BOSS OF HAMLET HAS LOST CHARM

Man Would Drop the Ownership of the Entire Connecticut Village.

Colchester, Conn., May 20.—Owning an entire village and reigning supreme as the boss of the hamlet has lost its charms for C. M. Ams of Mount Vernon, N. Y., principally because of impaired health, and he is soon to relieve himself of the burden of that honor.

In December, 1912, Mr. Ams became proprietor of the then village of Turnerville, lying between Williamantic and Middletown, on the Air Line Division of the New Haven Railroad, and a few miles from Colchester. Mr. Ams is president of the Max Ams Machine Co., with headquarters in New York and factories at Mount Vernon.

The attractive feature of the village is its wonderful water power. At the top of a hill overlooking it is a lake a mile and a quarter square, fed by hidden springs which never fail, and the water can be led down so as to produce between 300 and 1,000 horse power.

The first man to perceive the value of this lake was the one for whom the place was originally named—F. W. Turner, who started the silk industry there. He employed more than 300 men and erected about 50 tenements for their accommodation. When Mr. Turner died, in 1903, his son and widow attempted to carry on the business, but with only fair success.

In 1909 the whole property, including four factories, the lake, the village store and hotel, and more than 2,000 acres of land, was sold to J. Eliastensen & Co. and David Brown, who operated walking cane and silk factories in New York and New Jersey. They moved their factories to Turnerville, but suffered reverses. Fires destroyed two of the four buildings, and of the two remaining at the time of Mr. Ams's advent one was being run as a cane factory and the other was idle.

When Mr. Ams took possession of the village he got legislative permission to change its name to "Amston." Taking up his residence in the old Turner homestead, he set to work to develop and beautify the site and its surroundings. One of his first benefactions was a bird sanctuary, where the habits of wild birds were studied by Prof. Herbert K. Job, one of the specialists at the State Agricultural College at Storrs. The old hotel was replaced by a modern inn and improvements were made all along the line.

Peterboro Cheese Board
Peterboro, May 20.—The nine factories represented at the first meeting of the Peterboro cheese board offered slightly more than 20 boxes more than on the same date last year. The Norwood factory has gone over to the co-operatives, but it was stated that several factories would rejoin the board after an absence of several years and perhaps nullify the loss resultant from the withdrawal of the Norwood factory, which was one of the heaviest producers in the district. Sales totaled 452 boxes at 15-16 cents.

Nova Scotia to Limit Practice
Halifax, N. S., May 20.—The provincial house discussed a bill which would limit the practice of osteopathy, chiropractic and Christian Science in the province. The bill provides that these branches of the healing art shall not be practiced in Nova Scotia except by persons who are registered as medical practitioners.

HALT RUM-RUNNERS BY BARRIER OF LIGHT

Blinding Spotlight Turned on Motor Cars in New York State.

Rouses's Point, N. Y., May 20.—Professional international whiskey runners centering their activities in this part of the state, have received many setbacks during the last week, due to increased activity independent of the U. S. department of internal revenue and raiding prohibition agents.

The raids upon hooch-running automobiles, halted while making the dash across the Canadian line at top speed, have disclosed that much of the so-called "bonded" and "very old" case goods whiskey is of poor quality, made overnight and touched up with artificial coloring and flavoring matter.

The agents employ a simple method of bringing suspected automobile parties to a halt. A blinding spotlight is turned on the approaching machine from the center of the road. The headlights of other cars drawn up along the roadside are turned on, and the suspect is forced to stop or take his chances with a ditch.

Cattle Food Untaxed, But Babies Must Pay

Montreal, May 20.—The Dominion government, recognizing the right of food to be free of taxation, has exempted cattle feed, pig's feed and poultry feed, but has taken from the exempted list babies' food, so that babies who consume a tin of artificial food will contribute from five to seven cents to the treasury of the dominion. This was a point emphasized at the annual meeting of the Proprietary Articles Trade Association of Canada, held in the Windsor hotel, yesterday.

Prof. Eby's Warning

Toronto, May 20.—Professor Frederick Eby, of the University of Texas, who was given the honorary degree of doctor of laws at the convocation of McMaster University here, said that anti-British propaganda in the United States was the greatest danger to the peace of the world to-day. "The world's danger," he said, "is not in the Far East nor in Europe but in the insidious and tragic propaganda which is endeavoring to sow the seeds of hostility between the American people and the British nation."

The police bureau of missing persons of New York advocates the passing of a law requiring physicians, when filing birth certificates, to include the fingerprints of a new-born child, thus "furnishing scientific identifications of every person from the cradle to the grave."

A circle of friends is nice to have round.

MARRIED ELEVEN GIRLS

Twenty-year-old U.S. Sailor Says He Had "Lots of Fun."

White Plains, N. Y., May 20.—The war time romance of Harold Hammond, a twenty year old naval apprentice, who it is alleged, married at least eleven young girls, came to an end yesterday, when Supreme Court Justice Martin J. Keogh, of New Rochelle filed orders at White Plains, granting an annulment and a divorce respectively to two of his wives.

According to the evidence taken before Justice Keogh, young Hammond is now serving time in the Portsmouth naval prison for bigamy.

One of the actions was brought by Mrs. Elizabeth Marie Hammond, of 283 West 87th street, Manhattan, who through her attorney, James A. Turley, of Manhattan, sued Harold Hammond for a divorce. She was married to the young sailor on October 15th, 1917. They have no children. She named Loretta F. Hammond, of Hollands, L. I., who married Hammond on May 16th, 1919, at Hoboken, N. J. Loretta sued Hammond for an annulment naming Elizabeth and the two wives testified against each other in their respective lawsuits.

According to information given out by the attorney for Hammond, Julian V. Carabba, of 115 Broadway, Manhattan, who appeared for him when the papers were served, but did not put in an answer at the trial, young Hammond comes from a good family at Bath Beach. The young bigamist stated that he married so many young women simply because he was having a "lot of fun."

The evidence in the suit of Elizabeth shows that Hammond lived with another young girl at 110 Greenwich avenue, Manhattan, on July 16th, 1919, at Midland Beach, with another unknown woman in August, 1919, and on Fourth street, Manhattan, 1919, and on 31st street from April to September, 1920, with other women.

Attached to the papers of Elizabeth Hammond is a photograph of Hammond in uniform of a United States regular recruit, and written on the back are the words "My Husband, Harold Hammond."

Loretta F. Hammond, in her testimony, swore that she married Hammond at Hoboken, N. J., on May 16th, 1919. She says he was in the navy then and that she lived with him at 110 Greenwich avenue, she has one child, Robert Hammond, whose custody is awarded to the mother.

Loretta had Hammond arrested for bigamy at Rockaway Beach, and he pleaded guilty in the domestic relations court in New Jersey, and was turned over to the naval authorities. Loretta called Elizabeth Marie Ham-

LOST IN QUEBEC WOODS.

Stouffville Man Disappears While Setting Traps.

Stouffville, Que., May 20.—Milne Stouffer, formerly of this town, is believed to have perished in the backwoods of Quebec. On April 12th he went out to set some traps and no trace of him has since been discovered. His father, Eli Stouffer, who spent the winter with him, believed his son broke through the ice on a neighboring river and was drowned. The first word of the tragedy reached here this week, when Mr. Stouffer, senior, returned to Stouffville. He and his son had been acting as game wardens on a large preserve sixty-five miles from a railway. Both were experienced trappers. Milne Stouffer was born here about 35 years ago and had many relatives in this district. On his physician's advice he went to the Quebec woods last fall.

LONG ACCEPTS PEERAGE

Eye-Election in St. George's, Westminster, Involved.
London, May 20.—The acceptance by the Rt. Hon. Walter Long of a viscounty involves a bye-election at St. George's, Westminster, one of the safest Tory seats almost from time immemorial. It is believed that Mr. Long accepted the offer of a peerage with hesitancy, his inclination being entirely for the retention of his seat in the commons. His personality in public life has been one of the most acceptable to all parties. Some years ago, returning from a trip to Canada, he declared that the Dominion not only claimed a share in the fleet, but meant to help pay for it.

Married at Brockville

Brockville, May 20.—The marriage was solemnized yesterday in the Presbytery of St. Francis Xavier Church, of Miss Anna McCoy, Brockville, to Wm. J. Lavalley, Ottawa, son of Joseph Lavalley Montreal. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Nellie Noonan and J. E. O'Reilly, respectively. Mr. and Mrs. Lavalley will reside at the Capital.

Many a man's capacity for loving is expanded entirely upon himself.
