a spy--and the amazing thing is, Gibbs, to hear Tommy tell it--every few minutes he would put in something that the testimony had developed, and Lizzie and I would of affairs, Mrs. Josselyn, I've already advised the sheriff to delay the transfer of Mr. Josselyn."

"There may be a new trial?" Ellen asked, trembling. For answer Daniel Ryan smiled at her, and there was something so kindly, so reassuring, in that red face, when it smiled, that she felt a melting, a breaking up of coldness and hate, in her heart. Hate changed suddenly to love and fear changed to confidence. Ellen experienced the most poignant of all human emotions.

"We may not even have it go to trial," George supplied.

"May not?" she echoed, choking.

"No," Ryan confirmed it. "There is no question for a jury. I don't know of a parallel case," he said thoughtfully. "But I should suppose that it would only be necessary to put this evidence before the Court, with suitable testimony to its genuineness, to have the whole case dismissed." He turned to the warden.

"May we see Mr. Josselyn?" he asked, with the quiet manner of a man making a request sure to be granted.

"Where 'L. Tom?" Ellen asked, while they waited.

"We sent him home, with Lizzie. Mr. Ryan asked her not to let him talk about this matter, and you'll see that, too, Ellen?"

"We might need him again," Ryan said.

TO-DAYS FASHION

By Vera Winston.

This Sport Coat of Tangerine Polo Cloth is Trimmed With Wool.

The sport coat that is light in weight and gay in color is a highly favored addition to the spring wardrobe. This origination is made of polo cloth in the new shade of fangerine. Simple in style, it possesses that swagger look which is demanded in the modish coat for outdoor wear. The sleeves, which are set in raglan manner, are designed with very wide cuffs.

Roomy pockets are outlined by bone buttons. The collar, in tuxedo mode, is developed from brushed wool in a pale shade of gray. The generous cuffs are also made of brushed wool and the tam is evolved from the same fabric.

All the delicious aroma and flavor are retained in air-tight tins of
