KINGSTON ROTARY CLUB STEAMER AMERICA SOLD

J. O. Herity, Belleville, Delivered Inspiring Address at Thursday's Luncheon. Old Kingston Vessel Is Bought by a Georgian Bay Company.

The Kingston Rotary Club had another fine gathering at their noon-day luncheon on Thursday. J. O. Herity, formerly editor of the Belleville Ontario, and for several months manager of the Chamber of Commerce, was the speaker, and he delivered a most inspiring address, dealing with the principles of Rotary, and also with the question of community service. His address was most interesting throughout, and Mr. Herity was listened to with keen interest. He was accompanied to Kingston by his son, and both were given a most enthusiastic reception by President "Joe" Stewart and his fellow Rotarians.

The menu provided by the new managers of the British-American hotel, Messrs. Ashley and Laturney, was first-class in every way, and the service was excellent. A turkey dinner was provided. In his opening remarks, Mr. Herity took occasion to refer to the splendid spread. He said that Belleville boasted of a good hotel, but he had ample evidence at this gathering, to show that the hotel in Belleville would have to go some to keep up with Kingston. Mr. Ashley was highly complimented by President "Joe," and in acknowledging the kind remarks Mr. Ashley stated that everything possible would be done to give the very best of service at this hotel.

Mr. Herity conveyed greetings from the Belleville Rotary Club. He introduced himself as a "reformed newspaper man," having taken the position of manager of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

Touching on the question of community service, Mr. Herity stated that a good deal had been heard in Belleville about the city being over organized. It had been stated that for its population Belleville had the largest membership in the Masonic order of any place in Canada. Belleville also had a Rotary Club, a Lions Club, and many other organizations, all of which had for their object community service.

The speaker said that it was his opinion that the church had in the past devoted too much time to man's duty to God, than to man's duty to his fellow man. He felt that the gatherings held by such organizations as he had named did much to broaden out the members and get them familiar with each other. They became more like one big family. The members were not only broadened in their views, but the meetings tended to create a spirit of activity in the community.

One of the principal objects of these organizations was to get a man to think. This was the first step towards business prosperity. It required the thinking out and considering of conditions. During the war we frequently heard it remarked that food, guns and ammunition would win the war. Now the conflict was over and as we had time to reflect on it all now, we would say that it was leadership and cooperation that won the war. And as it was with the nations, so it was the same with a city. To be great and create an influence, a city must have ideal organizations with cooperation.

Speaking on civic patriotism, the speaker referred to the quotation, "It is sweet and glorious to die for one's country." The speaker is not challenging the truth of this, but there was another quotation just as important, and it was this: "It is sweet and glorious to live for one's country." Civic patriotism called for the betterment of conditions in a city.

President "Joe" Stewart reported that everything was going strong for the big banquet to be held on Saturday night in Ontario hall, when the local club will receive its charter. The various committees are hard at work. It is expected that in all about 130 people will attend this gathering.

Dr. "Jimmy" Stewart, of Kingston, and S. D. Wagar, of Enterprise, were introduced to the members as visitors.

Advance in Coal Prices.
An advance has been made in the price of coal at the mines or point of shipment, to take effect May 1st. Egg size is advanced 45 cents a ton, stove and nut ten cents. These increases make the price the same for all sizes.

Local dealers report shipments by schooner and steamer active now, and arrivals of cargos are quite satisfactory. The new prices will apply only to orders after May 1st.

It was announced on Thursday afternoon that the steamer America, owned by the Canada Steamship Lines, had been sold to a Georgian Bay company which intends to put her in service on the Georgian Bay route. At the present time the steamer is at the wharf of the Montreal Transportation Co. As soon as the steamer Wolfe Islander is able to leave the Davis dry dock, the America will be docked for repairs. It is expected that the America will be able to leave for Georgian Bay in a couple of weeks' time. The parties who purchased the steamer arrived in the city this week and made arrangements with the Davis Dry Dock Company to make the repairs.

The steamer America, which was formerly the steamer Maud, was built in Kingston by the late C. F. Gilderleeve, in the slip at the foot of Earl street. For years she sailed on the river St. Lawrence and the Cape Vincent route, and then was rebuilt. The steamer was cut in two, and about thirty-five feet added to her length. After the alterations were made, she sailed on the Kingston-Montreal route and went down the rapids. She only remained on this route one season and was taken off as she was found too light for that route. This steamer sailed in opposition to what was known then as the Mail line, and was under the command of the late Capt. Coleman Hinckley. After being taken off this route, she was placed on the Kingston-Cape Vincent route where she remained for years. She was very popular as an excursion boat. During the years that she did service she made thousands of trips down the river and as far as Ogdensburg. The steamer also made numerous trips up the Bay of Quinte as far as Picton.

At the time of the launching of the steamer Maud, the members of the city council and other leading citizens were present, after which Mr. Gilderleeve laid the keel of the magnificent steamer Corinthian. The latter steamer was later burned to the water's edge. The steamer America was for years owned by the Folger Company. When the Canada Steamship Company bought out that line the America was taken over. She has not been in service for the past two years. The America is a side-wheeler and has a carrying capacity of five hundred.

CHEESE SEASON IS OPENED

A Change is Made in Regard to Making of Bids.

The opening meeting of the Frontenac cheese board was held on Thursday afternoon, and, while there are but few factories producing as yet, there was a good attendance. Joseph Garrah, vice-president, occupied the chair and Secretary William Pillar read a resolution passed by the Dairy Produce Dealers' Association, Montreal, protesting against a Dominion sales tax of two per cent, and asking the board to endorse it. Consideration of the matter was deferred to a later meeting.

C. W. Langwith moved a resolution amend the rules of board, proposing that when biddings cease and selections are called that no further bids be accepted. He said that by the adoption of such a rule all buyers who desired cheese would be obliged to put up their price or lose the opportunity to obtain any cheese. The resolution was passed, and the president was empowered to set a time limit after bidding stopped during which further bids might be accepted.

The following factories were boarded: Cold Springs 100, Latimer 60, Ralston No. 2, 95.

Bidding started at 23 1-2 cents. At 24 5-16, George Smith secured 100 boxes "C.S.," but Ralston No. 2 refused. L. W. Murphy's offer of 24 5-16 cent.

G. G. Pablow, chief dairy inspector for Eastern Ontario, was present to witness the transaction of business and gave an address at the close. He congratulated the board upon setting the highest price of the season. He said that the prospects for the season were splendid. During the course of the week he expected that every factory would be in operation and the season's make was likely to be a large one in the Kingston district. He appealed to the factories to turn out the highest quality of cheese because of the competition to be met with on the foreign markets. S. S. Cheatham, Gananoque, has been assigned to Wolfe Island and Howe Island as instructor this year, and he directed all factories requiring his assistance to make use of his services.
