FAMOUS "WITS" OF HISTORY

By MARK STUYVESANT.

How Spurgeon Humorously Chided a Backslider.

The genius which built the greatest non-conformist church in England, the Metropolitan Tabernacle of London, was possessed of many angles. Indeed, some persons of the congregation which built the Tabernacle for Charles Haddon Spurgeon believed him endowed with supernatural powers. They told of such incidents as the following to substantiate their statements:

In a burst of eloquence during one sermon Spurgeon declared there was a man in the gallery listening to him down to give him her hand in pledge of a better life.

"There was a similar sequel," writes the Rev. W. J. Fullerton in his interesting biography of the great preacher, when Spurgeon unconsciously pointed to a certain man and said:

"There is a man sitting there who is a shoemaker; he keeps his shop open on Sundays. It was open last Sabbath morning. He took hisnence and there was fourpence profit on it. His soul is sold to Satan for fourpence.

"This man," the Rev. Fullerton

"Ah!" said Spurgeon. "You Have a Good Conscience."

with a bottle of gin in his pocket. It so happened that there was such a man and that he was so startled that he became converted.

A woman who had determined on suicide came into the Tabernacle one Sunday to hear a last message which might prepare her for death. The text was "Seest thou this woman." It so impressed her that she gave up the thought of suicide, and told Spurgeon the reason when she rushed

REGARDING RAW FUR PRICES

There is World Scarcity for Fresh, Seasonable Goods.

Last spring and summer raw furs declined considerably from the speculatively high peak reached in 1919: The trappers this spring, for their prime muskrat skins, received the average price of $2. Fisher sold as high as $165; red fox, $15; raccoon, $6; beaver, $26; mink, $5 to $15; otter, $28.

Below you will find a summary of the New York fur auctions on April 15th; Strong demand, mink very active; Prices obtained regarded as very satisfactory, all furs selling from twenty-two and a half per cent. to forty per cent. higher than January.

Official comparisons were: Beaver and silver fox 10 per cent.; muskrat, 20 per cent.; otter, 25 per cent.; fisher, 30 per cent.; cross fox, 5 per cent.; white fox and mink, 25 per cent.; marten and wolverine, 20 per cent.; Russian sable, 10 per cent.; lynx, 35 per cent.; grey wolf, 33 per cent. To free your skin from blemishes —the right way

ASK a skin specialist why it is that your skin is continually breaking out with disfiguring little blemishes. He will almost certainly tell you that this condition comes from an outside infection.

Authorities on the skin now say that skin blemishes are generally caused by bacteria and parasites which are carried into the pores from outside, through dust and soot in the air. By the following simple treatment, you can gradually but thoroughly free your skin from blemishes:

EACH night just before retiring, wash your face with Woodbury's Facial Soap and warm water, finishing with a dash of cold water, and dry carefully.

Now dip the tips of your fingers in warm water and rub them on the cake of Woodbury's until they are covered with a heavy, creamlike lather.

Cover each blemish with a thick coat of this and leave it on for ten minutes.

Rinse your face thoroughly, first with clear hot water, then with cold.

Supplement this treatment with the regular use of Woodbury's Facial Soap in your daily toilet, to keep the new skin which is constantly forming free from blemishes.

Get a cake of Woodbury's today, at any drug store or toilet goods counter. A 25-cent cake will last for a month or six weeks of this treatment and for general cleansing use. The Andrew Jergens Co., Cincinnati, New York and Perth, Ontario.
