A MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING

Of New York Manufacturer in Bedroom of Woman Companion.

New York, May 17.—While John H. Reid, a manufacturer of silk lingerie, living at 66 West Forty-sixth street, lay between life and death at the Fordham hospital with five pistol wounds in his face, neck and thigh, the police searched for his supposed assailant, whose name is withheld, but who is described as a "Broadway sporting man and gambler."

The shooting took place under mysterious circumstances Sunday morning in the bedroom of Mrs. Hazel Davis Warner, who occupies a house at 1392 University avenue, the Bronx.

In addition to the man whose name is withheld, the police also have sent out alarms for Mrs. Warner, Francis T. Boylan, who is believed to live on the west side of Manhattan, and Miss Lila Wiley, a motion picture actress, who is Mrs. Warner's cousin. The three, together with Reid and George Keriger, Mrs. Warner's uncle, are said to have spent Saturday night at the University avenue house, and were there at the time of the shooting. Reid was taken to the Fordham hospital by Keriger and Boylan in the latter's automobile, and neighbors say they saw Mrs. Warner, Miss Wiley and Boylan drive away from the house shortly after. They have not been seen since.

Keriger described a drinking party the five had had Saturday night in the furnished attic of the house, where empty bottles and glasses to-day gave evidence of a celebration. Miss Wiley, Boylan and Keriger, the latter told the police, came downstairs for breakfast this morning before either Mrs. Warner or Reid. Finishing breakfast, Keriger said that he heard "tiptoes" on the porch and saw a "strange face" peering in the window. Then, he said, there was a kicking and pounding at the door, which frightened him, and he ran into another room and hid.

A few moments afterwards he heard five shots in Mrs. Warner's bedroom. After he heard the assailant run out of the house, he rushed up and found Reid lying on the floor unconscious. Mrs. Warner, he said, was in the bathroom, and Keriger reported her as saying: "A man came in and shot him and ran away."

MURDERED IN STORE IN BROAD DAYLIGHT

Furrier Robbed and Killed by Unknown Man in Montreal.

Montreal, May 17.—Georges Jobin, 32 years of age, wholesale furrier at 297 Amherst street, this city, was brutally murdered and robbed in his store in broad daylight Saturday evening. The victim was battered about the head by a hammer, which was later found by the police, and was slashed about the neck and head with a pair of tailors' scissors. The murderer, after robbing Jobin, washed his hands in the sink in the rear of the store and walked out. No arrests have so far been made.

The murder occurred in one of the most crowded sections of the city, the store being a short distance from St. Catherine street, a main thoroughfare of Montreal. Hundreds were passing the store at the time, but as far as no material witnesses have been secured.

Examination by the police showed that the victim had been robbed. His watch and chain had been taken and his brother-in-law states that he was in the habit of carrying large sums of money with him, usually about $2,000 on Saturday nights, the total sales during the week.

CANCELS LICENSES OF MONTREAL HOTEL

First Time Quebec Liquor Commission Shows Its Hand.

Montreal May 17.—The first outstanding case under the new Quebec liquor law was taken against a famous Montreal hostelry, the Lumkina hotel, at Cote des Neiges, which, on Saturday, lost both its tavern and restaurant licenses. Further, the Quebec Liquor Commission is taking action before the courts against the hotel proprietor for selling liquor without a license.

The ground on which the licenses are cancelled in addition to the charge of selling liquor, is that the report sent to the commission previous to May 1st, showing the quantity of alcoholic liquors held by the hotel, was not correct, in the opinion of the commission.

There is no appeal against the commission's decision.

BLACKS CLAIM TO BE OF LOST TEN TRIBES

Seize South African Estates Preparatory to Going to Palestine.

London, May 17.—A despatch received here from Johannesburg, South Africa, says a strong force of police, armed with machine guns, is concentrating in the Queenstown district, where a large number of blacks, claiming to belong to one of the lost tribes of Israel, have seized large estates and committed a number of crimes against the European populace.

These blacks, the despatch asserted, declare they are waiting for a divine call to return to Palestine, and that their present activities are in preparation for this.

"THEY ALSO SERVE!" Did you ever wonder Why the trees so tall, Rear their stately grandeur In the forest hall, Straight and strong, and slender, Clothed about with green, When, perchance, their beauty Ne'er by man is seen? Once I caught their secret, on a drifting breeze—"God has willed our splendor, and 'tis Him we please!"

Did you see the morning Passing on his way, Coaxing out the sunshine, Bringing forth the day? Silently he cometh, Making us rejoice, Calling us to join him, Though unheard his voice, Lifting hearts to praise Him on the earth below, Who made fair the dawning, 'd the night-shades low!

Have you seen the violet In a leafy glade, Hidden 'neath the grasses, Fair and unafraid? Lo! its subtle fragrance On the summer air; In obscure perfection Blooms the flower there, Viewed from Heaven's glory, honoring His peace, Who doth hold the secret, its perfume to release.

All His works do praise Him Whether near, or far, Every lonely toiler, And each unseen star; Shows that tip the mountains, Clouds that veil the light, Dwellers in the valley, Or on unknown height! As the Master wills it, each one in his place, Making known His greatness, making bright His face! Nell Ruth Roffe. Gravenhurst.

NEW ATOMS EVERY MINUTE

Old Idea Immutable and Unchanging Proved Wrong. The birth of an atom is just as important an event as the birth of a world. If not more so, for everything in the universe is composed of atoms, even the worlds themselves. Not long ago atoms were thought to be immutable and unchanging, but the amazing truth has just been disclosed that new atoms are born every minute, just as among the faraway stars new worlds are being born, says a writer in the Edinburgh Review.

Already certain kinds of atoms can be produced in the laboratory, and such a business would become immensely popular if gold and silver could be created in the same way. This is not an idle dream, as might be thought, for already it has been discovered that all atoms are composed of the same kind of material—positively electrified particles and minute negative electric charges. All that remains is to learn how to put these quantities together in the proper amounts, just as chemists now produce—through oftentimes under uncommercial conditions—synthetic rubber, silk, steel, artificial dyes and the many other miracles of the laboratory.

To understand how certain atoms have already been produced in the laboratory it is necessary to remember that there are about ninety different kinds of atoms, corresponding to the elements of which all other substances are made, and that all atoms contain equal amounts of positive and negative electricity. Just as solar systems consist of planets revolving about a central sun and are held together by the force of gravitation, so do atoms consist of negative electrical charges, revolving around a central, positively charged nucleus, held together by the forces of electrical attraction.

Much Work For Little Result. One of the legends of antiquity credits a man known to Cicero with having put the Iliad of Homer into a nutshell. When the legend was 1,700 years old Hget, the great French scholar, tested it to amuse his pupil, the French heir.

He took a piece of firm but pliant paper, ten inches long and eight inches wide. By writing tiny characters with a fine pen he found that he could get thirty verses of the Iliad into a line and 250 lines to the page, 7,500 verses in all. Thus, by using both sides of the paper, he could write 15,000 verses on it, the number composing the Iliad. The paper when folded up fitted into a walnut shell, and so the possibility of the feat of Cicero's friend was proved.

FLEET FOOT Sport Shoes THE very name suggests the kind of shoes they are. FLEET FOOT—light, easy, flexible—springy and buoyant when walking the links—firm and sure when on the tennis court and bowling green. FLEET FOOT shoes were designed originally for sport. Men liked them so well—found them so restful and comfortable—that they demanded FLEET FOOT styles for every-day wear. Then wives and mothers and girls in dainty summer gowns insisted on having FLEET FOOT Pumps and Oxfords. Now, there are styles for every member of the family—men, women, boys and girls—for morning, noon and night—work and play—in town and for holiday time. Genuine FLEET FOOT shoes have the name stamped on them. It pays to get the genuine FLEET FOOT—pays in style, comfort, long wear and economy. Ask your Shoe Dealer for Fleet Foot and make sure you get Fleet Foot. DOMINION RUBBER
