THE HOSTILE ACTION OF AUDIENCE

At 9:15 Pussfoot again attempted to speak and was greeted by the singing of "How Dry We Are." "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" and "Lager Beer Saloon."

The committee at this point brought Mrs. G. A. Bateman from the back of the stage, and she was led to the front by Mr. Johnston as an appeal to the respect for the presence of a woman, but without the desired result.

Lieut. Adney, who was seated in the orchestra, rushed to the front and yelled to the audience, "I don't believe in this damn prohibition but I want to hear Pussfoot. I think you all know what he is going to say but we want to hear how he says it. We all came to hear him," said he when called up on the stage, "but you gentlemen (pointing to the members of the committee), have queered this meeting yourselves."

The gallery yelled themselves hoarse, and Lieut. Adney was forced to resume his seat. At 9:40 Pussfoot attempted again to speak and again came the cry "The Canadians Won the War," followed by "We won't Go Home Till Morning," and "There's a Long, Long Trail a-Winding," the singing of which prevented him from being heard. The mob had complete control of the situation, and "Go to the Horse Lines" was repeatedly heard above the din.

Mayor Nickle appears. Mayor Nickle was ushered on to the stage at this juncture and he made a strong fight to be heard on behalf of the speaker. He was greeted with "Nothing doing, Hughie." The mayor thereupon called upon the audience to show the respect due to him as mayor of the city.

"The good name of the city hangs in the balance," said he, "and I appeal on behalf of Mr. Johnston."

No! No! Came the reply, and "What about the man who was taken out by the police," answered the mayor, "to place themselves at the disposal of the management of the Grand Opera House as I was told there might be trouble here tonight, and I have come here from another meeting to ask you to give the speaker a hearing."

"Sit down" came from many points in the gallery.

The mayor retired and Mr. Johnston again advanced to the front of the stage, but met with a determined and watchful opposition.

"The struggle against the ruthless disorder in the gallery is not confined to Canada," said he. "The British people in England, New Zealand, and Australia are struggling for freedom. Ontario is not the only place. You can crush down respectable citizens tonight, but you can't crush down the cause, you can crush down this meeting tonight, but not the struggle for British liberty. The people of Ontario are seeking liberty for free speech, and the liquor interests destroy the liberty of free speech."

Mr. Johnston was again drowned by the cry of "We want our beer." "Let joy be unconfined." Constant interruptions made it impossible to continue with the programme, and the band was called upon at 10 o'clock to strike up the National Anthem and everybody joined in the singing.

Whig Interviews Pussfoot. After the meeting, a representative of the Whig asked Mr. Johnston whether there was any general current of revolt over the prohibition issue, and he replied that he did not think so. He had only attended three meetings on behalf of prohibition in Canada so far. There was at times more or less interruption at large meetings everywhere. He said he was not discouraged by the reception in Kingston.

The members of the committee and Rev. Mr. Spence, while disappointed over the meeting, said they felt that more good will come to the cause of prohibition than to the anti, as a direct result. Hundreds of people desired to hear Mr. Johnston and they feel strong resentment toward those who prevented them doing so, and who made "a disgraceful scene of the whole proceeding," as one man termed it. The committee felt that it will cause many people to throw in their influence on the side of good order as against disorder, and make them determined to settle the question with the ballot as the only effective way of doing so.

Many believe that the hostility shown was organized hostility and the ruthless manner in which it was carried out, the denial of every appeal to patriotism and the finer sentiments indicated a callousness that calls for the strongest efforts on the part of the Referendum Committee to combat the opposition it believes will be met on polling day.

Some of the disturbers had shouted from the galleries that they would "get" Pussfoot later. In view of this threat, which was possibly not meant, the Referendum Committee took no chances, and Mr. Johnston was taken from the stage entrance of the theatre in an automobile.

"It's a funny thing," said one anti-prohibitionist afterwards. "Here they called out at the start for Pussfoot to speak. 'Give us Pussfoot,' they said. And then when Pussfoot got up to speak they would not hear him and just made a fool of him." Discussing the meeting, Rev. Ben Spence and Pussfoot Johnston said to the members of the committee: "This has won you more votes than if we were allowed to deliver our addresses as arranged. It has been a black-eye for the Liberty League and other anti, and our cause gains in consequence."

Mr. Johnston went to Montreal on the midnight train.

MAY ORDER HOUSES CLOSED

If Sanitary Improvements Are Not Installed—Milk Inspector's Report.

Fifteen houses, reported by the sanitary inspector as being unfit for habitation, may be closed up by the Board of Health after May 1st, if in the meantime the owners fail to comply with the notices that have already been sent out to them respecting suitable repairs and the installation of sanitary conveniences.

Aid. Dr. F. J. O'Connor presided at the board's meeting Friday afternoon, and reports were presented by Sanitary Inspector Carson and the milk inspector, Dr. G. W. Bell. The latter showed that he examined during March 178 cows, including 6 diseased and sick cows; milk tests made as to taste, odor, and general condition, 54; dirt tests 43; butter-fat tests 22 as follows:

J. T. Eves 3.06 per cent., Mr. Stewart 3.06 (1), Mr. Stewart (2), 4.00, C. Clark 3.04, Long Bros., 3.03, C. Clark (Home for Aged) 3.06, W. J. Jones 3.05, W. L. Grass, Westbrook, 4.00, Price's Dairy 3.03, J. J. Wilmut, 4.00, Sibbett Bros., 4.01, Robinson 4.00, Polk and Son 4.00, Pickering Bros., 3.08, Geo. Murray 3.09, Valentine 3.06.

In addition, complaints were investigated, high bacteria being reported. Two applicants, one from Cataract and another from the York Road, were denied permits to sell milk as inspection showed one cow sick and others thin. Both were instructed to get their animals into better condition for re-examination when, if found satisfactory, permits to sell milk in the city would be issued.

Sanitary Inspector Carson reported that fifty-one new notices had been served on property owners and of this number but thirteen complied with instructions and put in improvements. In many cases there was found to be an overcrowded condition. One place, on King street, might serve as an example, though not the worst. It contains but two bedrooms for eight people. A list of fifteen houses was presented with the recommendation that they be closed as unfit for habitation unless the owners put them in a proper condition of repair and install sanitary conveniences as required by the health by-laws. Action was deferred by the board until after May 1st. Fifty-one owners have failed to comply with notices sent to them to install sanitary conveniences.

Dr. A. R. B. Williamson, medical health officer, reported that the city was free from smallpox. A motion was passed asking the city to make an account against the Canadian Pacific Railway for the payment of all costs in the case of a man who was brought to Kingston suffering from the disease.

The members present were Aid. F. J. O'Connor, (chairman), Mrs. John McGillivray, Mayor H. C. Nickle and Dr. Williamson.

Brevet Lieut.-Cols. Major Lindsay Malcolm, Major W. P. Wilgar, D.S.O., and Lieut. W. E. Manhard, D.S.O., who have been transferred to the reserve of officers, have been gazetted to be brevet lieutenant-colonels.

It is reported that the railway authorities are going to sell the old Bay of Quinte right of way and station within the municipality of Newburgh.
