THE KIWANIANS LUNCHEON

Dr. R. Bruce Taylor Tells Them Things About Queen's University.

The weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Frontenac Monday afternoon was featured by a most interesting address by Dr. R. Bruce Taylor, principal of Queen's University, on the subject of "Queen's", and his ability as a booster cast "Paddy" Burns with his poetry on brooms and whisks into the background, although as a rhymer "Paddy" got away with it very well. There was to be but one boost according to the programme, that of the Bailey Broom Company, but when Dr. Taylor got through there was still one, but which one—well the prize winners, Messrs. O'Brien, Winnett, Corbett, Hanley, J. Sowards, J. O. Hutton, W. R. Givens, and "Paddy" Burns, may think the Bailey broom was "it", but there were others who knew it was "Queen's" just as much as if they heard the yell. Some say that certain people hear Queen's emphasized so much for some months of the year that they have to keep repeating during the remainder. But whether this is true or not, Dr. Taylor is going to talk "Kingston and Queen's", and he is going to make the Kiwanians talk Queen's, and when he gets them going there is no limit to Queen's possibilities.

Frank J. Hoag presided, and there was a large attendance of the members, none of whom were late. Harold Hughes led the singing with his usual pep, and there were just enough fines imposed during the roll call to maintain the reputation of President Frank as a disciplinarian. Indeed he imparted some of his vigilance to "Jack" Ponsford and only charged him ten cents for the trick, and cheap at that. The others were "Bob" Bushell, "Jack" O'Brien, "Jack" Sowards and "Matt" Hanson, but, of course, nobody expected any better from these "chronic incorrigibles." But since we have to say something about Queen's it would not be fair to overlook the Bailey broom factory, which as an industry lays claim to some antiquity, being established in 1857, employs fifty-five men and produced 157 dozen brooms a day bearing the brand "Universal Cleaner."

Dr. Taylor was received with warm applause and the singing of "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow." He referred to some of the jokes circulated at his expense, the one about the mable syrup and his Ford car, but the latest one tells about his launching his boat on Saturday with the plug out, and admitted to be true. He gave a very exhaustive account of Queen's University since its founding as a protest against the clergy reserves of the Anglican church, which established King's College (now Varsity) at Toronto. He compared the extent of Queen's and its revenue in 1866 with the present, and showed a growth from $13,000 to $415,000. The various items of revenue and expenditure were given in detail, and he noted with some satisfaction that her investments last year yielded $97,000. A statement was given showing the fees paid by students, the actual cost to the university, which losses on arts $130, science $222 and medicine $193, no small subsidy to the education of this province. He showed that as an industry Queen's means much to Kingston, for there is spent annually by students, professors and the university itself the huge total of $910,000. This is available and now waiting to be spent upon the erection of buildings and in making about $1,145,000. But the authorities are just waiting for the high costs of building materials and equipment to go down.

Comparing Queen's and Kingston with other universities Dr. Taylor said the student who came to Queen's would remember the beauty of the place and the happy associations formed here, as long as he lived. He indicated briefly some of the things wanted, but declared that Queen's was not badly off. She was not entering upon a policy of further expansion upon limited resources. Efficiency was her motto and she could not afford to carry loafers in her class.

The secretary, George Brownlee, announced that on Thursday the Kiwanis Club would unite with the Rotarians and the Canadian Club at a dinner to be given in Grant Hall to Sir Campbell Stuart, London, Eng., who would be the chief speaker.

OYSTERS

Most of Those Used on This Continent Are Cultivated.

Half of America's annual oyster crop is derived from planted (i.e. cultivated) beds. In New England 90 per cent. is thus grown.

Up to forty years ago the oyster supply was obtained almost wholly from natural beds, which covered areas of such enormous extent that they were regarded as inexhaustible. Reckless overfishing destroyed most of them. It was the same old story. The beds were stripped until not enough adult oysters were left to furnish spawn.

As time goes on we shall become dependent to a steadily greater extent upon planted oysters. Practically no oysters are left in the waters of New Hampshire and Maine, where once they were abundant. The beds of Massachusetts are largely depleted. On the Connecticut coast only two natural beds of importance remain—one at the mouth of New Haven harbor and the other near Bridgeport. There are few in New York waters, and even in Chesapeake Bay extensive areas formerly productive of oysters are now barren.

Nevertheless, Chesapeake Bay produces more oysters than any other body of water in the world. Hence it comes about that Virginia and Maryland lead the United States in this respect, with an output of more than 5,000,000 bushels each annually. The total yearly oyster crop of the United States is about 30,000,000 bushels, for which the fishermen get 50 cents a bushel.

There are oyster beds all the way from Cape Cod to Mexico. But the oysters are not found in the open sea. They are brackish-water animals and make their homes in coves, bays, estuaries and the mouths of rivers.

In such situations oysters will establish their towns (which we call beds), whenever they can find some-thing solid on which to grow. A muddy bottom would swallow them up. Flourishing beds have been known to be started by shipwrecks, and very productive ones by ashes or other material thrown overboard from vessels.

On Thursday George Crowe, one of Trenton's oldest citizens, passed away. He had been in ill-health for some time, but was able to be around up to a week before his death. For many years he served on the Trenton Board of Education and was one of its most useful and respected members.

FIRST-AID FOR THE SKIN

YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO BE WITHOUT ZAM-BUK.

No matter how careful a mother may be in preparing the meals or in house cleaning, she cannot avoid Cuts, Burns and Scalds. Children, likewise, seem to have a special weakness for knocking and bruising their limbs and faces, and for catching any prevalent skin or scalp disease from their playmates.

Whether for Eczema, Abscesses Ulcers, Piles, Bad Legs, Boils, Poisoned Wounds or children's Ringworm, Zam-Buk is the ideal "Home Doctor," being safe, sure and swift in its soothing, healing and antiseptic action.

A unique substance prepared from valuable herbal oils and extracts. Zam-Buk contains no lard or other animal fat nor any poisonous mineral drug. In a natural way Zam-Buk takes the 'fire' and smarting pain out of a wound or sore, and it kills and expels disease and poison germs. Having thoroughly cleansed a sore and got rid of all corruption and germs, Zam-Buk then heals it by growing healthy new skin.

There's nothing "just as good" as Zam-Buk because it is a super-balm and it totally different to the best of common salves and ointments often palmed off on the unwary. Zam-Buk is so pure and highly refined that it penetrates into the underlying tissues and roots out skin trouble. Zam-Buk healing is permanent healing for it performs its work in a new way. You can easily prove this for yourself.

SEND FOR A FREE SAMPLE! Cut out this announcement and write across it the name and date of this paper. Forward the cutting with a 1c. stamp (for return postage) to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Sample Box will be mailed by return. 50c. box, 3 for $1.25. All dealers.

Mother's Bad Leg.
Mrs. R. Terrell, 106, Doran St., Montreal, says:—"For five years I had a bad leg, through a bruise. I suffered intensely and couldn't walk about. Other treatments had failed when Zam-Buk was recommended. There was marked improvement as I steadily persevered with Zam-Buk. Soon the leg came through of five years' standing—was completely healed."

Child's Skin Sores.
Mrs. A. J. Cameron, of Melita, Man., writes:—"My little son's head and hands were covered with eczema. I tried numerous ointments, and he was under doctor's treatment for some time, but nothing could cure him. Then I tried Zam-Buk. A week's treatment gave wonderful results, and perseverance with Zam-Buk resulted in the child's skin being thoroughly cleared."

Worker's Burn.
Mr. G. T. Ryall, 562, 5th Avenue, E. Vancouver, writes:—"I had my foot badly burnt with chaotic lye at the soap works. After three months medical treatment the place remained an open sore. Then I began to use Zam-Buk and its healing was wonderful. Inflammation and poison were speedily drawn out, healthy flesh filled the wound and the foot was made quite sound."
